M'Keldin Asks Record Budget

German Plebiscite Is Proposed By Russia

Newest Soviet Scheme Given West Brushoff

Kremlin Would Have Vote Decide Between EDC, Neutralization

BERLIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Soviet Russia jarred the Big Four conference today with a surprise proposal for a prebiscite offering all Germans this choice: alliance with the West or an early peace treaty imposing neutralization.

French Foreign Minister Bidault, as the day's chairman, led the Allies in brushing aside the newest Kremlin scheme as a time-killing propaganda maneuver.

Taking the floor for an hour's denunciation of the European Defense Community (EDC) in which West Germany would contribute troops, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov closed with this challenge:

"Should one not propose to hold a peoples' plebiscite throughout Germany in order to determine on whose side the German people stand: on the side of the Bonn and Paris treaties (the European army and the West German peace contract) or on the side of the peace treaty?

Bidault Attacks Plebiscite

"Then we would have a clear answer to the question of who is the true representative of the feelings of the German people in our time."

Bidault, a staunch defender of the European army at the Berlin conference, immediately attacked the plebiscite as something that would be "forced" on Germany's 68 million people.

He told Molotov that the Eden plan, by which the West envisages Germany uniting by free election and making its own decision afterward on alliances, fulfilled any worthwhile object that the Russian might have in mind.

All the propaganda power of the Communist East German government was unleashed tonight to blazon the "'Molotov plebiscite" throughout Germany.

Grotewohl Backs Plan

Red Premier Otto Grotewohl, nearly thrown out of office last June by anti-Communist workers in revolt, broadcast over Radio Berlin:

"An immediate democratic plebiscite must be carried out in the whole of Germany in complete equality and freedom. The people themselves must decide whether they wish to live under this dishonorable and war-hazardous treaty (EDC) or wish a peace treaty and restored unity."

The Communist press splashed the plebiscite proposal across front pages.

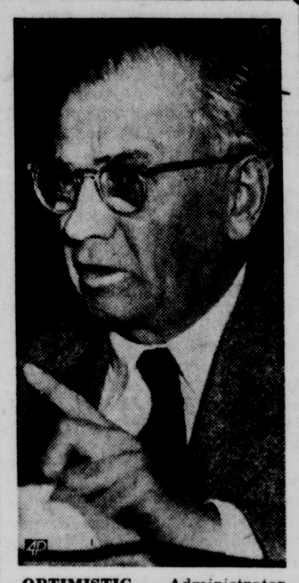
GOP Majority Of House Unit Backs T-H Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) reported today the Republican majority of the House Labor Committee is generally favorable to President Eisenhower's proposals for revising the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Fourteen specific changes were recommended by Eisenhower in a message to Congress Jan. 11. They have come under considerable attack especially from labor union leaders.

President Deplores Spread Of Atom Fear



OPTIMISTIC — Administrator Joseph M. Mehl of the Commodity Exchange Authority tells a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing in Washington that his agency could control "unwarranted" spurts in coffee prices if Congress provides the authority.

Calmness Makes Enemy Tremble, Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower today deplored any spreading of hysterical fear in the world, and urged Americans to take a calm attitude toward atomic age problems.

Such an attitude, the President said, was probably what Secretary of Defense Wilson had in mind in expressing a wish yesterday that "we could quit rattling the atomic bomb."

Asked at a news conference how air power and new weapons could be a deterrent to war "if the enemy gets the idea that we will not use them," Eisenhower remarked softly that he had spent some little time at war and he didn't think that big and bombastic talk is the thing that makes other people afraid.

He said he thought a calm, steady course begins to make the enemy tremble and wonder what you are going to do.

No Bricker Compromise

Eisenhower in a question and answer exchange ranged over these topics:

1. Bricker Amendment to Limit Treaty-Making Powers—The chief executive repeated he was willing to change the Constitution to still honest fears that the treaty power can be used to contravene or supersede the Constitution. But he said he won't compromise one single word when it comes to changing the traditional balance of power among the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government.

2. Butter—it can't be priced out of the market and still get used, the President said. He repeated that something has to be done.

3. Recession—Eisenhower said he supposed that we have receded from something because not everything is at a peak today. The way he put it, we are going through a readjustment that always follows an emergency.

Opposes Minimum Pay Hike

4. Minimum Wage—Eisenhower said he still thinks a boost at this particular time would be of questionable wisdom.

5. Missing Russian — No detailed reports have reached him, the President said, on the whereabouts of Yuri A. Rastovorov, member of a Russian mission in Japan who has dropped out of sight. He said he has no report whether Rastovorov is in American custody.

6. Indochina — There is some evidence, Eisenhower said, of a lack of the enthusiasm for freedom there that we would like to have. He said there probably would be success in the war there if the Vietnamese want to be free, as the heart and soul of the people is the biggest factor in success or failure.

Treaty Power Compromises Displease Ike

Withholds Support Of Versions Heading For Tests In Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower refused today to endorse any of the compromise versions of the Bricker treaty-power amendment now heading for a critical series of test votes in the Senate.

The President declined specific comment on any of these proposals. But he told his news conference he will not compromise one bit in any way which would change the traditional balance of power among the three branches of federal government.

President's Contention

Eisenhower contends the constitutional amendment proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) would hamstring him in the conduct of foreign affairs. Changes proposed by both the Republican and Democratic leadership in the Senate have failed to win his support so far.

Bricker says his proposed amendment is necessary to prevent American liberties being taken away by international agreements. Among other things his amendment would prevent treaties from taking effect as domestic law unless both houses of Congress or, in some cases, the state legislatures, passed laws to carry the treaties out.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) attacked the Bricker proposal in a Senate speech and declared: "Nothing constructive for our country can come out of these protracted compromise negotiations."

Senate Recesses Without Vote

Hennings said he would oppose any compromise that would affect the broad historic power of the President to negotiate with foreign nations. He added that if any compromise doesn't "hamstring" the President it would merely be an empty gesture to mollify Bricker who, he said, "is anxious to fasten onto some face-saving device."

The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, announced he would push for a quick vote on some of the amendments to Bricker's original proposal and hold night sessions in order to dispose of the issue this week.

But the Senate recessed early tonight without arriving at the voting stage. It will resume its deliberations at noon tomorrow.

Knowland told reporters he is satisfied the amendments offered by the GOP leadership yesterday are within the limits set by the President's statement.

Dancer Breaks Arm In Fall

Inga Wiere, 30, grimaces in pain as her fractured right arm is put in splints moments after it was broken while she was performing in a Sherman Oaks, Calif., night club. The mishap occurred while she was being twirled over the head of her partner, Igor Dega, who is holding her left hand. Her arm accidentally struck a protruding light fixture throwing her off balance, and she fell to the floor.

Indian Tragedy

Hundreds Are Killed In Pilgrims' Stampede

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 3 (AP)—Hundreds of Hindus were crushed to death today in a stampede of three million frenzied pilgrims into holy river waters to wash their sins away. Officials said a first count showed 315 dead but the toll may reach 1,000.

The tragedy occurred at the junction here of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers where the bathers had gathered for the great Kumbh Mela Festival — one of the holiest in the Hindu religion.

Prime Minister Nehru and President Rajendra Prasad, who came for the ceremonies, remained to supervise the grim task of caring for the dead and injured.

Hospitals treated at least 1,000 persons injured in varying degree. One estimate of the injured was set at 3,000. But harried officials said the exact toll may never be known.

Many bodies floated away in the waters. A pontoon bridge collapsed at the height of the stampede, sending bodies plunging into the river. Relatives claimed bodies for private cremations in accord with Hindu religious practice before authorities could even start making a count.

Milling elephants added to the horror at the scene. They had been ridden to the river by naked Sadhus—holy men.

Coffee Trading Controls Voted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee recommended today that the government supervise trading and speculation in coffee.

It voted unanimously to put coffee under the same market controls which now apply to corn, wheat, cotton, fats and oils and many other commodities.

The action, which is subject to approval by Senate and House, is designed to limit increases in coffee prices to the extent that they are caused by speculation. But brokers, contending that a coffee shortage rather than speculation has caused the price jump, told the committee yesterday that such curbs might lower the supply and lead to still higher prices.

The committee acted while two other groups went ahead with investigations to learn what has pushed retail coffee prices above $1 a pound.

A Senate Banking subcommittee already has ordered public hearings to start next Monday. The Federal Trade Commission, with President Eisenhower's blessing, has sent its investigators to New York to check into the situation.

Missing Russian Reported Giving Spy Data To U. S.

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 4 (AP)—A reputed lieutenant colonel of Russia's secret police, who bolted the Soviet mission here in fear of the firing squad, today was reported spilling top espionage secrets to U.S. agents on Okinawa.

A U.S. officer who cannot be named, said the Soviet agent, Yuri Alexandrovich Rastovorov, was giving details of Communist espionage against both the United States and Japan.

Two pals of Rastovorov in the Russian mission also were said to be in serious trouble inside the guarded compound and would be sent back to Russia shortly to an uncertain fate.

The source said the two had wanted to follow Rastovorov's lead and seek asylum with the United States.

"Rastovorov helped set up a spy network that has already penetrated some of the highest levels of the Japanese government," the U.S. officer said.

The officer declared Rastovorov sought and received asylum with the Americans when he was ordered back to Russia. Members of the Russian mission here reported Rastovorov's disappearance to Japanese police last week. Later they charged he had been kidnaped by Americans.

Property Tax Boost Is Seen By Governor

238 Million Dollars Asked To Run State For Next Fiscal Year

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin asked the General Assembly today to appropriate an unprecedented 238 million dollars to run Maryland for the next year.

He said the real estate tax must go up in 1955. By saying little more about taxes, he clearly implied charges would have to remain at present levels to keep the state going.

By similar omission, he removed the administration from hope for another percentage cut in personal income taxes.

The governor detailed his spending program in a speech before the Senate and House to open the Legislature's 30-day fiscal session. He also recommended building and improvement projects for state institutions of $9,995,000 on borrowed money.

Thus his program totaled $247,780,352. Of this, current revenues would finance an operating budget of $237,785,352.

The record budget included, as anticipated, just under 215 millions in state funds. The federal government will supply the balance.

Increase Of 18½ Millions

It exceeds the current budget by 18½ millions. A bookkeeping change to funnel 5½ millions into a separate "business" account for University of Maryland self-supporting activities reduced comparable figures for both years. Otherwise, the difference would have been almost $100,000 higher.

"I know that the budget has been pared to the utmost, that the revenue estimates have been well considered and that it will provide the services our people require," McKeldin told a joint Senate-House session.

Agencies had requested almost 11½ millions more than they now get, but he trimmed the increase in areas not closed by law to about seven.

Appropriations suggested by McKeldin mean the state would be spending $101.50 per citizen in the 1955 fiscal year, beginning July 1, end split-all in

The governor kept the budget out of the red by his previously reported plan to collect two years' worth of gross receipts tax from utilities and trust companies in one year. He also had to draw on all but $620,000 of an estimated treasury balance of $4,700,000 when this fiscal year ends.

He proposed holding the $620,000 as a "reserve or safety factor."

11.89 Tax Rate Necessary

McKeldin devoted just one line to the real estate tax in his speech, a shortened version of the 46-page budget message.

"With an estimated 1955 taxable base of $6,313,000, a rate of 11.89 cents per $100 of valuation is necessary to meet state debt service through June 30, 1956," he said.

The current rate of 5.67 cents, lowest in history, would then more than double unless the Legislature digs up money by slashing the governor's budget.

McKeldin also noted that motor vehicle registration fees will jump about one-third in 1955 to help raise funds for Maryland's 12-year road-building program.

Otherwise, current levies aren't expected to bring in as much new money as in the last few years. McKeldin commented it was impossible to judge whether forecasts by the Board of Revenue Estimates "underrate the strength

Beeson Pledges To Put Up Fight For Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Albert C. Beeson, whose nomination to the National Labor Relations Board has stirred a hornet's nest of Democratic and union opposition, said today he has "no intention" of backing away from a confirmation fight.

Beeson's comment to a reporter, coupled with President Eisenhower's news conference expression of continued confidence in the 47-year-old San Jose businessman, indicated a bitter floor fight in the Senate when the nomination comes up for debate.

Some Democratic senators and labor leaders have protested that Beeson is a "company man." He has replied that he would tackle the NLRB job without bias.

He said today, in answer to a reporter's question, that he had "no intention" whatsoever to ask that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

The Senate Labor Committee decided last night on a hearing with a full-scale probe of Beeson's pension rights with his former company. The motion was adopted when two Republicans, including Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), voted with three Democrats.

Aga Khan Is Cheered At Platinum Jubilee

KARACHI, Pakistan, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Aga Khan, an ailing old man with a voice as shaky as his legs, stood before 50,000 of Ismaili Moslem followers today and received their cheers at his platinum jubilee.

It was a sad and moving ceremony celebrating the 70 years of the Aga Khan's spiritual leadership of 20 million Ismaili Moslems in all parts of the world.

The Aga Khan reposed on a throne beneath a bright crimson canopy while his 215 pounds were matched sympolically in platinum.

Humphrey Hits Ike Tax Critics

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey struck back tonight at those who have attacked the administration's tax program as benefitting business rather than individual taxpayers. He said each will share equally in tax gains.

The secretary said a financial accounting of the program had just been completed and that "strictly relief provisions for individuals will be about 600 million dollars. All other tax benefits . . . add up to an additional 600 million dollars."

Humphrey said that if all of President Eisenhower's tax revision program is adopted — and scheduled tax cuts are postponed—the government would lose 1¼ billion dollars in revenue.

The Treasury secretary made this statement in a transcribed radio interview (NBC's "Report From The White House") after William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had been subjected to new Democratic fire on the tax program.

Martin, appearing before the Senate-House Economic Committee one day after Humphrey testified, said business tax cuts would do more to remedy the current dip in the nation's economy than a further reduction in individual income taxes.

'Strike It Rich' Radio-TV Show Under Fire In New York City

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The "Strike It Rich" radio-TV show was asked today to quit luring the needy to New York with its something-for-nothing bait. The city said too many would-be contestants wind up on relief.

Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy called the tear-jerking program, which makes a public spectacle of human misery, a "national disgrace."

From here on out, his department ruled, "Strike It Rich" needs a city license to operate.

Producers of the show promptly defied the licensing demand, and said the program will go on as scheduled without a license.

Sidney J. DuBroff public relations man for the producers told a news conference:

"We do not want to step on Mr. McCarthy's toes or on the toes of any welfare agency. However, we do not feel any laws were being violated. We are awaiting Mr. McCarthy's next move."

McCarthy claims at least 55 families have landed on relief after they came here from all over the nation in quest of easy money on the giveaway program.

"Programs like this are a national disgrace," McCarthy said. "They create the impression that destitute people in the U. S. have no place to go—and this in the face of the most comprehensive Community Chest and private and public welfare organizations in the world.

"Every time these poor souls have to expose their sores in public we are playing into the hands of the Communists. It is a return to the tin cup begging idea of charity."

There is no waiting period in New York before a person can go on relief and McCarthy's legal adviser in the Welfare Department, Philip Sokol, declared:

"We cannot afford to have people induced to come here to go on a program on the assumption they will get rich, and then go on relief. They create a relief problem because we have to take care of everybody in the city in need of assistance."

Sokol ruled that "Strike It Rich" needs a city license for public solicitation, because of its appeals for help for its needy contestants.

Vietminh Increases Pressure On French

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Vietminh stepped up pressure today against French Union forces on Annam's long mountainous plateau north of Saigon, where the rebels launched an offensive last week.

This latest pressure point in the Communist-led rebels' scattered but apparently synchronized offensive on widely scattered sectors of Indochina developed as the French Command imposed a blackout on operations in northern Laos, some 700 miles to the northwest. There Vietminh Division 308 was knifing toward Luang Probang, Laotian royal city on Mekong River dividing Indochina and Thailand. Yesterday's reports had the rebels 62 miles north of Luang Prabang and advancing.

Housewife Sends Poisoned Candy To Church Members

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—A gray-haired housewife who felt neglected socially admitted today she sent poisoned candy to members of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales.

"I am guilty," 49-year-old Mrs. Letha Della Overton said in a low voice and then broke into sobs when U. S. Commissioner Paul Pinkerton read the charge against her — sending poisonous matter through the mails last December 8 with intent to kill or injure.

She waived preliminary hearing and was held under $2,500 bond for trial later in federal court on the charge.

About 20 persons, including several children, were made violently ill by the arsenic-loaded chocolate fudge with pink icing. All recovered in 24 hours and none ever was reported in critical condition.

But Postal Inspector J. A. Callahan of Atlanta said this poison could cause serious after-effects by lodging in the kidneys.

"We don't want to frighten anyone," said Callahan, "but it could be very serious. All concerned should have checkups by their doctors."

Her husband, Jesse W. Overton, who is superintendent of the Sunday school of the same church, stood beside her, patted her shoulder and tried to still her crying.

The government did not present any evidence, but Police Chief K. M. Mellick of Lake Wales said Mrs. Overton had indicated she felt she had been neglected socially by members of the church.

Grocer Ignores Fine Threat, Continues Coffee Price War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Carlos Garcia kept right on today with his one-man war on the high price of coffee, even under the threat of a $300 fine.

Garcia runs a small food store a couple of miles from the White House. He specializes in imported foods.

When the price of coffee went up, Garcia decided something should be done. So he hand-lettered two small signs and put them in his store window.

"Coffee (delivery protection by Brink's)," one read. "Easy payment plan insured by the Republican administration (federal warehouses at Ft. Knox.)"

The other said:

"We will trade your car for one pound of coffee if you will trade the present administration for something better."

Garcia says he thought the signs were only a joke, but he had started a reaction that was to reach to the top of Washington's city government.

For District of Columbia regulations prohibit signs in windows unless they advertise the place of business. Only exceptions: Two small signs may be put in if they advertise something "of interest to the community."

Clark King, assistant corporation counsel, said anyone who is warned and fails to comply with the regulation can be fined $300.

When Garcia heard this, he went into action again. Today he placed in his window one of those appeals for money to fight polio. And to it he attached another hand-lettered note: "Is this sign illegal, too? We don't sell polio."

Garcia said his only object was to attract attention to the high price of coffee, and, in that, he says, he has succeeded beyond his dreams.

"People keep calling me all the time," he said, "telling me not to back down. Well, the signs stay until I get notice—in writing."

Legislators Prepare To Fight For Liquor Tax-Sharing Plan

Measure Vetoed By M'Keldin Will Be Reconsidered

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins declared tonight a share-the-wealth plan for state liquor taxes wouldn't take effect until 1955 even if the Legislature insists on it.

Rollins issued his opinion as legislators brewed strength for the plan after organizing the General Assembly with dispatch for a 30-day session.

The movement was aimed at getting enough votes, 74 delegates and 18 senators, to override Gov. McKeldin's veto of the proposal. It was one of 42 bills and portions of the 1953 construction loan vetoed after the last session and due for reconsideration by the Legislature tomorrow.

Rollins opined that among other things the chance of unbalancing the 1954-55 budget by taking away the better part of a million dollars in revenue would delay the tax bill's effect until July 1, 1955. An accompanying provision to end local authority to tax alcoholic beverages also would be useless until the same date.

Baltimoreans had expressed fear that if a hunk of the state's liquor take were not redistributed until then, they would be out almost a million dollars from the city's levy for a whole year.

Tawes Backs New Plan

The bill was inspired last year by continuation of the right to only Baltimore City and Baltimore County to levy an extra 50 cents a gallon on liquor.

The Alcoholic Beverages Committee of the House then pushed through a bill to raise the state tax from $1.25 to $1.50 and redistribute the yield from 50 cents to all counties based on the amount of liquor sold in each.

The special extra levy imposed in Baltimore City and Baltimore County would be revoked at the same time.

The new plan has the announced support of Millard Tawes, comptroller, despite the fact that the state would be collecting at a lower rate for itself. Tawes said he is for it because of the principle of a uniform tax collected at state level.

Liquor sellers also are for it because it would reduce the tax in Baltimore City and Baltimore County, where most of the people live in the state and where most is sold, from $1.75 to $1.50.

Gov. McKeldin vetoed the plan because "the net effect of this proposal would be a loss of state revenue of at least $800,000 per year."

He suggested that if the idea is to supply more revenue for the counties that the tax be increased to $1.75 and return the yield from 50 cents to the counties or to $1.50 and redistribute the 25 cents. This would maintain the state rate at $1.25.

Organization Completed

There was a sign that an attempt also might be made to restore three items the governor vetoed in last year's bond bill for capital improvements.

Mimeographed copies of his veto message were laid on the desk of each senator and delegate.

The rejected items were $4,000 for a trailer for the Department of Research and Education, $250,000 for a gymnasium and field house at Washington College and $250,000 for a men's dormitory at Western Maryland College.

Del. Luber (D-Balto 5th) followed his installation as speaker again today by appointing as expected Del. Thompson (D-Dorchester) to the important Ways and Means Committee chairmanship and Del. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) to the Judiciary chairmanship which he held last year.

The return of Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th) to his president's seat was accompanied by the remark of Sen. Sybert (D-Howard) that "it behooved us to close ranks" in the interests of the Democratic party.

Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany), the Republican leader, commented he was impressed by the "good will, love and understanding" being exhibited by the Democrats.

John Adams was the first President of the United States to use Washington, D. C., as the capital.

ADMITS SENDING POISONED CANDY — Mrs. Letha Overton, 49, pleaded guilty before U. S. Commissioner Paul Pinkerton in Tampa, Fla., yesterday to sending poisoned candy through the mail. The candy went to about 20 persons of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales, of which she is a member. No one died but a number were made ill.

75 Cents Hour State Minimum Pay Law Asked

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) tonight proposed a state minimum-wage law of 75 cents an hour.

It would extend to intrastate commerce the same pay floor of the federal law on interstate commerce.

Della also proposed creation of a Department of Safety for Industry. Such responsibilities now come under the Industrial Accident Commission and the Department of Labor and Industry.

He also would make it mandatory at least one member of the Industrial Accident Commission be a representative of labor. Bills to require full pay for time spent by employes voting and to guarantee the rights of union officials representing state workers to present grievances to department heads also were introduced by Della.

He also proposed a radical departure in the status of desk officers of the House and Senate. He suggested the present ones be made part of the classified service which would guarantee their reappointment year after year.

The desk jobs now are minor political plums and subject to change every session.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) proposed that school bus drivers and owners be allowed to participate in the state pension fund.

The two houses also received 28 bills which have been gone over and recommended by the Legislative Council. In addition, there are proposed changes to their rules to eliminate a method of practically killing a bill in the final days or hours of a session.

Tennessean Sets Record Straight

MEMPHIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — John Barbee, who says his wife still has a "doubting look in her eye," wants all hands to know this:

He was not the man who bid $150 for a five-year supply of brassieres at Sunday's polio auction.

"I did not buy them and would not know what to do with them if I had made the purchase," Barbee said today.

Bill Loeb, chairman of the televised auction whose proceeds went to the polio fund, said the telephoned bid for the brassieres was bogus.

Pope Pius Improves But Concern Persists

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 3 (AP)—The official Vatican newspaper again today described the condition of ailing Pope Pius XII as continuing to improve. But concern over his health persisted as the 77-year-old Pontiff remained secluded in his Vatican apartment.

L'Osservatore Romano, the newspaper, said "the state of the Supreme Pontiff, thanks to God, continues to improve."

The Vatican organ denied published reports that an English specialist who had treated King George VI had been called for consultation on the Pope's health. The King died of a thrombosis in 1952 after he had been operated on for cancer of the lung.

European Cold Wave Shows Signs Of Easing

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP) — Planes and icebreakers restored links with isolated communities in northern Europe while the continent's cold wave tonight showed signs of easing.

Estimates of the death toll ranged as high as 300. Europe's worst cold wave in seven years caused losses running to millions of dollars from stalled transport and worker absenteeism.

Marilyn To Visit Troops In Korea

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Joe DiMaggio is going to Korea and great joy reigns among all ranks in bunkers, tents and hospitals.

Mrs. DiMaggio, as everyone knows, is Marilyn Monroe.

The U. S. Army, in response to overwhelming demands from its constituency in Korea, fixed things up yesterday for Marilyn to go over there for four days the middle of this month.

"She will be most welcome in Korea," said a ranking staff officer.

Meany Pledges Fight To Finish In Dock Dispute

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—AFL President George Meany today pledged a finish fight in the New York waterfront labor controversy and ascribed John L. Lewis' interest in the pier scrap to "lonesomeness."

Meany told newsmen the AFL had received peace feelers from the AFL-ousted International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) but is not looking for any compromise and intends to fight the ILA to a showdown.

The AFL's drive to set up a new union to seize waterfront bargaining rights from the ILA, after that union was accused of being run by criminal elements, is due for review at the AFL Executive Council's winter meeting here.

Meany, asked about rumors of a possible negotiated peace between the old ILA and a newly formed AFL union with the same name, said "We are in this to fight to the finish—we have refused to meet with representatives of the ILA and nobody in the AFL is authorized to do so."

Lewis, president of the powerful United Mine Workers (UMW), has sided with the ILA against the the AFL-ousted longshoremen's group up to $100,000 in aid. The UMW has at various times been part of the AFL and CIO but for some years now has been affiliated with neither group.

Report Chaplin May Adopt Executed Spies' Children Is Denied

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—A spokesman for the trust fund for the Rosenberg children today branded as false a report that Charlie Chaplin had suggested adopting the children of the executed atomic spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The spokesman said the two boys would be raised in this country "as Americans" and that there had been no offer of any kind from Chaplin.

Radio-TV Studio Thief Is Trapped With 'Lucy's' Aid

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP)—Police say a handsome ex-convict, trapped with Lucille Ball's help, financed four years of high living by roaming the studios in the guise of a writer and swiping $50,000 from stars' dressing rooms.

Suave, mustached Kenneth Darling, 31, who lived in a $25-a-day hotel suite, is in jail today on suspicion of burglary. He talked freely of losing $8,700 gambling at Las Vegas, Nev., and of vacationing in Canada and Mexico.

"I don't mind going up the river again," officers quoted him. "I've really been living for the last four years."

Police said he admitted stealing from Miss Ball and her husband, Desi Arnaz, Ozzie and Harriett Nelson and Joan Davis. He recalled taking $32 from Mrs. Nelson's purse and $50 from Miss Davis' while they were rehearsing shows, they said.

Darling, arrested last night, was surprised by Miss Ball in her husband's dressing room, police said.

"Brother, can she scream! I got out fast!" police quoted him.

Miss Ball identified a police photo of him, and it was circulated through movie and TV studios. Yesterday Bill King, chief electrician at general service studios, recognized him and called police. Two detectives said they found him looking over a dressing room. He ducked out a back door into the arms of two waiting policemen.

Detectives said he admitted nearly 500 studio thefts in the four years, his take running as high as $500 a day and $16,000 a year.

Russians Flew MIGs In Korea, Gen. Clark Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark says Russian pilots flew Red MIG jet fighter planes in the Korean War.

"Ever since MIGs first appeared in North Korean skies in November, 1950, there has been widespread speculation whether Soviet pilots were at the controls," says the former United Nations commander in Korea.

"I can say categorically that the U.N. Command possesses adequate information to show that Russian pilots — sometimes in considerable numbers — in fact did engage our jets in combat.

"The evidence includes our pilots' reports of intercepted exchanges in Russian on the MIGs intercom systems, and the testimony of returned U.N. war prisoners that they talked with Russian combat pilots while in North Korean prison camps."

The retired general writes in Collier's magazine, out today, that:

"Our Air Force and Navy carrier planes ruled the skies as far north as they were allowed to fly —up to the Manchurian border — although we actually had slightly fewer aircraft of all types than the Communists had MIGs alone!"

Clark also says there was a Communist plot to kill President-elect Eisenhower when he visited Korea shortly after the 1952 election.

Historical Documents Stolen From Library Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The theft of about 10 historical manuscripts from the Library of Congress — including a valuable letter written by Benjamin Franklin and another by Thomas Jefferson—was disclosed today.

Library officials said all but one of the papers, a not particularly valuable one, have been recovered. In Philadelphia, where the papers turned up in the hands of dealers and individuals, the FBI said a search for the thief is still going on.

Total value of the documents stolen was estimated by library officials at $2,000. The Franklin letter, worth $1,000, and the Jefferson letter, said to be worth $500, were the most valuable.

The documents were taken several weeks ago from the Andrew Ellicott papers in the library's closely guarded manuscript division. Ellicott was surveyor to whom various notables of the Revolutionary period addressed letters.

Officials said the thief gained access to the papers by presenting credentials — reportedly those of a University of Pennsylvania graduate student — which later turned out to be stolen. Apparently, they said, he smuggled the documents out in his clothing and took them to Philadelphia for disposition.

of our economy, or even whether they may prove to be liberal."

He did know that the treasury surplus, a source of wealth tapped by the last two governors to balance budgets, has dropped.

"This I state without regrets," the governor said. "It is a condition at which you and I aimed in twice using surplus funds to allow deductions from income tax payments."

But the "condition" allowed him only $3,200,000 plus an anticipated 1½ millions in unspent appropriations to add to estimated 1954-55 revenues of $100,800,000. At that, the revenue outlook improved by five millions over this year.

Extra $5,191,000 Sought

He sought an extra $5,191,000 by recommending an advance in the due date for gross receipts taxes from August to June, 1955. Thus in the fiscal year the tax will twice bolster the treasury, the first time this coming August.

Federal funds will increase slightly to $22,982,000, but reductions in certain grants hurt more than the additions helped to hold down state expenses. He said, for example, health appropriations had to be boosted $300,000 to make up for the loss from Washington.

The calculated cost of medical treatment for the poor was shaved $50,000 each in Baltimore and county programs "following the appropration policy of your body ont he current budget," McKeldin explained.

The net allowances of $1,295,000 still rose $28,000 because of an expected heavier case load in Baltimore.

The governor's major bill, the budget, necessarily involved more than state finances. Of the 238-million total, the cities and counties could receive nearly 88 millions in redistributed taxes.

392 New Jobs Proposed

To maintain operations and "increase effectiveness" the governor made room for 392 new state jobs costing $1,163,000. These included 50 additional state troopers and 25 tax assessors, a parks superintendent at $6,000 a year, and a new division of juvenile delinquency control headed by an $8,100 chief.

McKeldin's total budget was divided among general funds, $110,641,000; special funds, $104,162,000, and federal funds, $22,982,000. The Legislature can take its knife only to general funds. The others are automatically assigned to such purposes as highways.

For major functions, the governor allotted:

Public schools, $46,315,122, up almost three millions.

Roads, $68,978,000, reflecting the steady rise for highway improvements.

Welfare, $22,520,000, up a million.

Mental hygiene, $13,898,000 up $668,000.

Fahrion May Succeed Joy At Navy Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP) — The Annapolis Evening Capital said today it has learned that Rear Adm. Frank George Fahrion, who now commands the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force at Norfolk, Va., will succeed Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy as Naval Academy superintendent this year.

Joy has hinted he would retire this summer, but there has been no announcement who would replace him at the Annapolis post he took over in August 1952. A Navy spokesman here said the Academy knew nothing on the choice of a successor to Joy. The newspaper did not divulge its source.

Senate Approves Bill Creating 30 More Judgeships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the White House today a bill to create 30 additional federal district and circuit court judgeships.

Senate action, taken without objection, came a few hours after the House passed the compromise measure on a voice vote.

Three circuit and 27 district judgeships would be created.

Of the 27 new U. S. district court seats, 6 would be temporary. All such judges are appointed for life, however, and so the term "temporary" means only that the first vacancy to occur in that particular district will not be filled.

The new seats provided include, with "T" standing for temporary: Eastern Virginia, 1; Western Pennsylvania 1 and 1 (t), and Middle Tennessee 1 (t).

The bill would also make permanent three judgeships that are now temporary—a roving judgeship in Missouri, a judgeship for southern Texas, and a roving judgeship for West Virginia—and would provide that the roving judge in Pennsylvania shall become permanently attached to the Middle Pennsylvania District when the first vacancy occurs there.

The bill is a compromise of versions passed by the Senate last May 8 and by the House last July 30. It would also:

1. Permit federal judges in the continental United States to retire at full pay after reaching 65 and after serving 15 years. The present provision permitting resignation or retirement at 70 after serving 10 years would remain in the law.

2. Permit judges who become permanently disabled to retire at full pay if they have served 10 years or at half pay if they have served less than 10 years.

3. Provide that when it is necessary for a district judge to reside in or near a particular place, the judicial council of the circuit court involved may make such an order.

Initial Skirmish Lost By Pollack

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore political figure, today lost a preliminary skirmish in his fight against charges that he attempted to obstruct justice.

It was disclosed in court at the same time that he is confined to bed with "acute myocardial infarcation secondary to acute coronary thrombosis."

This means clotting of blood in the arteries which supply the heart tissues is causing damage to the heart muscles.

The diagnosis was presented to Judge Emory H. Niles in criminal court by Dr. Milton B. Kirsh, Pollack's nephew. The doctor said Pollack was too ill to be in court today for his scheduled arraignment on the charge.

Another medical certificate by Dr. John R. King said Pollack could not appear for at least a month. This was dated Jan. 25, the original date set for the arraignment. It was postponed until today when Pollack did not show up the first time.

Judge Niles went ahead and heard arguments today on a Pollack motion to dismiss the indictment. Defense attorneys contended was too vague. Judge Niles turned down their motion.

He did not set any new date for Pollack's arraignment.

The Democratic leader is accused of trying to influence the testimony of defendants in a sensational series of sex offense cases which came to trial last fall.

Of 16 youths charged with improper relations with two young girls, only Franklin D. Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimorre's mayor, was acquitted.

Segregation Ban Has Minor Effect In Case

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—An order banning segregation in schools operated at military establishments will have only a minor effect in Maryland, state schools officials said today.

Only four county systems operate schools at military posts—Prince Georges, Anne Arundel, St. Marys and Charles.

State law prohibits county schools from operating non-segregated schools.

Superintendent William Schmidt of Prince Georges county schools, indicated the county will withdraw from operation of an elementary school for white children at Andrew Air Force Base.

Dr. Davis S. Jenkins, superintendent of Anne Arundel county schools, said the new order won't affect its operation at Ft. Meade since title of the school there rests with the county.

Bright Convicted In Car Title Case

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Temus (Tim) Bright, Baltimore used car dealer and a declared Republican candidate for governor, was convicted today of violating regulations on the issuance of titles to car buyers but the judge who returned the verdict said the law ought to be changed.

Judge James K. Cullen said the law governing automobile titles is so confusing "it ought to be changed—the sooner the better."

Bright had appealed to Criminal Court his conviction in traffic court on five charges of failing to give titles to buyers at the time the deals were completed.

Judge Cullen dismissed four of the cases on grounds the language in the charges did not accurately describe the offense of which Bright was accused.

Bright's attorney contended the cases resulted from "hearsay evidence, false innuendos and baseless rumors spread by jealous competitors."

Bright was fined $50.

Black To Retain Demo Deputies

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 3 (AP) — James R. R. Black, Hagerstown haberdasher who is to be sworn in tomorrow as acting clerk of the Washington County Circuit Court, said today he will retain two veteran deputies.

Black, a Republican, was appointed to fill a vacancy caused by death of J. Guy Weagley. The two deputies are Democrats. Edward Heimel has served in the office 32 years and Merlin Snyder 30.

Black's appointment brought a protest last week from Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish, who represents Washington County in the Fourth Judicial Circuit. He had recommended the appointment of one of the deputies as acting clerk. The other two judges, George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris, both Cumberland Republicans, outvoted Judge Mish.

Judge Mish has declined to participate in the swearing in of Black so Judge Henderson will come here Thursday morning to administer the oath.

The temporary clerk will serve only until January of 1955, after a successor is named in next November's elections.

'Liquor Patrol' Knocks Off Two Stills On Single Farm

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Two stills on a single farm were knocked off by Maryland's new "liquor patrol" in its first foray against moonshiners, agents announced today.

They said the find was made in a tool shed on the Howard County farm of Robert Lee Horner, 60. He was held in $1,000 bond by Magistrate D. H. Shipley. The charge: possessing apparatus "designed for the unlawful manufacture of alcoholic beverages."

Officers of the Maryland Alcohol Tax Unit, working with federal agents, reported finding 10 and 30 gallon stills on the farm yesterday. Roger Laynor of the Maryland comptroller's staff said seized items include fermenters, jars, a stove, cooling coils and some mash.

The enforcement unit was set up by the 1953 General Assembly to prevent illegal importation of liquor, particularly from Washington.

Second Woman Takes Maryland Senate Seat

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Sen. Margaret Crothers (D-Cecil) was seated today as the second female member of the Maryland State Senate.

Her first official act was the seconding of Sen. George W. Della (D-Balto 6th) after he was nominated by Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert (D-Howard) as president of the upper house.

The slim, dark-haired lady senator was appointed to serve the unexpired term of her husband, Omar D. Crothers Jr., who died last year.

"I'm scared stiff," she joked when asked how she felt upon assuming the duties of her new office.

Mrs. Crothers had moral support from Del. E. W. Risteau (D-Harford) who in 1934 became the first member of her sex to serve in the Maryland Senate.

German Plebiscite Is Proposed By Russia

Newest Soviet Scheme Given West Brushoff

Kremlin Would Have Vote Decide Between EDC, Neutralization

BERLIN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Soviet Russia jarred the Big Four conference today with a surprise proposal for a prebiscite offering all Germans this choice: alliance with the West or an early peace treaty imposing neutralization.

French Foreign Minister Bidault, as the day's chairman, led the Allies in brushing aside the newest Kremlin scheme as a time-killing propaganda maneuver.

Taking the floor for an hour's denunciation of the European Defense Community (EDC) in which West Germany would contribute troops, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov closed with this challenge:

"Should one not propose to hold a peoples' plebiscite throughout Germany in order to determine on whose side the German people stand: on the side of the Bonn and Paris treaties (the European army and the West German peace contract) or on the side of the peace treaty?

Bidault Attacks Plebiscite

"Then we would have a clear answer to the question of who is the true representative of the feelings of the German people in our time."

Bidault, a staunch defender of the European army at the Berlin conference, immediately attacked the plebiscite as something that would be "forced" on Germany's 68 million people.

He told Molotov that the Eden plan, by which the West envisages Germany uniting by free election and making its own decision afterward on alliances, fulfilled any worthwhile object that the Russian might have in mind.

All the propaganda power of the Communist East German government was unleashed tonight to blazon the "Molotov plebiscite" throughout Germany.

Grotewohl Backs Plan

Red Premier Otto Grotewohl, nearly thrown out of office last June by anti-Communist workers in revolt, broadcast over Radio Berlin:

"An immediate democratic plebiscite must be carried out in the whole of Germany in complete equality and freedom. The people themselves must decide whether they wish to live under this dishonorable and war-hazardous treaty (EDC) or wish a peace treaty and restored unity."

The Communist press splashed the plebiscite proposal across front pages.

President Deplores Spread Of Atom Fear

Calmness Makes Enemy Tremble, Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower today deplored any spreading of hysterical fear in the world, and urged Americans to take a calm attitude toward atomic age problems.

Such an attitude, the President said, was probably what Secretary of Defense Wilson had in mind in expressing a wish yesterday that "we could quit rattling the atomic bomb."

Asked at a news conference how air power and new weapons could be a deterrent to war "if the enemy gets the idea that we will not use them," Eisenhower remarked softly that he had spent some little time at war and he didn't think that big and bombastic talk is the thing that makes other people afraid.

He said he thought a calm, steady course begins to make the enemy tremble and wonder what you are going to do.

No Bricker Compromise

Eisenhower in a question and answer exchange ranged over these topics:

1. Bricker Amendment to Limit Treaty-Making Powers—The chief executive repeated he was willing to change the Constitution to still honest fears that the treaty power can be used to contravene or supersede the Constitution. But he said he won't compromise one single word when it comes to changing the traditional balance of power among the legislative, judicial and executive branches of government.

2. Butter—it can't be priced out of the market and still get used, the President said. He repeated that something has to be done.

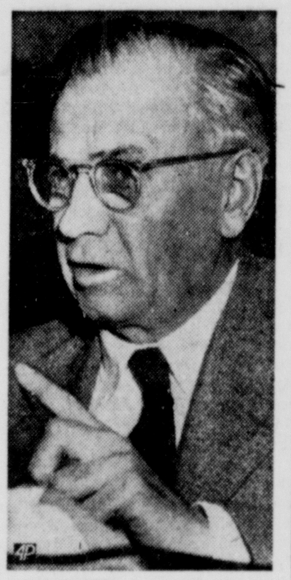
3. Recession—Eisenhower said he supposed that we have receded from something because not everything is at a peak today. The way he put it, we are going through a readjustment that always follows an emergency.

Opposes Minimum Pay Hike

4. Minimum Wage—Eisenhower said he still thinks a boost at this particular time would be of questionable wisdom.

5. Missing Russian — No detailed reports have reached him, the President said, on the whereabouts of Yuri A. Rastovorov, member of a Russian mission in Japan who has dropped out of sight. He said he has no report whether Rastovorov is in American custody.

6. Indochina — There is some evidence, Eisenhower said, of a lack of the enthusiasm for freedom there that we would like to have. He said there probably would be success in the war there if the Vietnamese want to be free, as the heart and soul of the people is the biggest factor in success or failure.



OPTIMISTIC — Administrator Joseph M. Mehl of the Commodity Exchange Authority tells a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing in Washington that his agency could control "unwarranted" spurts in coffee prices if Congress provides the authority.

Treaty Power Compromises Displease Ike

Withholds Support Of Versions Heading For Tests In Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower refused today to endorse any of the compromise versions of the Bricker treaty-power amendment now heading for a critical series of test votes in the Senate.

The President declined specific comment on any of these proposals. But he told his news conference he will not compromise one bit in any way which would change the traditional balance of power among the three branches of federal government.

President's Contention

Eisenhower contends the constitutional amendment proposed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) would hamstring him in the conduct of foreign affairs. Changes proposed by both the Republican and Democratic leadership in the Senate have failed to win his support so far.

Bricker says his proposed amendment is necessary to prevent American liberties being taken away by international agreements. Among other things his amendment would prevent treaties from taking effect as domestic law unless both houses of Congress or, in some cases, the state legislatures, passed laws to carry the treaties out.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) attacked the Bricker proposal in a Senate speech and declared: "Nothing constructive for our country can come out of these protracted compromise negotiations."

Senate Recesses Without Vote

Hennings said he would oppose any compromise that would affect the broad historic power of the President to negotiate with foreign nations. He added that if any compromise doesn't "hamstring" the President it would merely be an empty gesture to mollify Bricker who, he said, "is anxious to fasten onto some face-saving device."

The Senate's Republican leader, Sen. Knowland of California, announced he would push for a quick vote on some of the amendments to Bricker's original proposal and hold night sessions in order to dispose of the issue this week.

But the Senate recessed early tonight without arriving at the voting stage. It will resume its deliberations at noon tomorrow.

Knowland told reporters he is satisfied the amendments offered by the GOP leadership yesterday are within the limits set by the President's statement.

Property Tax Boost Is Seen By Governor

238 Million Dollars Asked To Run State For Next Fiscal Year

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin asked the General Assembly today to appropriate an unprecedented 238 million dollars to run Maryland for the next year.

He said the real estate tax must go up in 1955. By saying little more about taxes, he clearly implied charges would have to remain at present levels to keep the state going.

By similar omission, he removed the administration from hope for another percentage cut in personal income taxes.

The governor detailed his spending program in a speech before the Senate and House to open the Legislature's 30-day fiscal session. He also recommended building and improvement projects for state institutions of $9,995,000 on borrowed money.

Thus his program totaled $247,780,352. Of this, current revenues would finance an operating budget of $237,785,352.

The record budget included, as anticipated, just under 215 millions in state funds. The federal government will supply the balance.

Increase Of 18½ Millions

It exceeds the current budget by 18½ millions. A bookkeeping change to funnel 5½ millions into a separate "business" account for University of Maryland self-supporting activities reduced comparable figures for both years. Otherwise, the difference would have been almost $100,000 higher.

"I know that the budget has been pared to the utmost, that the revenue estimates have been well considered and that it will provide the services our people require," McKeldin told a joint Senate-House session.

Agencies had requested almost 11½ millions more than they now get, but he trimmed the increase in areas not closed by law to about seven.

Appropriations suggested by McKeldin mean the state would be spending $101.50 per citizen in the 1955 fiscal year, beginning July 1, end split-all in

The governor kept the budget out of the red by his previously reported plan to collect two years' worth of gross receipts tax from utilities and trust companies in one year. He also had to draw on all but $620,000 of an estimated treasury balance of $4,700,000 when this fiscal year ends.

He proposed holding the $620,000 as a "reserve or safety factor."

11.89 Tax Rate Necessary

McKeldin devoted just one line to the real estate tax in his speech, a shortened version of the 46-page budget message.

"With an estimated 1955 taxable base of $6,313,000, a rate of 11.89 cents per $100 of valuation is necessary to meet state debt service through June 30, 1956," he said.

The current rate of 5.67 cents, lowest in history, would then more than double unless the Legislature digs up money by slashing the governor's budget.

McKeldin also noted that motor vehicle registration fees will jump about one-third in 1955 to help raise funds for Maryland's 12-year road-building program.

Otherwise, current levies aren't expected to bring in as much new money as in the last few years. McKeldin commented it was impossible to judge whether forecasts by the Board of Revenue Estimates "underrate the strength

Beeson Pledges To Put Up Fight For Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Albert C. Beeson, whose nomination to the National Labor Relations Board has stirred a hornet's nest of Democratic and union opposition, said today he has "no intention" of backing away from a confirmation fight.

Beeson's comment to a reporter, coupled with President Eisenhower's news conference expression of continued confidence in the 47-year-old San Jose businessman, indicated a bitter floor fight in the Senate when the nomination comes up for debate.

Some Democratic senators and labor leaders have protested that Beeson is a "company man." He has replied that he would tackle the NLRB job without bias.

He said today, in answer to a reporter's question, that he had "no intention" whatsoever to ask that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

The Senate Labor Committee decided last night on a hearing with a full-scale probe of Beeson's pension rights with his former company. The motion was adopted when two Republicans, including Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), voted with three Democrats.

Aga Khan Is Cheered At Platinum Jubilee

KARACHI, Pakistan, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Aga Khan, an ailing old man with a voice as shaky as his legs, stood before 50,000 of Ismaili Moslem followers today and received their cheers at his platinum jubilee.

It was a sad and moving ceremony celebrating the 70 years of the Aga Khan's spiritual leadership of 20 million Ismaili Moslems in all parts of the world.

The Aga Khan reposed on a throne beneath a bright crimson canopy while his 215 pounds were matched sympolically in platinum.

GOP Majority Of House Unit Backs T-H Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) reported today the Republican majority of the House Labor Committee is generally favorable to President Eisenhower's proposals for revising the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Fourteen specific changes were recommended by Eisenhower in a message to Congress Jan. 11. They have come under considerable attack especially from labor union leaders.

Humphrey Hits Ike Tax Critics

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey struck back tonight at those who have attacked the administration's tax program as benefitting business rather than individual taxpayers. He said each will share equally in tax gains.

The secretary said a financial accounting of the program had just been completed and that "strictly relief provisions for individuals will be about 600 million dollars. All other tax benefits . . . add up to an additional 600 million dollars."

Humphrey said that if all of President Eisenhower's tax revision program is adopted — and scheduled tax cuts are postponed—the government would lose 1¼ billion dollars in revenue.

The Treasury secretary made this statement in a transcribed radio interview (NBC's "Report From The White House") after William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had been subjected to new Democratic fire on the tax program.

Martin, appearing before the Senate-House Economic Committee one day after Humphrey testified, said business tax cuts would do more to remedy the current dip in the nation's economy than a further reduction in individual income taxes.

Indian Tragedy

Hundreds Are Killed In Pilgrims' Stampede

ALLAHABAD, India, Feb. 3 (AP)—Hundreds of Hindus were crushed to death today in a stampede of three million frenzied pilgrims into holy river waters to wash their sins away. Officials said a first count showed 315 dead but the toll may reach 1,000.

The tragedy occurred at the junction here of the Ganges and Jumna Rivers where the bathers had gathered for the great Kumbh Mela Festival — one of the holiest in the Hindu religion.

Prime Minister Nehru and President Rajendra Prasad, who came for the ceremonies, remained to supervise the grim task of caring for the dead and injured.

Hospitals treated at least 1,000 persons injured in varying degree. One estimate of the injured was set at 3,000. But harried officials said the exact toll may never be known.

Many bodies floated away in the waters. A pontoon bridge collapsed at the height of the stampede, sending bodies plunging into the river. Relatives claimed bodies for private cremations in accord with Hindu religious practice before authorities could even start making a count.

Milling elephants added to the horror at the scene. They had been ridden to the river by naked Sadhus—holy men.

Coffee Trading Controls Voted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee recommended today that the government supervise trading and speculation in coffee.

It voted unanimously to put coffee under the same market controls which now apply to corn, wheat, cotton, fats and oils and many other commodities.

The action, which is subject to approval by Senate and House, is designed to limit increases in coffee prices to the extent that they are caused by speculation. But brokers, contending that a coffee shortage rather than speculation has caused the price jump, told the committee yesterday that such curbs might lower the supply and lead to still higher prices.

The committee acted while two other groups went ahead with investigations to learn what has pushed retail coffee prices above $1 a pound.

A Senate Banking subcommittee already has ordered public hearings to start next Monday. The Federal Trade Commission, with President Eisenhower's blessing, has sent its investigators to New York to check into the situation.

Missing Russian Reported Giving Spy Data To U. S.

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 4 (AP)—A reputed lieutenant colonel of Russia's secret police, who bolted the Soviet mission here in fear of the firing squad, today was reported spilling top espionage secrets to U.S. agents on Okinawa.

A U.S. officer who cannot be named, said the Soviet agent, Yuri Alexandrovich Rastovorov, was giving details of Communist expionage against both the United States and Japan.

Two pals of Rastovorov in the Russian mission also were said to be in serious trouble inside the guarded compound and would be sent back to Russia shortly to an uncertain fate.

The source said the two had wanted to follow Rastovorov's lead and seek asylum with the United States.

"Rastovorov helped set up a spy network that has already penetrated some of the highest levels of the Japanese government," the U.S. officer said.

The officer declared Rastovorov sought and received asylum with the Americans when he was ordered back to Russia. Members of the Russian mission here reported Rastovorov's disappearance to Japanese police last week. Later they charged he had been kidnaped by Americans.

Bad News For Britons

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 3 (AP)—Argentina today stopped shipping meat to Britain because of a shortage for home consumption.

'Strike It Rich' Radio-TV Show Under Fire In New York City

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The "Strike It Rich" radio-TV show was asked today to quit luring the needy to New York with its something-for-nothing bait. The city said too many would-be contestants wind up on relief.

Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy called the tear-jerking program, which makes a public spectacle of human misery, a "national disgrace."

From here on out, his department ruled, "Strike It Rich" needs a city license to operate.

Producers of the show promptly defied the licensing demand, and said the program will go on as scheduled without a license.

Sidney J. DuBroff public relations man for the producers told a news conference:

"We do not want to step on Mr. McCarthy's toes or on the toes of any welfare agency. However, we do not feel any laws were being violated. We are awaiting Mr. McCarthy's next move."

McCarthy claims at least 55 families have landed on relief after they came here from all over the nation in quest of easy money on the giveaway program.

"Programs like this are a national disgrace," McCarthy said. "They create the impression that destitute people in the U. S. have no place to go—and this in the face of the most comprehensive Community Chest and private and public welfare organizations in the world.

"Every time these poor souls have to expose their sores in public we are playing into the hands of the Communists. It is a return to the tin cup begging idea of charity."

There is no waiting period in New York before a person can go on relief and McCarthy's legal adviser in the Welfare Department, Philip Sokol, declared:

"We cannot afford to have people induced to come here to go on a program on the assumption they will get rich, and then go on relief. They create a relief problem because we have to take care of everybody in the city in need of assistance."

Sokol ruled that "Strike It Rich" needs a city license for public solicitation, because of its appeals for help for its needy contestants.

Vietminh Increases Pressure On French

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Vietminh stepped up pressure today against French Union forces on Annam's long mountainous plateau north of Saigon, where the rebels launched an offensive last week.

This latest pressure point in the Communist-led rebels' scattered but apparently synchronized offensive on widely scattered sectors of Indochina developed as the French Command imposed a blackout on operations in northern Laos, some 700 miles to the northwest. There Vietminh Division 308 was knifing toward Luang Probang, Laotian royal city on Mekong River dividing Indochina and Thailand. Yesterday's reports had the rebels 62 miles north of Luang Prabang and advancing.

Housewife Sends Poisoned Candy To Church Members

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—A gray-haired housewife who felt neglected socially admitted today she sent poisoned candy to members of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales.

"I am guilty," 49-year-old Mrs. Letha Della Overton said in a low voice and then broke into sobs when U. S. Commissioner Paul Pinkerton read the charge against her — sending poisonous matter through the mails last December 8 with intent to kill or injure.

She waived preliminary hearing and was held under $2,500 bond for trial later in federal court on the charge.

About 20 persons, including several children, were made violently ill by the arsenic-loaded chocolate fudge with pink icing. All recovered in 24 hours and none ever was reported in critical condition.

But Postal Inspector J. A. Callahan of Atlanta said this poison could cause serious after-effects by lodging in the kidneys.

"We don't want to frighten anyone," said Callahan, "but it could be very serious. All concerned should have checkups by their doctors."

Her husband, Jesse W. Overton, who is superintendent of the Sunday school of the same church, stood beside her, patted her shoulder and tried to still her crying.

The government did not present any evidence, but Police Chief K. M. Mellick of Lake Wales said Mrs. Overton had indicated she felt she had been neglected socially by members of the church.

Grocer Ignores Fine Threat, Continues Coffee Price War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Carlos Garcia kept right on today with his one-man war on the high price of coffee, even under the threat of a $300 fine.

Garcia runs a small food store a couple of miles from the White House. He specializes in imported foods.

When the price of coffee went up, Garcia decided something should be done. So he hand-lettered two small signs and put them in his store window.

"Coffee (delivery protection by Brink's)," one read. "Easy payment plan insured by the Republican administration (federal warehouses at Ft. Knox.)"

The other said:

"We will trade your car for one pound of coffee if you will trade the present administration for something better."

Garcia says he thought the signs were only a joke, but he had started a reaction that was to reach to the top of Washington's city government.

For District of Columbia regulations prohibit signs in windows unless they advertise the place of business. Only exceptions: Two small signs may be put in if they advertise something "of interest to the community."

Clark King, assistant corporation counsel, said anyone who is warned and fails to comply with the regulation can be fined $300.

When Garcia heard this, he went into action again. Today he placed in his window one of those appeals for money to fight polio. And to it he attached another hand-lettered note: "Is this sign illegal, too? We don't sell polio."

Garcia said his only object was to attract attention to the high price of coffee, and, in that, he says, he has succeeded beyond his dreams.

"People keep calling me all the time," he said, "telling me not to back down. Well, the signs stay until I get notice—in writing."

Movie Censorship On Wane?

In six states and some fifty cities authorizing prior censorship of motion pictures, authorities are analyzing a decision of the United States Supreme Court in an attempt to formulate a valid model statute that will prevent public exhibition of obscene and immoral films.

Censors of Kansas, Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia met with New York state censors in a two-day conference on January 21 and 22. Their discussion centered on the Supreme Court decision of January 18 overthrowing a New York ban on the French film "La Ronde," on the ground that it was immoral, and an Ohio ban on the film "M," on the ground that it tended to incite to crime.

"We are agreed," the censors said in a prepared statement, "that the United States Supreme Court has upheld the constitutional rights of the states to exercise pre-regulation of motion pictures." The censors reasoned that inasmuch as only Justices Douglas and Black recommended complete freedom from censorship for "every writer, actor, producer, no matter what medium of expression he may use," the other seven justices apparently favored some form of pre-censorship.

Lloyd T. Binford, municipal censor in Memphis, Tenn., has said that his position is "undisturbed" by the Supreme Court ruling. "I'm merely complying with the Memphis law to ban immoral, lewd, and lascivious pictures," Binford told a correspondent for Variety, amusements industry publication, on January 26. "If the city commission wants to revise its ordinances that's all right with me." Censorship in Memphis has long been considered in motion picture circles as unduly strict.

The reaction to the Supreme Court decision in Columbus, Ohio, included a suggestion by Protestant officials of a strategy similar to that of the Catholic Church's Legion of Decency. President Dawson of the Columbus Council of Churches declared: "If the ramifications of the decision are what they seem to imply, it presents a grave problem which should be given serious consideration by interfaith groups with the viewpoint of acting to offset any ill-effects undesirable movies produce."

On the day after the Supreme Court decision was handed down, the official Vatican publication, L'Osservatore Romano, published a front-page editorial calling for state intervention in "this cynical and brutal white slave trade" of the Hollywood and Rome film studios. The paper commented: "Only recently we have had the open opposition of two actresses who, hurt in their human dignity, revolted against the moral prostitution to which the merchants of this new slavedom forced them, although with good pay."

This was an apparent reference, in part, to the complaints by actress Jane Russell against scenes she appeared in in the film "The French Line." On the same day that the Vatican editorial appeared, RKO, which produced "The French Line," informed the Legion of Decency and the Motion Picture Production Code Administration that it intended to continue showing the picture without revision. The film had been condemned by the Legion and refused approval by the Administration.

The Breen office, enforcement agency of the Motion Picture Association of America, has threatened RKO with a $25,000 fine for violation of the code. A similar fine was imposed on the studio for release of "The Outlaw," also starring Miss Russell, some years ago.

Coffee Investigation

Coffee interests maintain that soaring prices for the commodity are the result of short supply resulting from frost damage. But there are many charges that speculation, as well as economic and weather conditions in coffee-producing countries, has contributed to the situation.

Four years ago conditions were analogous to the present. Then the same explanations were offered by the coffee interests for rising prices and a Senate subcommittee started an inquiry. What the committee uncovered discredited the claim of shortage. It found that Brazilians and other South and Central Americans were betting heavily on the New York Coffee Exchange that coffee prices here would keep on going up.

According to the committee, one Brazilian firm had cleaned up $3,000,000 in speculative trading within nine months. That profit had come from buying future contracts—that is, buying coffee for future delivery ahead of United States price increases. Manipulation of the market was, of course, necessary.

The committee suggested extending technical aid to "other friendly nations" seeking to increase coffee output. Fourteen Latin American countries protested to the State Department. They said the committee report violated the "Good Neighbor" policy and could lead to economic warfare. So nothing was done, but coffee prices declined somewhat.

A few years ago the Brazilian government burned thousands of tons of coffee to keep the price up, at a time of overproduction, and it would not be surprising if it was revealed that American coffee consumers are being taken for a ride with official connivance of some South American governments.

Ambition Unsated

To scale the utmost heights is the perennial aspiration of man. One who has attained that ambition literally is Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest, newly arrived in the United States for a lecture tour.

What sort of man surmounts all obstacles to reach so dangerous a goal? One finds the answer in the engaging personality of this Auckland beekeeper, once an air force flier. He had the urge to match his strength and stamina in direct struggle with the world's highest mountain. Still not content, he wants to tackle the unconquered sister peaks of the Himalayas.

Sir Edmund—he was knighted by the Queen to whom his feat was a coronation gift—hopes to meet American explorers to compare notes. Asked if he would mount to the top of the world's highest building, he smilingly said he would if "the lifts were running." They were and he did.

The quality of this modest man is evidenced by the quick instinct to share full credit with the native guide with whom he embraced when they reached the summit together last May 29, and his acknowledgement of the importance to his success of the "team work" in the entire expedition.

Types Of Dizziness

Dizziness comes in many varieties, ranging from a sensation of walking on straw to floating aimlessly through the air. Furthermore, it may be of the true or false type, depending upon the source of trouble.

True vertigo is a sensation of spinning or turning and frequently is associated with an ear disturbance. When the eyes are closed the individual feels as tho he were moving and the room is standing still but when the eyes are open, the room seems to move and he stands still. The balancing mechanism is at fault, which not only involves the labyrinth of the ear but also the eyes, brain, and connecting nerve pathways. Stimulation of any of these structures through disease or toxic substances may produce the symptom. Any one who has had too much to drink has experienced this feeling. It is easily duplicated by turning around in the middle of the room with the eyes closed or by rolling downhill in a barrell. The stimulation also may involve the emetic, or vomiting center of the brain which is nearby; as a result, victims often develop nausea and vomiting also.

Years ago a French physician, Dr. Prosper Meniere, described a syndrome in which dizziness was associated with ear ringing and deafness. In this condition, the labyrinth or inner ear is swollen because of inflammation or an allergic disorder. Changes in the ear are so slight the exact cause is difficult to determine. Nevertheless, the disorder is most uncomfortable, especially when vertigo is severe. Some suffers are troubled for only a day or two; others are bothered periodically; and a few have Meniere's syndrome for months or years. Dramamine, histamine, nicotinic acid, belladonna, and sedatives are the remedies most frequently used.

The other type of dizziness generally is described as lightheadedness or a sense of sinking or faintness. As a rule, it results from lack of oxygen to the brain and the sensation may end in a fainting spell. Irregularities of the pulse may play a role; for example, when the heart slows or stops beating momentarily, the individual becomes dizzy and loses consciousness. Low blood pressure, especially on rising, also is a common variation of dizziness especially in older men and women with poor circulation and those who have been ill or confined to bed for a long time. Here the blood vessels have lost their tone and are unable to deliver blood to the brain when the person assumes the upright position. This form of dizziness also accompanies ordinary fainting of psychological origin.

GOITER RECURRENCE

B. R. writes: Is it possible for a goiter to return and the eyes start bulging, four years after the gland has been operated upon?

REPLY

Symptoms may recur because in the operation, the gland is not removed completely. There always is a possibility that the remaining tissue will start growing again.

REST AND MORE REST

J. R. writes: What was Weir-Mitchell's treatment of anxiety?

REPLY

Rest in bed for several weeks.

PILLS ARE USELESS

V. H. writes: Is insulin in tablet form as beneficial as that taken by injection?

REPLY

No, because insulin by mouth is not absorbed; the stomach secretions destroy it. When the substance is injected hypodermically every bit is absorbed and there is no doubt as to the amount used by the system.

NAVEL RUPTURE

Mrs. C. writes: I have heard that a small rupture at the navel can be cured locally. Does this mean at the doctor's office?

REPLY

No—at the navel. "Local" in this sense usually refers to the type of anesthesia rather than where the operation is done.

DIAGNOSTIC AIDS

S. W. writes: Can a doctor tell if you have coronary thrombosis by taking your pulse and blood pressure and listening to your heart?

REPLY

These examinations lend presumptive evidence but from the diagnostic point of view they are not as valuable as the nature of complaints and the electrocardiogram readings.

PULSE PAIN

C. M. G. writes: What causes a severe pain in the pulse?

REPLY

Which one? Every artery expands with the beat of the heart to produce a pulse. I assume, however, you refer to pain in the wrist, which may be associated with sprain, rheumatism, or bursitis.

HEART DISORDER

A. F. writes: What is a coronary insult?

REPLY

Some physicians use this expression to denote coronary thrombosis [obstruction of the coronary artery].

Brazilian Farmers Don't Profit By Coffee Climb; "A"-Battery Discovery Dazzles Scientific World; Regarded As One Of Greatest Scientific Milestones

WASHINGTON — An important thing to remember about the dizzy climb in coffee prices is that the profits from the price climb are not going to farmers in Brazil, most of whom have been seriously hurt by the frost that ravaged their crop and induced the coffee shortage.

Nor is the price increase due to any market manipulation by the Brazilian government, as its minister of foreign relations, Vicente Rao, made unmistakably clear in a recent letter to the Washington Post.

As usual, the profits are being soaked up chiefly by distributors, roasters, and speculating middlemen, who deal in coffee futures. Another important thing to remember, before we start pointing an accusing finger at Brazil, is that by far the greater portion of our huge spending for coffee stays right in the United States.

A Senate agriculture subcommittee, headed by Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, heard some impressive testimony on this subject four years ago that might well apply to the situation today. Andres Uribe, acting chairman of the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, testified that the United States annually spends more than $2,000,000,000 in coffee trade.

Of this amount, 62 per cent remains in the United States and is shared by brokers (speculators), importers, roasters, retailers, stevedores, salesmen, etc. The remaining 38 per cent goes to the producing countries, including Brazil.

The year before, late in 1949, middlemen speculators had made a killing when coffee prices skyrocketed. Uribe disclosed that Brazilian producers, the great majority of whom are small farmers, didn't benefit from the market upturn, having already disposed of their coffee crop in July 1949.

"And the farmer gets paid for it then — in July?" inquired Sen. George Aiken of Vermont.

"Yes, they get paid when they give the coffee to the second handler," replied Uribe.

"Then the coffee was out of the farmer's hands before the rise in price started in November?" asked Aiken.

Uribe replied that practically all Brazilian farmers had sold their coffee by that time and "naturally did not get any of the rise." The same is true today.

New "A"-Battery

Atomic scientists are more excited about the new "atomic battery" than anything that's happened since Hiroshima. In contrast to that first explosion, which made many scientists dread for the future, the new A-battery has given them fresh hope that mankind will eventually reap the untapped benefits of atomic power.

Here is what one scientist said: "With this discovery it now seems certain we'll be able to develop atom-powered automobiles and airplanes. It's probably much cheaper and more efficient. This is what we've been looking for. . . Don't be surprised if it takes us — literally and figuratively — to the moon.

"The discovery is really too physically small to talk about but the idea behind it is almost too big to think about. This is one of the few new developments that will identify our century to future historians and even school children. Hundreds of years from now children will learn about the development of peaceful atomic power in 1954.

"This is absolutely certain — unless, through an atomic war, there are no children."

RCA, developer of the new direct-conversation system, kept its progress highly secret and only a handful of the nation's scientists knew about it. Most were as startled as the public when RCA Chairman David Sarnoff made the announcement that electricity could be produced directly from radioactive material without using any moving parts.

Until this announcement, scientists have produced atom-powered electricity only through a complex system involving an atomic pile, steam, turbines, and dynamos.

Though still in its infancy, this revolutionary discovery is regarded as one of the greatest milestones in scientific history.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Too Many People

The rapid growth of population throughout the world undoubtedly has a pressing effect upon political problems. It is estimated by the Population Reference Bureau, Inc. that 1953 witnessed the increased population of the world by about 25,000,000. Such statistics can never be altogether accurate because some countries do not keep their population figures in good shape, but the estimates can be made from the facts that are known to be accurate.

It is estimated that in 1650, the population of the world was about 500,000,000; an estimate for 1953 would be 2,500,000,000. The greatest increase has been during the past 100 years, since about 1850. A conservative estimate, including all possible errors, would indicate that the population of the earth has increased fourfold in 300 years.

This means that the birth-rate is more rapid than the death-rate despite wars, accidents, birth-control and other life reducers. It means at one end, more children, at the other end more old people than earlier societies were accustomed to and therefore it means alterations in social institutions because the middle age groups carry heavier loads of dependents. In countries in which the mortality rate is high, the population is younger than it is in a country such as ours where a large part of the population lives beyond physical and mental capability and grows increasingly dependent.

This same report shows the vast variations in density of population, which means that some countries, such as Italy and Japan, are literally splitting at the seams. The effect of that, for instance, is evident in the mass migrations from Puerto Rico, where the density is 652 per square mile while the world average is 47 per square mile. Canada, for example, has a population density of four per square mile. Inevitably, those who are crowded will seek to move to areas where they can have elbow room, as it were. In some countries, over-population means increasing poverty, perhaps to the point of starvation, as in India.

The distribution of food has always been unsatisfactory and a cause not only for mass migrations but for wars. The United States is hoarding butter, cheese, eggs, wheat and other essential foods at a time when many countries lack foods. No device has been found in recorded history for moving food effectively from one area to another except by ordinary methods of commerce. The current effort in Great Britain to revive the egg as a food may appear humorous to Americans who have eggs in excessive plentitude, but it is a serious matter to the British.

Those governments which are faced by excess population in the past have been able to move them, as individuals or families, by emigration. The United States, for instance, was peopled by immigration. So were Australia and New Zealand. Canada has kept her immigration down in a struggle between Protestants and Catholics for prevalence.

Emigration has become increasingly difficult not so much because of lack of room for the migrants but because many nations have set up a resistance to the dilution of their cultures by constant absorption of aliens of vastly diverse cultures. In the United States, for example, the McCarran Immigration Law reflects public opinion that immigration should be limited, although this general view is opposed by particular groups who favor more liberal policies toward migrants, particularly such as have been made homeless by current political changes.

The United Nations is to hold a world conference on population in Rome in September at which this question of population will be discussed from every standpoint. It is possible that out of such a universal discussion may come more accurate data than are now available, resulting in a better understanding of what might be done with the vast, open spaces, particularly the desert lands that can hold huge populations after adequate and costly engineering.

The Russians are doing some work to reclaim the Kara Kum Desert in the Caspian region, but scant information is available about it. I saw an estimate somewhere that this region, if irrigated, could hold 50,000,000 people. Little is being done with the Sahara, although it is one of the richest mineral areas on earth and could be turned into good farm land as has been done to the deserts of California.

This is a major human problem, because landless and hungry people are always a menace to peace.

Matter Of Fact

The Mounting Asian Crisis

WASHINGTON

This is one of those queer moments when the real news and the news on the front pages tend to diverge. Congress is wrestling with the Bricker amendment. The White House is pressing a massive legislative program. In Berlin, Molotov is talking sweet. So we are told every morning.

What we are not told, is that another major Asian crisis is quite probably on the way. So far as America is concerned, this large, unattractive, uncomfortable fact seems to be regarded as one of the secrets of the National Security Council, where the new Asian crisis is being anxiously and continuously discussed.

The measure of the gravity of the crisis is given by the character of the proposals that are now before the NSC. Reportedly, the decision has already been taken to aid the French in Indo-China, where the crisis centers, by sending them 400 mechanics and maintenance experts from the American Air Force units in the Far East. The number is not large. But surely there is great significance in this decision to send American troops to Indo-China, not for training purposes, but to assist directly in the struggle there.

Nor is this all. One of the official projects now before the National Security Council calls for giving the French in Indo-China all-out American air and naval support. In the same context, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Arthur Radford, is authoritatively understood to have revived his old plan of a naval blockade of the China coast. There is no prospect, at present, that such drastic steps will actually be taken. The signs are all the other way. But the mere fact that such steps should be discussed at all speaks several volumes.

Creates Difficult Problem

There is a reason why the new Asian crisis is causing such concern in the inner circles of the administration, yet attracting so little attention from the rest of the world. In effect, the immediate danger is not in Indo-China, but in Paris. The French mood is such that the French government will abandon the Indo-Chinese struggle if their forces in Indo-China merely suffer a serious reverse. Of this the American government has been plainly warned, officially and unofficially.

This means, in turn, that nothing very grandiose has to happen in Indo-China, in order to open the gateway of South Asia to the onward march of Communist imperialism. The French and Viet Namese forces do not have to be decisively and finally defeated, in order to produce an acutely hazardous situation. They need only suffer the kind of setbacks that will finally sap the much weakened will of France to carry on the war. Maybe not a straw, but hardly more than a twig can break the camel's back.

The problem this creates for Gen. Navarre and Gen. Cogny is obviously very difficult. Generals cannot guarantee not to suffer fairly serious local setbacks, even when their forces are much stronger than the enemy forces. But the margin of strength possessed by Gen. Cogny and Gen. Navarre is very small, and growing less into the bargain.

For the time being, to be sure, the outlook has been improved at Dien Bien Phu, the important French fortified post where the situation was causing intense alarm only a week ago. But this improvement has taken place because a division of the Communist forces that encircled Dien Bien Phu has been directed for another purpose. A major Communist movement has now been noted towards Luang Prabang and perhaps Vientiane, the two strong points in the Laos country that the Viet Minh attacked last year.

Voluntary Defections

Large numbers of Gen. Navarre's best troops are already committed at Dien Bien Phu. Whether he will have the effectives available to resist a major Communist drive into the Laos country, is an open question. In addition, the Viet Minh high command has launched an attack, not major in itself but embarrassing, in central Indo-China. And now there has come bad news of large scale defections by Viet Namese army units in the supposedly pacified territory near the southern capitol, Saigon.

These Viet Namese army defections to the Communists seem to have been wholly voluntary, without any serious preliminary fighting. They come after the "affair of Bui Chu" last September, when raw Viet Namese units surrendered en masse when attacked by smaller Communist forces.

Psychologically, the Viet Namese defections are a real calamity; for the improvement of the Viet Namese anti-Communist army has been the main basis for all recent French hopes and plans. This disheartening development on our side is balanced, moreover, by indications that China is massively increasing the supply flow to the Viet Minh Communists. This means that Gen. Navarre and Gen. Cogny must expect a constant growth of enemy power.

Altogether, Gen. Navarre will need something very like genius to avoid the kind of setback that can do irreparable damage in Paris. Perhaps the great policy problem will be crystallized in Saigon, where French Defense Minister Rene Pleven and our army's Indo-China expert, Gen. O'Daniel, are both going to confer with the French High Command. Perhaps Molotov, in Berlin, will offer the French peace in Indo-China in exchange for abandoning their American allies in Europe.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They are impersonal and non-partisan in the United States Senate when it comes to fighting communism inside or outside this country. By a vote of 85 to 1, the Senate approved the expenditure of $216,000 for the use of the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations.

This is the committee of which Senator McCarthy, Republican, of Wisconsin is chairman. For several weeks now there have been press dispatches saying that the Wisconsin senator would have trouble getting a continuing appropriation for his committee and that he was about to be punished for sundry aberrations in the field of his inquiries. But, as has happened time and again for the last 20 years, when there is a roll-call vote in either house of Congress, the tally is overwhelmingly in favor of carrying on the investigations by congressional committees on the subject of communism or corruption or irregularities in government administration.

Congress Is Watchdog

The anti-Communist issue is one that has aroused deep feelings, but the "grass roots" sentiment is that, where there's fire there is smoke and that it is up to the Congress as a watchdog to keep an eye on what is being done by the executive branch of the government to ferret out subversives and to protect the security of the United States.

Many people who never have understood their own Constitution, with its separation of powers and with its checks and balances, have assumed that the legislative branch of the government is subordinate to instead of coordinate with the executive branch. For years there has been a campaign belittling or ridiculing members of Congress and the institution itself. There are citizens who have grown up in recent years believing that a congressional committee hasn't any right to make an inquiry except when it has a specific legislative aim. They overlook the fact that Congress can investigate for the purpose of writing new laws or amending the constitution or to repeal any laws or provisions of the Constitution. The citizen is not obligated always to answer the questions of Congress, but the committees have a virtually unlimited right to ask the questions.

The Senate Committee on Governmental Operations has a broad scope. It goes into questions of improper influences insides the government, misuse of authority, corruption and irregularities of all kinds. By centering in one committee in the House and one in the Senate the supervision of government personnel operations, an extensive work of checking the executive departments and agencies is conducted.

Some citizens, of course, have an exaggerated idea of the anti-Communist issue. The other day a group in Norwalk, Conn., decided to send in names to the Federal Bureau of Investigation based on their own impressions of the loyalty of individuals. This has been rightly condemned as a dangerous practice. The self-appointed group of vigilantes can do harm to a good cause—the furnishing of information to the government. During World War I there were units in various cities which sent to the Department of Justice lists of those with German names because they suspected possible connection with the German cause in the war. This led to an abuse which was far worse than anything that has happened since. The memory of these injustices burns vividly in the minds of many loyal citizens who were subjected to embarrassment in those days by self-appointed investigators.

Should Be Concrete

A citizen, acting as an individual, has a right to send information to his government, but the information ought to relate solely to something concrete of which he has personal knowledge as to law violation. It is valueless if it is only hearsay, or if it is rumor, or if it merely concerns another person's views.

The question is asked: "Can't the FBI be depended upon to do it all?" Not long ago, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, appealed for help from former Communists and others in touch with Communist activities so that the government might be better informed. But he has said there is need also for the work of congressional committees. By the power of subpoena, Congress can bring to light many things that the FBI cannot touch unless there is concrete proof of law violation.

So far as employment in the government is concerned, it is not necessary for a case to be provable in a court of law. It is only necessary to establish a reasonable doubt as to the integrity of an individual employe. Sometimes congressional committees disclose practices that have covered up actual and potential security risks. For today, if a government employe refuses to answer a question from a congressional committee on the ground that it may incriminate him, this is automatically grounds for dismissal from the government service without further proceedings.

They've demurred about this and they've demurred about that. But have no partisan objections to everybody getting into the patriarchal pay-off.

Legislators Prepare To Fight For Liquor Tax-Sharing Plan

Measure Vetoed By M'Keldin Will Be Reconsidered

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins declared tonight a share-the-wealth plan for state liquor taxes wouldn't take effect until 1955 even if the Legislature insists on it.

Rollins issued his opinion as legislators brewed strength for the plan after organizing the General Assembly with dispatch for a 30-day session.

The movement was aimed at getting enough votes, 74 delegates and 18 senators, to override Gov. McKeldin's veto of the proposal. It was one of 42 bills and portions of the 1953 construction loan vetoed after the last session and due for reconsideration by the Legislature tomorrow.

Rollins opined that among other things the chance of unbalancing the 1954-55 budget by taking away the better part of a million dollars in revenue would delay the tax bill's effect until July 1, 1955. An accompanying provision to end local authority to tax alcoholic beverages also would be useless until the same date.

Baltimoreans had expressed fear that if a hunk of the state's liquor take were not redistributed until then, they would be out almost a million dollars from the city's levy for a whole year.

Tawes Backs New Plan

The bill was inspired last year by continuation of the right to only Baltimore City and Baltimore County to levy an extra 50 cents a gallon on liquor.

The Alcoholic Beverages Committee of the House then pushed through a bill to raise the state tax from $1.25 to $1.50 and redistribute the yield from 50 cents to all counties based on the amount of liquor sold in each.

The special extra levy imposed in Baltimore City and Baltimore County would be revoked at the same time.

The new plan has the announced support of Millard Tawes, comptroller, despite the fact that the state would be collecting at a lower rate for itself. Tawes said he is for it because of the principle of a uniform tax collected at state level.

Liquor sellers also are for it because it would reduce the tax in Baltimore City and Baltimore County, where most of the people live in the state and where most is sold, from $1.75 to $1.50.

Gov. McKeldin vetoed the plan because "the net effect of this proposal would be a loss of state revenue of at least $800,000 per year."

He suggested that if the idea is to supply more revenue for the counties that the tax be increased to $1.75 and return the yield from 50 cents to the counties or to $1.50 and redistribute the 25 cents. This would maintain the state rate at $1.25.

Organization Completed

There was a sign that an attempt also might be made to restore three items the governor vetoed in last year's bond bill for capital improvements.

Mimeographed copies of his veto message were laid on the desk of each senator and delegate.

The rejected items were $4,000 for a trailer for the Department of Research and Education, $250,000 for a gymnasium and field house at Washington College and $250,000 for a men's dormitory at Western Maryland College.

Del. Luber (D-Balto 5th) followed his installation as speaker again today by appointing as expected Del. Thompson (D-Dorchester) to the important Ways and Means Committee chairmanship and Del. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) to the Judiciary chairmanship which he held last year.

The return of Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th) to his president's seat was accompanied by the remark of Sen. Sybert (D-Howard) that "it behooved us to close ranks" in the interests of the Democratic party.

Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany), the Republican leader, commented he was impressed by the "good will, love and understanding" being exhibited by the Democrats.

John Adams was the first President of the United States to use Washington, D. C., as the capital.

ADMITS SENDING POISONED CANDY — Mrs. Letha Overton, 49, pleaded guilty before U. S. Commissioner Paul Pinkerton in Tampa, Fla., yesterday to sending poisoned candy through the mail. The candy went to about 20 persons of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales, of which she is a member. No one died but a number were made ill.

75 Cents Hour State Minimum Pay Law Asked

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Senate President Della (D-Balto 6th) tonight proposed a state minimum-wage law of 75 cents an hour.

It would extend to intrastate commerce the same pay floor of the federal law on interstate commerce.

Della also proposed creation of a Department of Safety for Industry. Such responsibilities now come under the Industrial Accident Commission and the Department of Labor and Industry.

He also would make it mandatory at least one member of the Industrial Accident Commission be a representative of labor. Bills to require full pay for time spent by employes voting and to guarantee the rights of union officials representing state workers to present grievances to department heads also were introduced by Della.

He also proposed a radical departure in the status of desk officers of the House and Senate. He suggested the present ones be made part of the classified service which would guarantee their reappointment year after year.

The desk jobs now are minor political plums and subject to change every session.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset) proposed that school bus drivers and owners be allowed to participate in the state pension fund.

The two houses also received 28 bills which have been gone over and recommended by the Legislative Council. In addition, there are proposed changes to their rules to eliminate a method of practically killing a bill in the final days or hours of a session.

Marilyn To Visit Troops In Korea

TOKYO, Thursday, Feb. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Joe DiMaggio is going to Korea and great joy reigns among all ranks in bunkers, tents and hospitals.

Mrs. DiMaggio, as everyone knows, is Marilyn Monroe.

The U. S. Army, in response to overwhelming demands from its constituency in Korea, fixed things up yesterday for Marilyn to go over there for four days the middle of this month.

"She will be most welcome in Korea," said a ranking staff officer.

Meany Pledges Fight To Finish In Dock Dispute

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—AFL President George Meany today pledged a finish fight in the New York waterfront labor controversy and ascribed John L. Lewis' interest in the pier scrap to "lonesomeness."

Meany told newsmen the AFL had received peace feelers from the AFL-ousted International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA) but is not looking for any compromise and intends to fight the ILA to a showdown.

The AFL's drive to set up a new union to seize waterfront bargaining rights from the ILA, after that union was accused of being run by criminal elements, is due for review at the AFL Executive Council's winter meeting here.

Meany, asked about rumors of a possible negotiated peace between the old ILA and a newly formed AFL union with the same name, said "We are in this to fight to the finish—we have refused to meet with representatives of the ILA and nobody in the AFL is authorized to do so."

Lewis, president of the powerful United Mine Workers (UMW), has sided with the ILA against the AFL-ousted longshoremen's group up to $100,000 in aid. The UMW has at various times been part of the AFL and CIO but for some years now has been affiliated with neither group.

Tennessean Sets Record Straight

MEMPHIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — John Barbee, who says his wife still has a "doubting look in her eye," wants all hands to know this:

He was not the man who bid $150 for a five-year supply of brassieres at Sunday's polio auction.

"I did not buy them and would not know what to do with them if I had made the purchase," Barbee said today.

Bill Loeb, chairman of the televised auction whose proceeds went to the polio fund, said the telephoned bid for the brassieres was bogus.

Pope Pius Improves But Concern Persists

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 3 (AP)—The official Vatican newspaper again today described the condition of ailing Pope Pius XII as continuing to improve. But concern over his health persisted as the 77-year-old Pontiff remained secluded in his Vatican apartment.

L'Osservatore Romano, the newspaper, said "the state of the Supreme Pontiff, thanks to God, continues to improve."

The Vatican organ denied published reports that an English specialist who had treated King George VI had been called for consultation on the Pope's health. The King died of a thrombosis in 1952 after he had been operated on for cancer of the lung.

European Cold Wave Shows Signs Of Easing

LONDON, Feb. 3 (AP) — Planes and icebreakers restored links with isolated communities in northern Europe while the continent's cold wave tonight showed signs of easing.

Estimates of the death toll ranged as high as 300. Europe's worst cold wave in seven years caused losses running to millions of dollars from stalled transport and worker absenteeism.

Report Chaplin May Adopt Executed Spies' Children Is Denied

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—A spokesman for the trust fund for the Rosenberg children today branded as false a report that Charlie Chaplin had suggested adopting the children of the executed atomic spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The spokesman said the two boys would be raised in this country "as Americans" and that there had been no offer of any kind from Chaplin.

Radio-TV Studio Thief Is Trapped With 'Lucy's' Aid

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3 (AP)—Police say a handsome ex-convict, trapped with Lucille Ball's help, financed four years of high living by roaming the studios in the guise of a writer and swiping $50,000 from stars' dressing rooms.

Suave, mustached Kenneth Darling, 31, who lived in a $25-a-day hotel suite, is in jail today on suspicion of burglary. He talked freely of losing $8,700 gambling at Las Vegas, Nev., and of vacationing in Canada and Mexico.

"I don't mind going up the river again," officers quoted him. "I've really been living for the last four years."

Police said he admitted stealing from Miss Ball and her husband, Desi Arnaz, Ozzie and Harriett Nelson and Joan Davis. He recalled taking $32 from Mrs. Nelson's purse and $50 from Miss Davis' while they were rehearsing shows, they said.

Darling, arrested last night, was surprised by Miss Ball in her husband's dressing room, police said.

"Brother, can she scream! I got out fast!" police quoted him.

Miss Ball identified a police photo of him, and it was circulated through movie and TV studios. Yesterday Bill King, chief electrician at general service studios, recognized him and called police. Two detectives said they found him looking over a dressing room. He ducked out a back door into the arms of two waiting policemen.

Detectives said he admitted nearly 500 studio thefts in the four years, his take running as high as $500 a day and $16,000 a year.

Russians Flew MIGs In Korea, Gen. Clark Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark says Russian pilots flew Red MIG jet fighter planes in the Korean War.

"Ever since MIGs first appeared in North Korean skies in November, 1950, there has been widespread speculation whether Soviet pilots were at the controls," says the former United Nations commander in Korea.

"I can say categorically that the U.N. Command possesses adequate information to show that Russian pilots — sometimes in considerable numbers — in fact did engage our jets in combat.

"The evidence includes our pilots' reports of intercepted exchanges in Russian on the MIGs intercom systems, and the testimony of returned U.N. war prisoners that they talked with Russian combat pilots while in North Korean prison camps."

The retired general writes in Collier's magazine, out today, that:

"Our Air Force and Navy carrier planes ruled the skies as far north as they were allowed to fly —up to the Manchurian border — although we actually had slightly fewer aircraft of all types than the Communists had MIGs alone!"

Clark also says there was a Communist plot to kill President-elect Eisenhower when he visited Korea shortly after the 1952 election.

Historical Documents Stolen From Library Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—The theft of about 10 historical manuscripts from the Library of Congress — including a valuable letter written by Benjamin Franklin and another by Thomas Jefferson—was disclosed today.

Library officials said all but one of the papers, a not particularly valuable one, have been recovered. In Philadelphia, where the papers turned up in the hands of dealers and individuals, the FBI said a search for the thief is still going on.

Total value of the documents stolen was estimated by library officials at $2,000. The Franklin letter, worth $1,000, and the Jefferson letter, said to be worth $500, were the most valuable.

The documents were taken several weeks ago from the Andrew Ellicott papers in the library's closely guarded manuscript division. Ellicott was surveyor to whom various notables of the Revolutionary period addressed letters.

Officials said the thief gained access to the papers by presenting credentials — reportedly those of a University of Pennsylvania graduate student — which later turned out to be stolen. Apparently, they said, he smuggled the documents out in his clothing and took them to Philadelphia for disposition.

Property Tax

of our economy, or even whether they may prove to be liberal."

He did know that the treasury surplus, a source of wealth tapped by the last two governors to balance budgets, has dropped.

"This I state without regrets," the governor said. "It is a condition at which you and I aimed in twice using surplus funds to allow deductions from income tax payments."

But the "condition" allowed him only $3,200,000 plus an anticipated 1½ millions in unspent appropriations to add to estimated 1954-55 revenues of $100,800,000. At that, the revenue outlook improved by five millions over this year.

Extra $5,191,000 Sought

He sought an extra $5,191,000 by recommending an advance in the due date for gross receipts taxes from August to June, 1955. Thus in the fiscal year the tax will twice bolster the treasury, the first time this coming August.

Federal funds will increase slightly to $22,982,000, but reductions in certain grants hurt more than the additions helped to hold down state expenses. He said, for example, health appropriations had to be boosted $300,000 to make up for the loss from Washington.

The calculated cost of medical treatment for the poor was shaved $50,000 each in Baltimore and county programs "following the appropration policy of your body ont he current budget," McKeldin explained.

The net allowances of $1,295,000 still rose $28,000 because of an expected heavier case load in Baltimore.

The governor's major bill, the budget, necessarily involved more than state finances. Of the 238-million total, the cities and counties could receive nearly 88 millions in redistributed taxes.

392 New Jobs Proposed

To maintain operations and "increase effectiveness" the governor made room for 392 new state jobs costing $1,163,000. These included 50 additional state troopers and 25 tax assessors, a parks superintendent at $6,000 a year, and a new division of juvenile delinquency control headed by an $8,100 chief.

McKeldin's total budget was divided among general funds, $110,641,000; special funds, $104,162,000, and federal funds, $22,982,000. The Legislature can take its knife only to general funds. The others are automatically assigned to such purposes as highways.

For major functions, the governor allotted:

Public schools, $46,315,122, up almost three millions.

Roads, $68,978,000, reflecting the steady rise for highway improvements.

Welfare, $22,520,000, up a million.

Mental hygiene, $13,898,000 up $668,000.

Fahrion May Succeed Joy At Navy Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP) — The Annapolis Evening Capital said today it has learned that Rear Adm. Frank George Fahrion, who now commands the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force at Norfolk, Va., will succeed Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy as Naval Academy superintendent this year.

Joy has hinted he would retire this summer, but there has been no announcement who would replace him at the Annapolis post he took over in August 1952. A Navy spokesman here said the Academy knew nothing on the choice of a successor to Joy. The newspaper did not divulge its source.

A 17-year-old local youth held under $2,500 bond for armed robbery faced four state motor charges this morning in Trial Magistrates Court.

Charles Russell Calhoun, 100-block Paca Street, was charged with driving without a license, failing to stop after a property damage accident, displaying tags issued to another machine and reckless driving. He pleaded guilty.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason withheld sentence pending the outcome of grand jury action during the April term of Circuit Court on the robbery count involving a 15-year-old boy, John Vincent Green, of Henry Street. Green also is being detained under $2,500 bond in the county lockup.

At today's hearing, Calhoun indicated he would seek an early trial in connection with the theft of $30 from Herman Arthur Shook, 51, Town Creek Road, on January 17.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, said Calhoun went to the home of Eston Lambert, 232 Paca Street, on January 17 and asked for keys to the latter's car to "warm up the motor."

Calhoun admitted he took the auto without permission because he "wanted to run around a little bit." Later he collided with the car of a Keyser resident at Henderson Avenue and Davidson Street, and abandoned the vehicle on Bedford Street.

Then, according to Calhoun's statement, he returned to the Lambert home and advised the owner to report the car had been stolen. Lambert told authorities another story and the arrest followed.

Magistrate Mason reported State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher advised him he would accept an early trial request from Calhoun on the robbery charge.

A Company Reports to The Community

Each year West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company issues an Annual Report to its stockholders. One of the purposes of the Report is to acquaint these owners of the Company, who now number around 6,500, with the general progress of the business and to give them details of the Company's financial position.

There are many other persons, in addition to the stockholders, who have an interest in how the Company is faring. To these people, too, the Company sends copies of its Report to stockholders.

The 1953 Report, which covers the fiscal period from November 1, 1952, to October 31, 1953, is now being distributed to each of the Company's employees, to leaders in the plant communities, to customers, suppliers, financial analysts, and to others who have expressed an interest in the Company.

Those who read the 1953 Report will find that the Company enjoyed a productive and fruitful year. The volume of sales and production reached the highest levels in the Company's history and earnings approximated our best previous performances.

The success of the Company in 1953 was shared, of course, by the communities in which we operate.

The mill at Luke, for instance, provided an average of 1,675 good-paying jobs during the year. The payroll for these employees, including such benefits as a pension plan and group insurance, ran to a total of $6,281,000.

During the year the Luke mill also spent a total of $1,860,000 for pulpwood, purchased largely from farmers and small woodlot owners in the mill area. An additional $6,605,000 was spent by the mill for other paper-making materials, supplies and services, provided mostly by local and state individuals and firms.

Senate Approves Bill Creating 30 More Judgeships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the White House today a bill to create 30 additional federal district and circuit court judgeships.

Senate action, taken without objection, came a few hours after the House passed the compromise measure on a voice vote.

Three circuit and 27 district judgeships would be created.

Of the 27 new U. S. district court seats, 6 would be temporary. All such judges are appointed for life, however, and so the term "temporary" means only that the first vacancy to occur in that particular district will not be filled.

The new seats provided include, with "T" standing for temporary: Eastern Virginia, 1; Western Pennsylvania 1 and 1 (t), and Middle Tennessee 1 (t).

The bill would also make permanent three judgeships that are now temporary—a roving judgeship in Missouri, a judgeship for southern Texas, and a roving judgeship for West Virginia—and would provide that the roving judge in Pennsylvania shall become permanently attached to the Middle Pennsylvania District when the first vacancy occurs there.

The bill is a compromise of versions passed by the Senate last May 8 and by the House last July 30. It would also:

1. Permit federal judges in the continental United States to retire at full pay after reaching 65 and after serving 15 years. The present provision permitting resignation or retirement at 70 after serving 10 years would remain in the law.

2. Permit judges who become permanently disabled to retire at full pay if they have served 10 years or at half pay if they have served less than 10 years.

3. Provide that when it is necessary for a district judge to reside in or near a particular place, the judicial council of the circuit court involved may make such an order.

Initial Skirmish Lost By Pollack

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore political figure, today lost a preliminary skirmish in his fight against charges that he attempted to obstruct justice.

It was disclosed in court at the same time that he is confined to bed with "acute myocardial infarcation secondary to acute coronary thrombosis."

This means clotting of blood in the arteries which supply the heart tissues is causing damage to the heart muscles.

The diagnosis was presented to Judge Emory H. Niles in criminal court by Dr. Milton B. Kirsh, Pollack's nephew. The doctor said Pollack was too ill to be in court today for his scheduled arraignment on the charge.

Another medical certificate by Dr. John R. King said Pollack could not appear for at least a month. This was dated Jan. 25, the original date set for the arraignment. It was postponed until today when Pollack did not show up the first time.

Judge Niles went ahead and heard arguments today on a Pollack motion to dismiss the indictment. Defense attorneys contended was too vague. Judge Niles turned down their motion.

He did not set any new date for Pollack's arraignment.

The Democratic leader is accused of trying to influence the testimony of defendants in a sensational series of sex offense cases which came to trial last fall.

Of 16 youths charged with improper relations with two young girls, only Franklin D. Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimorre's mayor, was acquitted.

Segregation Ban Has Minor Effect In Case

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—An order banning segregation in schools operated at military establishments will have only a minor effect in Maryland, state schools officials said today.

Only four county systems operate schools at military posts—Prince Georges, Anne Arundel, St. Marys and Charles.

State law prohibits county schools from operating non-segregated schools.

Superintendent William Schmidt of Prince Georges county schools, indicated the county will withdraw from operation of an elementary school for white children at Andrew Air Force Base.

Dr. Davis S. Jenkins, superintendent of Anne Arundel county schools, said the new order won't affect its operation at Ft. Meade since title of the school there rests with the county.

Bright Convicted In Car Title Case

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Temus (Tim) Bright, Baltimore used car dealer and a declared Republican candidate for governor, was convicted today of violating regulations on the issuance of titles to car buyers but the judge who returned the verdict said the law ought to be changed.

Judge James K. Cullen said the law governing automobile titles is so confusing "it ought to be changed—the sooner the better."

Bright had appealed to Criminal Court his conviction in traffic court on five charges of failing to give titles to buyers at the time the deals were completed.

Judge Cullen dismissed four of the cases on grounds the language in the charges did not accurately describe the offense of which Bright was accused.

Bright's attorney contended the cases resulted from "hearsay evidence, false innuendos and baseless rumors spread by jealous competitors."

Bright was fined $50.

Black To Retain Demo Deputies

HAGERSTOWN, Feb. 3 (AP) — James R. R. Black, Hagerstown haberdasher who is to be sworn in tomorrow as acting clerk of the Washington County Circuit Court, said today he will retain two veteran deputies.

Black, a Republican, was appointed to fill a vacancy caused by death of J. Guy Weagley. The two deputies are Democrats. Edward Heimel has served in the office 32 years and Merlin Snyder 30.

Black's appointment brought a protest last week from Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish, who represents Washington County in the Fourth Judicial Circuit. He had recommended the appointment of one of the deputies as acting clerk. The other two judges, George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris, both Cumberland Republicans, outvoted Judge Mish.

Judge Mish has declined to participate in the swearing in of Black so Judge Henderson will come here Thursday morning to administer the oath.

'Liquor Patrol' Knocks Off Two Stills On Single Farm

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Two stills on a single farm were knocked off by Maryland's new "liquor patrol" in its first foray against moonshiners, agents announced today.

They said the find was made in a tool shed on the Howard County farm of Robert Lee Horner, 60. He was held in $1,000 bond by Magistrate D. H. Shipley. The charge: possessing apparatus "designed for the unlawful manufacture of alcoholic beverages."

Officers of the Maryland Alcohol Tax Unit, working with federal agents, reported finding 10 and 30 gallon stills on the farm yesterday. Roger Laynor of the Maryland comptroller's staff said seized items include fermenters, jars, a stove, cooling coils and some mash.

The enforcement unit was set up by the 1953 General Assembly to prevent illegal importation of liquor, particularly from Washington.

Second Woman Takes Maryland Senate Seat

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Sen. Margaret Crothers (D-Cecil) was seated today as the second female member of the Maryland State Senate.

Her first official act was the seconding of Sen. George W. Della (D-Balto 6th) after he was nominated by Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert (D-Howard) as president of the upper house.

The slim, dark-haired lady senator was appointed to serve the unexpired term of her husband, Omar D. Crothers Jr., who died last year.

"I'm scared stiff," she joked when asked how she felt upon assuming the duties of her new office.

Mrs. Crothers had moral support from Del. E. W. Risteau (D-Harford) who in 1934 became the first member of her sex to serve in the Maryland Senate.

Attorney Acquitted

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP)—Leroy Cooper, Negro attorney, today was acquitted of a charge that he induced a witness to commit perjury in a divorce case. The verdict was returned by Judge James K. Cullen in criminal court.

He was 71 and had worked for the hosiery firm 32 years when he retired in September 1952. He was a native of Ebenville, a nearby Pennsylvania.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Wool experts recommend that you use two or three times the amount of soap in washing wools than for other fibers. This is partly because wool is so absorbent, and partly because the suds help to "cushion" wool fibers which are sensitive to friction.

Auxiliary 52, ITU 244 will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Jane Fletcher, 833 Gephart Drive.

Circle 6, Centre Street Church will meet at 7:30 tonight in the church parlor.

H. R. Talley Is Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Anthony Russell and Mrs. Louis Dalessandro entertained with a surprise party for their father, Henry Raymond Talley, in celebration of his 72d birthday.

It was held Tuesday evening at his home on Fifth Street. A pink and yellow color scheme was carried out in the decorations of streamers, candles and the birthday cake.

Mr. Talley is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Talley, Cumberland. Born in Martinsburg, he has been a resident of Cumberland since childhood. July 7, 1903 he married the former Miss Barbara Green in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Mr. and Mrs. Talley are the parents of seven children. Besides Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Dalessandro, they are Joseph Talley, Charles Talley, James Talley, and the twins, George and Raymond of Baltimore and Frostburg. They have 21 grandchildren. Mr. Talley is a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church and is employed at St. Mary's Church.

Cards were played during the evening.

Besides the honor guest and Mrs. Talley and their daughters others present were Louis Dalessandro, Anthony Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Talley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Talley, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Russell, Miss Mary Green, James Talley, David Talley, Terry Talley, John Russell, Robert Russell, Miss Helen Russell and Miss Margaret Russell.

Historical Society Outlines Projects, Membership Drive

Plans for the first regular meeting of the Allegany County Historical Society March 11 were made by the officers and trustees of the society Tuesday evening at the Public Library. The general meeting will be at 8 at the library.

Miss Ruth Clauson, president, announced that the program will center around early industries of the county. Included will be an exhibit of early local products, to stimulate further research in local crafts. She urges all members to attend and bring prospective members.

Miss Clauson urges all members of the Historical Society to participate in a membership drive and send names and addresses of interested friends, together with membership dues, to Mrs. Gertrude Golden Smith, corresponding secretary, 211 Washington Street. Requests for membership also will be recorded at the Cumberland library, dues accepted, names and addresses recorded for mailing. Further registration dates at the library will be announced later with Historical Society representatives present. Anyone interested in the history of Allegany County is invited to join and participate in the society's activities.

The group plans to offer at least four regular meetings and hopes to present the same number of exhibits each year.

The society's first project, that of securing signers to accompany a request for a Fort Cumberland Bicentennial Memorial stamp, to be released January 26, 1955, is getting active support, it was announced. About 1,000 signatures have been secured. Miss Mary Walsh, who is heading the project, hopes for 10,000 signers. She urges all interested local people to secure from the library the prepared forms and help collect signatures to make the request for the Cumberland stamp worthy of consideration. Both school children and adults are being urged to sign.

Movie Censorship On Wane?

In six states and some fifty cities authorizing prior censorship of motion pictures, authorities are analyzing a decision of the United States Supreme Court in an attempt to formulate a valid model statute that will prevent public exhibition of obscene and immoral films.

Censors of Kansas, Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia met with New York state censors in a two-day conference on January 21 and 22. Their discussion centered on the Supreme Court decision of January 18 overthrowing a New York ban on the French film "La Ronde," on the ground that it was immoral, and an Ohio ban on the film "M," on the ground that it tended to incite to crime.

"We are agreed," the censors said in a prepared statement, "that the United States Supreme Court has upheld the constitutional rights of the states to exercise pre-regulation of motion pictures." The censors reasoned that inasmuch as only Justices Douglas and Black recommended complete freedom from censorship for "every writer, actor, producer, no matter what medium of expression he may use," the other seven justices apparently favored some form of precensorship.

Lloyd T. Binford, municipal censor in Memphis, Tenn., has said that his position is "undisturbed" by the Supreme Court ruling. "I'm merely complying with the Memphis law to ban immoral, lewd, and lascivious pictures," Binford told a correspondent for Variety, amusements industry publication, on January 26. "If the city commission wants to revise its ordinances that's all right with me." Censorship in Memphis has long been considered in motion picture circles as unduly strict.

The reaction to the Supreme Court decision in Columbus, Ohio, included a suggestion by Protestant officials of a strategy similar to that of the Catholic Church's Legion of Decency. President Dawson of the Columbus Council of Churches declared: "If the ramifications of the decision are what they seem to imply, it presents a grave problem which should be given serious consideration by interfaith groups with the viewpoint of acting to offset any ill-effects undesirable movies produce."

On the day after the Supreme Court decision was handed down, the official Vatican publication, L'Osservatore Romano, published a front-page editorial calling for state intervention in "this cynical and brutal white slave trade" of the Hollywood and Rome film studios. The paper commented: "Only recently we have had the open opposition of two actresses who, hurt in their human dignity, revolted against the moral prostitution to which the merchants of this new slavedom forced them, although with good pay."

This was an apparent reference, in part, to the complaints by actress Jane Russell against scenes she appeared in in the film "The French Line." On the same day that the Vatican editorial appeared, RKO, which produced "The French Line," informed the Legion of Decency and the Motion Picture Production Code Administration that it intended to continue showing the picture without revision. The film had been condemned by the Legion and refused approval by the Administration.

The Breen office, enforcement agency of the Motion Picture Association of America, has threatened RKO with a $25,000 fine for violation of the code. A similar fine was imposed on the studio for release of "The Outlaw," also starring Miss Russell, some years ago.

Coffee Investigation

Coffee interests maintain that soaring prices for the commodity are the result of short supply resulting from frost damage. But there are many charges that speculation, as well as economic and weather conditions in coffee-producing countries, has contributed to the situation.

Four years ago conditions were analogous to the present. Then the same explanations were offered by the coffee interests for rising prices and a Senate subcommittee started an inquiry. What the committee uncovered discredited the claim of shortage. It found that Brazilians and other South and Central Americans were betting heavily on the New York Coffee Exchange that coffee prices here would keep on going up.

According to the committee, one Brazilian firm had cleaned up $3,000,000 in speculative trading within nine months. That profit had come from buying future contracts—that is, buying coffee for future delivery ahead of United States price increases. Manipulation of the market was, of course, necessary.

The committee suggested extending technical aid to "other friendly nations" seeking to increase coffee output. Fourteen Latin American countries protested to the State Department. They said the committee report violated the "Good Neighbor" policy and could lead to economic warfare. So nothing was done, but coffee prices declined somewhat.

A few years ago the Brazilian government burned thousands of tons of coffee to keep the price up, at a time of overproduction, and it would not be surprising if it was revealed that American coffee consumers are being taken for a ride with official connivance of some South American governments.

Ambition Unsated

To scale the utmost heights is the perennial aspiration of man. One who has attained that ambition literally is Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest, newly arrived in the United States for a lecture tour.

What sort of man surmounts all obstacles to reach so dangerous a goal? One finds the answer in the engaging personality of this Auckland beekeeper, once an air force flier. He had the urge to match his strength and stamina in direct struggle with the world's highest mountain. Still not content, he wants to tackle the unconquered sister peaks of the Himalayas.

Sir Edmund—he was knighted by the Queen to whom his feat was a coronation gift—hopes to meet American explorers to compare notes. Asked if he would mount to the top of the world's highest building, he smilingly said he would if "the lifts were running." They were and he did.

The quality of this modest man is evidenced by the quick instinct to share full credit with the native guide with whom he embraced when they reached the summit together last May 29, and his acknowledgement of the importance to his success of the "team work" in the entire expedition.

Types Of Dizziness

Dizziness comes in many varieties, ranging from a sensation of walking on straw to floating aimlessly through the air. Furthermore, it may be of the true or false type, depending upon the source of trouble.

True vertigo is a sensation of spinning or turning and frequently is associated with an ear disturbance. When the eyes are closed the individual feels as tho he were moving and the room is standing still but when the eyes are open, the room seems to move and he stands still. The balancing mechanism is at fault, which not only involves the labyrinth of the ear but also the eyes, brain, and connecting nerve pathways. Stimulation of any of these structures through disease or toxic substances may produce the symptom. Any one who has had too much to drink has experienced this feeling. It is easily duplicated by turning around in the middle of the room with the eyes closed or by rolling downhill in a barrell. The stimulation also may involve the emetic, or vomiting center of the brain which is nearby; as a result, victims often develop nausea and vomiting also.

Years ago a French physician, Dr. Prosper Meniere, described a syndrome in which dizziness was associated with ear ringing and deafness. In this condition, the labyrinth or inner ear is swollen because of inflammation or an allergic disorder. Changes in the ear are so slight the exact cause is difficult to determine. Nevertheless, the disorder is most uncomfortable, especially when vertigo is severe. Some suffers are troubled for only a day or two; others are bothered periodically; and a few have Meniere's syndrome for months or years. Dramamine, histamine, nicotinic acid, belladonna, and sedatives are the remedies most frequently used.

The other type of dizziness generally is described as lightheadedness or a sense of sinking or faintness. As a rule, it results from lack of oxygen to the brain and the sensation may end in a fainting spell. Irregularities of the pulse may play a role; for example, when the heart slows or stops beating momentarily, the individual becomes dizzy and loses consciousness. Low blood pressure, especially on rising, also is a common variation of dizziness especially in older men and women with poor circulation and those who have been ill or confined to bed for a long time. Here the blood vessels have lost their tone and are unable to deliver blood to the brain when the person assumes the upright position. This form of dizziness also accompanies ordinary fainting of psychological origin.

GOITER RECURRENCE

B. R. writes: Is it possible for a goiter to return and the eyes start bulging, four years after the gland has been operated upon?

REPLY

Symptoms may recur because in the operation, the gland is not removed completely. There always is a possibility that the remaining tissue will start growing again.

REST AND MORE REST

J. R. writes: What was Weir-Mitchell's treatment of anxiety?

REPLY

Rest in bed for several weeks.

PILLS ARE USELESS

V. H. writes: Is insulin in tablet form as beneficial as that taken by injection?

REPLY

No, because insulin by mouth is not absorbed; the stomach secretions destroy it. When the substance is injected hypodermically every bit is absorbed and there is no doubt as to the amount used by the system.

NAVEL RUPTURE

Mrs. C. writes: I have heard that a small rupture at the navel can be cured locally. Does this mean at the doctor's office?

REPLY

No—at the navel. "Local" in this sense usually refers to the type of anesthesia rather than where the operation is done.

DIAGNOSTIC AIDS

S. W. writes: Can a doctor tell if you have coronary thrombosis by taking your pulse and blood pressure and listening to your heart?

REPLY

These examinations lend presumptive evidence but from the diagnostic point of view they are not as valuable as the nature of complaints and the electrocardiogram readings.

PULSE PAIN

C. M. G. writes: What causes a severe pain in the pulse?

REPLY

Which one? Every artery expands with the beat of the heart to produce a pulse. I assume, however, you refer to pain in the wrist, which may be associated with sprain, rheumatism, or bursitis.

HEART DISORDER

A. F. writes: What is a coronary insult?

REPLY

Some physicians use this expression to denote coronary thrombosis [obstruction of the coronary artery].

Brazilian Farmers Don't Profit By Coffee Climb; "A"-Battery Discovery Dazzles Scientific World; Regarded As One Of Greatest Scientific Milestones

WASHINGTON — An important thing to remember about the dizzy climb in coffee prices is that the profits from the price climb are not going to farmers in Brazil, most of whom have been seriously hurt by the frost that ravaged their crop and induced the coffee shortage.

Nor is the price increase due to any market manipulation by the Brazilian government, as its minister of foreign relations, Vicente Rao, made unmistakably clear in a recent letter to the Washington Post.

As usual, the profits are being soaked up chiefly by distributors, roasters, and speculating middlemen, who deal in coffee futures. Another important thing to remember, before we start pointing an accusing finger at Brazil, is that by far the greater portion of our huge spending for coffee stays right in the United States.

A Senate agriculture subcommittee, headed by Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, heard some impressive testimony on this subject four years ago that might well apply to the situation today. Andres Uribe, acting chairman of the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, testified that the United States annually spends more than $2,000,000,000 in coffee trade.

Of this amount, 62 per cent remains in the United States and is shared by brokers (speculators), importers, roasters, retailers, stevedores, salesmen, etc. The remaining 38 per cent goes to the producing countries, including Brazil.

The year before, late in 1949, middlemen speculators had made a killing when coffee prices skyrocketed. Uribe disclosed that Brazilian producers, the great majority of whom are small farmers, didn't benefit from the market upturn, having already disposed of their coffee crop in July 1949.

"And the farmer gets paid for it then — in July?" inquired Sen. George Aiken of Vermont.

"Yes, they get paid when they give the coffee to the second handler," replied Uribe.

"Then the coffee was out of the farmer's hands before the rise in price started in November?" asked Aiken.

Uribe replied that practically all Brazilian farmers had sold their coffee by that time and "naturally did not get any of the rise." The same is true today.

New "A"-Battery

Atomic scientists are more excited about the new "atomic battery" than anything that's happened since Hiroshima. In contrast to that first explosion, which made many scientists dread for the future, the new A-battery has given them fresh hope that mankind will eventually reap the untapped benefits of atomic power.

Here is what one scientist said: "With this discovery it now seems certain we'll be able to develop atom-powered automobiles and airplanes. It's probably much cheaper and more efficient. This is what we've been looking for. . . Don't be surprised if it takes us — literally and figuratively — to the moon.

"The discovery is really too physically small to talk about but the idea behind it is almost too big to think about. This is one of the few new developments that will identify our ertury to future historians and even school children. Hundreds of years from now children will learn about the development of peaceful atomic power in 1954.

"This is absolutely certain — unless, through an atomic war, there are no children."

RCA, developer of the new direct-conversation system, kept its progress highly secret and only a handful of the nation's scientists knew about it. Most were as startled as the public when RCA Chairman David Sarnoff made the announcement that electricity could be produced directly from radioactive material without using any moving parts.

Until this announcement, scientists have produced atom-powered electricity only through a complex system involving an atomic pile, steam, turbines, and dynamos.

Though still in its infancy, this revolutionary discovery is regarded as one of the greatest milestones in scientific history.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Too Many People

The rapid growth of population throughout the world undoubtedly has a pressing effect upon political problems. It is estimated by the Population Reference Bureau, Inc. that 1953 witnessed the increased population of the world by about 25,000,000. Such statistics can never be altogether accurate because some countries do not keep their population figures in good shape, but the estimates can be made from the facts that are known to be accurate.

It is estimated that in 1650, the population of the world was about 500,000,000; an estimate for 1953 would be 2,500,000,000. The greatest increase has been during the past 100 years, since about 1850. A conservative estimate, including all possible errors, would indicate that the population of the earth has increased fourfold in 300 years.

This means that the birth-rate is more rapid than the death-rate despite wars, accidents, birth-control and other life reducers. It means at one end, more children, at the other end more old people than earlier societies were accustomed to and therefore it means alterations in social institutions because the middle age groups carry heavier loads of dependents. In countries in which the mortality rate is high, the population is younger than it is in a country such as ours where a large part of the population lives beyond physical and mental capability and grows increasingly dependent.

This same report shows the vast variations in density of population, which means that some countries, such as Italy and Japan, are literally splitting at the seams. The effect of that, for instance, is evident in the mass migrations from Puerto Rico, where the density is 652 per square mile while the world average is 47 per square mile. Canada, for example, has a population density of four per square mile. Inevitably, those who are crowded will seek to move to areas where they can have elbow room, as it were. In some countries, over-population means increasing poverty, perhaps to the point of starvation, as in India.

The distribution of food has always been unsatisfactory and a cause not only for mass migrations but for wars. The United States is hoarding butter, cheese, eggs, wheat and other essential foods at a time when many countries lack foods. No device has been found in recorded history for moving food effectively from one area to another except by ordinary methods of commerce. The current effort in Great Britain to revive the egg as a food may appear humorous to Americans who have eggs in excessive plentitude, but it is a serious matter to the British.

Those governments which are faced by excess population in the past have been able to move them, as individuals or families, by emigration. The United States, for instance, was peopled by immigration. So were Australia and New Zealand. Canada has kept her immigration down in a struggle between Protestants and Catholics for prevalence.

Emigration has become increasingly difficult not so much because of lack of room for the migrants but because many nations have set up a resistance to the dilution of their cultures by constant absorption of aliens of vastly diverse cultures. In the United States, for example, the McCarran Immigration Law reflects public opinion that immigration should be limited, although this general view is opposed by particular groups who favor more liberal policies toward migrants, particularly such as have been made homeless by current political changes.

The United Nations is to hold a world conference on population in Rome in September at which this question of population will be discussed from every standpoint. It is possible that out of such a universal discussion may come more accurate data than are now available, resulting in a better understanding of what might be done with the vast, open spaces, particularly the desert lands that can hold huge populations after adequate and costly engineering.

The Russians are doing some work to reclaim the Kara Kum Desert in the Caspian region, but scant information is available about it. I saw an estimate somewhere that this region, if irrigated, could hold 50,000,000 people. Little is being done with the Sahara, although it is one of the richest mineral areas on earth and could be turned into good farm land as has been done to the deserts of California.

This is a major human problem, because landless and hungry people are always a menace to peace.

WASHINGTON

This is one of those queer moments when the real news and the news on the front pages tend to diverge. Congress is wrestling with the Bricker amendment. The White House is pressing a massive legislative program. In Berlin, Molotov is talking sweet. So we are told every morning.

What we are not told, is that another major Asian crisis is quite probably on the way. So far as America is concerned, this large, unattractive, uncomfortable fact seems to be regarded as one of the secrets of the National Security Council, where the new Asian crisis is being anxiously and continuously discussed.

The measure of the gravity of the crisis is given by the character of the proposals that are now before the NSC. Reportedly, the decision has already been taken to aid the French in Indo-China, where the crisis centers, by sending them 400 mechanics and maintenance experts from the American Air Force units in the Far East. The number is not large. But surely there is great significance in this decision to send American troops to Indo-China, not for training purposes, but to assist directly in the struggle there.

Nor is this all. One of the official projects now before the National Security Council calls for giving the French in Indo-China all-out American air and naval support. In the same context, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Arthur Radford, is authoritatively understood to have revived his old plan of a naval blockade of the China coast. There is no prospect, at present, that such drastic steps will actually be taken. The signs are all the other way. But the mere fact that such steps should be discussed at all speaks several volumes.

Creates Difficult Problem

There is a reason why the new Asian crisis is causing such concern in the inner circles of the administration, yet attracting so little attention from the rest of the world. In effect, the immediate danger is not in Indo-China, but in Paris. The French mood is such that the French government will abandon the Indo-Chinese struggle if their forces in Indo-China merely suffer a serious reverse. Of this the American government has been plainly warned, officially and unofficially.

This means, in turn, that nothing very grandiose has to happen in Indo-China, in order to open the gateway of South Asia to the onward march of Communist imperialism. The French and Viet Namese forces do not have to be decisively and finally defeated, in order to produce an acutely hazardous situation. They need only suffer the kind of setbacks that will finally sap the much weakened will of France to carry on the war. Maybe not a straw, but hardly more than a twig can break the camel's back.

The problem this creates for Gen. Navarre and Gen. Cogny is obviously very difficult. Generals cannot guarantee not to suffer fairly serious local setbacks, even when their forces are much stronger than the enemy forces. But the margin of strength possessed by Gen. Cogny and Gen. Navarre is very small, and growing less into the bargain.

For the time being, to be sure, the outlook has been improved at Dien Bien Phu, the important French fortified post where the situation was causing intense alarm only a week ago. But this improvement has taken place because a division of the Communist forces that encircled Dien Bien Phu has been directed for another purpose. A major Communist movement has now been noted towards Luang Prabang and perhaps Vientiane, the two strong points in the Laos country that the Viet Minh attacked last year.

Voluntary Defections

Large numbers of Gen. Navarre's best troops are already committed at Dien Bien Phu. Whether he will have the effectives available to resist a major Communist drive into the Laos country, is an open question. In addition, the Viet Minh high command has launched an attack, not major in itself but embarrassing, in central Indo-China. And now there has come bad news of large scale defections by Viet Namese army units in the supposedly pacified territory near the southern capitol, Saigon.

These Viet Namese army defections to the Communists seem to have been wholly voluntary, without any serious preliminary fighting. They come after the "affair of Bui Chu" last September, when raw Viet Namese units surrendered en masse when attacked by smaller Communist forces.

Psychologically, the Viet Namese defections are a real calamity; for the improvement of the Viet Namese anti-Communist army has been the main basis for all recent French hopes and plans. This disheartening development on our side is balanced, moreover, by indications that China is massively increasing the supply flow to the Viet Minh Communists. This means that Gen. Navarre and Gen. Cogny must expect a constant growth of enemy power.

Altogether, Gen. Navarre will need something very like genius to avoid the kind of setback that can do irreparable damage in Paris. Perhaps the great policy problem will be crystallized in Saigon, where French Defense Minister Rene Pleven and our army's Indo-China expert, Gen. O'Daniel, are both going to confer with the French High Command. Perhaps Molotov, in Berlin, will offer the French peace in Indo-China in exchange for abandoning their American allies in Europe.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—They are impersonal and non-partisan in the United States Senate when it comes to fighting communism inside or outside this country. By a vote of 85 to 1, the Senate approved the expenditure of $216,000 for the use of the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations.

This is the committee of which Senator McCarthy, Republican, of Wisconsin is chairman. For several weeks now there have been press dispatches saying that the Wisconsin senator would have trouble getting a continuing appropriation for his committee and that he was about to be punished for sundry aberrations in the field of his inquiries. But, as has happened time and again for the last 20 years, when there is a roll-call vote in either house of Congress, the tally is overwhelmingly in favor of carrying on the investigations by congressional committees on the subject of communism or corruption or irregularities in government administration.

Congress Is Watchdog

The anti-Communist issue is one that has aroused deep feelings, but the "grass roots" sentiment is that, where there's fire there is smoke and that it is up to the Congress as a watchdog to keep an eye on what is being done by the executive branch of the government to ferret out subversives and to protect the security of the United States.

Many people who never have understood their own Constitution, with its separation of powers and with its checks and balances, have assumed that the legislative branch of the government is subordinate to instead of coordinate with the executive branch. For years there has been a campaign belittling or ridiculing members of Congress and the institution itself. There are citizens who have grown up in recent years believing that a congressional committee hasn't any right to make an inquiry except when it has a specific legislative aim. They overlook the fact that Congress can investigate for the purpose of writing new laws or amending the constitution or to repeal any laws or provisions of the Constitution. The citizen is not obligated always to answer the questions of Congress, but the committees have a virtually unlimited right to ask the questions.

The Senate Committee on Governmental Operations has a broad scope. It goes into questions of improper influences insides the government, misuse of authority, corruption and irregularities of all kinds. By centering in one committee in the House and one in the Senate the supervision of government personnel operations, an extensive work of checking the executive departments and agencies is conducted.

Some citizens, of course, have an exaggerated idea of the anti-Communist issue. The other day a group in Norwalk, Conn., decided to send in names to the Federal Bureau of Investigation based on their own impressions of the loyalty of individuals. This has been rightly condemned as a dangerous practice. The self-appointed group of vigilantes can do harm to a good cause—the furnishing of information to the government. During World War I there were units in various cities which sent to the Department of Justice lists of those with German names because they suspected possible connection with the German cause in the war. This led to an abuse which was far worse than anything that has happened since. The memory of these injustices burns vividly in the minds of many loyal citizens who were subjected to embarrassment in those days by self-appointed investigators.

Should Be Concrete

A citizen, acting as an individual, has a right to send information to his government, but the information ought to relate solely to something concrete of which he has personal knowledge as to law violation. It is valueless if it is only hearsay, or if it is rumor, or if it merely concerns another person's views.

The question is asked: "Can't the FBI be depended upon to do it all?" Not long ago, J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, appealed for help from former Communists and others in touch with Communist activities so that the government might be better informed. But he has said there is need also for the work of congressional committees. By the power of subpoena, Congress can bring to light many things that the FBI cannot touch unless there is concrete proof of law violation.

So far as employment in the government is concerned, it is not necessary for a case to be provable in a court of law. It is only necessary to establish a reasonable doubt as to the integrity of an individual employe. Sometimes congressional committees disclose practices that have covered up actual and potential security risks. For today, if a government employe refuses to answer a question from a congressional committee on the ground that it may incriminate him, this is automatically grounds for dismissal from the government service without further proceedings.

Two Habituals Are Sentenced

Two local men tried on habitual drunkard charges were found guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court and given six-month suspended sentences in the House of Correction.

They were Luther Huff and Eugene Oldaker. The charges were preferred by the state's attorney on information furnished by the City Police Department.

Both men were arrested December 30. Assistant State's Attorney James Getty presented information that showed Huff was arrested ten times in the past year.

Huff pleaded not guilty, saying he was asleep in the local bus terminal when picked up by Officer Harry Iser.

In June he was given a suspended sentence when tried in Trial Magistrates Court on a drunk charge and paroled on condition he remain out of Cumberland.

Judge Morgan C. Harris, in suspending the sentence suggested that Huff contact Aloholics Anonymous.

Oldaker, Getty stated, was arrested 13 times in the past year. On August 13, he was given a 30-day jail term when he was found guilty of petty larceny. Oldaker was paroled for two years on the condition he abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Judge Harris gave Oldaker similar advice on future use of beer, wine and whisky.

Damage Suits Total $15,000

Suits totaling $15,000 were docketed in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday by a couple injured in an auto accident on Greene Street October 21.

Iden, through his attorney, Donald W. Mason, is seeking $10,000 for himself and for the expenses entailed for medical care for his wife.

He stated that he was driving east on Greene Street on October 21 when the auto operated by Lease went out of control and crashed into his, Iden's, car.

Mrs. Iden suffered two fractures of her skull, internal injuries and various lacerations and abrasions, the suit declares.

Iden claimed he suffered a fractured chest bone, three broken ribs and a deep laceration of his lip.

Volunteers Are Being Sought For CD Program In County

Allegany County's civil defense director feels that to maintain a sufficient CD force he should have a total of 6,560 volunteers.

So far, according to the director, William G. Barger, 2,440 have taken the loyalty oath.

This information is obtained in a "Report on the Status of Local Civil Defense" compiled by the Maryland Civil Defense Agency. The roundup was the result of a request made by the American Legion. It presents, generally, conditions existing during 1953.

Continuing the survey of Allegany County's program, the report notes that five ground observer posts have been established and operate generally on a 24 hour basis. This makes the county almost 100 per cent operational for the GOC.

The Civil Defense Welfare Service has been set up around the county welfare organization.

Barger feels that in event of an attack on the Baltimore-Washington area or Pittsburgh, Allegany County can handle 15,000 evacuees.

The county has 64 civil defense officers but Barger feels 500 more can be used.

The police service boasts 50 paid policement plus 103 CD auxiliary members who are being trained by the regular police force. The fire service is well organized around the paid company in Cumberland and the volunteer companies throughout the county. No survey has been made for engineering equipment but such is contemplated and is expected to be well on its way to completion soon.

Plans have been made for a control center, attack warning system has been set up and tested and transportation is becoming well organized since the state agency designated which highways may be civil defense routes.

The county has two of the 12 fully operational casualty clearing stations in the state. In all it has six stations, with four on a limited operation basis. A total of 292 have been assigned to these stations including 11 doctors, 75 nurses, 73 nurses' assistants and 134 others.

Calhoun Faces Four Charges In Accident

A 17-year-old local youth held under $2,500 bond for armed robbery faced four state motor charges this morning in Trial Magistrates Court.

Charles Russell Calhoun, 100-block Paca Street, was charged with driving without a license, failing to stop after a property damage accident, displaying tags issued to another machine and reckless driving. He pleaded guilty.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason withheld sentence pending the outcome of grand jury action during the April term of Circuit Court on the robbery count involving a 15-year-old boy, John Vincent Green, of Henry Street. Green also is being detained under $2,500 bond in the county lockup.

At today's hearing, Calhoun indicated he would seek an early trial in connection with the theft of $30 from Herman Arthur Shook, 51, Town Creek Road, on January 17.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, said Calhoun went to the home of Eston Lambert, 232 Paca Street, on January 17 and asked for keys to the latter's car to "warm up the motor."

Calhoun admitted he took the auto without permission because he "wanted to run around a little bit." Later he collided with the car of a Keyser resident at Henderson Avenue and Davidson Street, and abandoned the vehicle on Bedford Street.

Then, according to Calhoun's statement, he returned to the Lambert home and advised the owner to report the car had been stolen. Lambert told authorities another story and the arrest followed.

Magistrate Mason reported State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher advised him he would accept an early trial request from Calhoun on the robbery charge.

The schedule for other communities is as follows: Westernport, today at the post office; Frostburg City Hall February 4-5; Luke Devon Club February 8, 9, 10, 11; Grantsville American Legion Home February 12; Oakland Post Office, February 15-16; Crellen February 17 at the office of the Stanley Coal Company; and Lonaconing Post Office February 18.

Stakem said "quite a crowd" continued to seek assistance at the office here and estimated that 300 were aided Tuesday. Four members of the staff are helping taxpayers with forms, he added.

A Company Reports to The Community

Each year West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company issues an Annual Report to its stockholders. One of the purposes of the Report is to acquaint these owners of the Company, who now number around 6,500, with the general progress of the business and to give them details of the Company's financial position.

There are many other persons, in addition to the stockholders, who have an interest in how the Company is faring. To these people, too, the Company sends copies of its Report to stockholders.

The 1953 Report, which covers the fiscal period from November 1, 1952, to October 31, 1953, is now being distributed to each of the Company's employees, to leaders in the plant communities, to customers, suppliers, financial analysts, and to others who have expressed an interest in the Company.

Those who read the 1953 Report will find that the Company enjoyed a productive and fruitful year. The volume of sales and production reached the highest levels in the Company's history and earnings approximated our best previous performances.

The success of the Company in 1953 was shared, of course, by the communities in which we operate.

The mill at Luke, for instance, provided an average of 1,675 good-paying jobs during the year. The payroll for these employees, including such benefits as a pension plan and group insurance, ran to a total of $6,281,000.

During the year the Luke mill also spent a total of $1,860,000 for pulpwood, purchased largely from farmers and small woodlot owners in the mill area. An additional $6,605,000 was spent by the mill for other paper-making materials, supplies and services, provided mostly by local and state individuals and firms.

Welfare Report Cites Increase In Payments

The report of the State Department of Public Welfare on relief payments in Allegany County during December shows the usual seasonal increases in the case load, according to Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, director of the county unit.

She said some clients received help from relatives in previous months but the aid from relatives was cut. This added to the increased payments in some cases.

There was a larger number of requests from employables than usual, Mrs. Westerfeld said, but Allegany County is not participating in this phase of public relief. Several years ago the county commissioners provided $60,000 for temporary assistance to employables who were made jobless due mainly to a heavy curtailment of work in the textile industry.

Old age assistance was provided for 656 individuals at a cost of $26,060.49 with the average grant $39.73. There were 16 applicants for aid in this category with 11 cases added to the rolls and 10 others cancelled.

Next most expensive category was aid to dependent children which cost $23,965.30 for the 757 children of 275 families who were assisted. The average grant per family was $87.15 with 25 applicants being aided. There were 18 cases added to the rolls and eight cancelled.

The 23 needy blind who were assisted received an average of $40.80 at a total cost of $938.35. One person was added to the rolls.

Wool experts recommend that you use two or three times the amount of soap in washing wools than for other fibers. This is partly because wool is so absorbent, and partly because the suds help to "cushion" wool fibers which are sensitive to friction.

Old Germans Host Fort Meade Quint Sunday

RIDGELEY'S SHOOTING STAR — One of the standout basketball players of the current season in the Tri-State area is Ridgeley High School's Frederick (Fritz) Showers, pictured above. When he scored seven field goals and 20 points against Allegany Tuesday night he increased his season total to 297 for 15 games, giving him second place in the area scoring race. His average is a nice 19.8. He leads the Mineral County League with 136 points in six games and is runner-up in the PVC with 174 in eight games. "Fritz" has racked up 20 or more points in nine contests and his season high is 28. In two games he scored 52 points against Piedmont, 40 against Beall and 29 against Allegany and in one he connected for 24 against Keyser. Showers is also one of the ace foul shooters in the area, owning a 74.4 average on 125 conversions in 168 tries.

Local Cagers To Be Aided By Don Moran

Former Westernport Star To Play Here Against Generals

Cumberland's Old Germans, returning to the basketball wars following a week layoff will meet the Fort Meade Generals Sunday night at SS. Peter and Paul at 9 o'clock.

Player-coach Bob Pence said he had been informed by Don Moran, former Westernport star and scoring ace for the Hagerstown Cabineers, that the University of Maryland student would play Sunday with the Old Germans against tne Generals.

Pence said the addition of Moran to the roster of the Cumberlanders would "greatly strengthen us" because of his fine rebound ability and play-making as well as high-scoring consistency.

Moran Starred Here

Moran will be remembered by Cumberland fans for the show he put on against the local pro cagers two weeks ago as a member of the Hagerstown quintet when Cumberland dropped a doubleheader to the Washington Countians, 91-86 in overtime at Hagerstown, and 81-64 here. Moran scored 17 points in the first tilt and 20 in the game here.

Moran has been sought all season by Cumberland because of the proximity of his home in Westernport and because the local team is greatly in need of tall players who work well under the hoops. When Cumberland lost to Hagerstown two weeks ago both the Old Germans tall players, John Fox and Roy Lester, were missing from the lineup.

Pence says Fox expects to play in the Sunday game against the Generals.

Fort Meade is compiling an impressive win record in its regular 56-game schedule this season, and sports such players as John Scallion, former Marcellus Central High three-sports star in New York; Patrick King, veteran of the Generals who attended Westminster College; Robert Mahala, Wagner College cager; Fred Iehle, scoring champion of Philadelphia in his high school days; Jerry Ryan, St. Mary's College; Robert Leaman, of Hyattsville; Anthony Ruggiero, New York cager; Herman Pittman, Florida A&M.

Lookabaugh On Team

Leo Corkery, St. Bonaventure College player; Vernon Barkstall, veteran from last year's Fort Meade team who attended West Virginia State; Herman Cohen, CCNY cager; Charles Schmidt, University of Illinois; John Harvey, under contract to the Baltimore Orioles; and Bob Lookabaugh, former Allegany High star here in Cumberland.

Only Pittman, Barkstall and Ruggiero stand under six feet in height for the Generals.

Pence said the Old Germans also plan several other attractions in the future, carding such teams as the Broadway Clowns, who split with the locals last year and feature King Tut, prince of clowns.

Pence Leads Scorers

Negotiations are underway to bring a Harrisonburg, Va., independent quint here, Pence noted, adding that Scotty Hamilton, former West Virginia All-American and Skippy Hill, Davis and Elkins great, play for the Harrisonburg five.

Meanwhile at the end of 10 games, of which the Cumberlanders have won six, Pence is the leading scorer on the team with 184 points for an 18.4 average per tilt. Leading scorers:

Woodmen Lose Two

Woodmen of the World shufflers dropped a 2-1 decision to Purple Heart last night in a postponed match in the Men's Allegany County Shuffleboard League. Joe Burkey was high for Purple Heart with 23 points and R. McCleaf had 21 for WOW.

"BONUS" pick at the annual draft meeting of the National Pro football loop, Bobby Garrett, the 1953 Stanford quarterback, went to the Cleveland Browns who had sought him prior to the draw. Garrett, who led the college forward passers last season, made several All-American teams including the 1953 Central Press' Captains' team. (International)

Pimlico Fund Ruled Income

Lower Court Verdict Reversed In Opinion

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—A fund Pimlico Race Track set aside for track improvements from its receipts was ruled as taxable income here today by a federal appellate court.

The opinion, written by Judge Armistead M. Dobie of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the 4th district, held the $75,608.66 Pimlico deducted from its gross receipts was "clearly taxable income."

The decision reversed an earlier lower court opinion in favor of the Baltimore race track officials. The case was remanded to the Baltimore district court by the three-judge court here with instructions to enter a judgment in favor of the United States.

The Maryland Jockey Club paid $28,731.29 in taxes for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1948, on the deducted sum but later sued to recover the income taxes.

CYO Teams Will Play Three Games Tonight

St. Peter's of Westernport will play St. Patrick's of Cumberland at 7 o'clock and St. Michael's of Frostburg will do battle with St. Patrick's of Mt. Savage at 8 o'clock in a CYO Basketball League doubleheader tonight on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Frank Selvy Is Impressed With Bevo's Scoring Mark

Furman Ace Hopes To Add To Laurels

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—"Good gosh, it's almost unbelievable—113 points. I could never make that many a game."

It was the all-time scoring champion of major college basketball, Frank Selvy of Furman, talking. He was talking about the small college court wizard, Bevo Francis.

Francis rang in 38 field goals and 37 free throws as Rio Grande swamped Hillsadle last night 134-91.

Saw Francis Once

"I've seen Bevo only once—that was a few years ago when he played in an all-star game at Murray, Ky.," Selvy added today. "He scored only 13 points that night but he must be some shot today."

Selvy is in town to improve upon his own three-year career record. Just this week he ran his total to 1904 points to beat the three-year career mark of 1888 set by Kansas' Clyde Lovellette in 1952.

His Furman team plays Manhattan at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in the second half of a doubleheader featuring Seton Hall and St. Bonaventure in the first game.

If the six-foot-three jump shot specialist from Corbin, Ky., can average 21 points in Furman's remaining games he can crack in a year's less time the four-year career record set by Jim Lacy of Baltimore's Loyola with 2,154 points in 1949. Selvy is now averaging 38.3 a game.

"Selvy might match Francis if we threw defense to the winds and concentrated on letting him score," said Furman's diminutive coach, Lyles Alley. "But we give Frank no preferential treatment. Our prime purpose is to win basketball games.

Opposition Is Weak

"It's obvious that Rio Grande's opposition last night was weak and there was no pretense at defensive ball. They just let 'em run. Several times this year we've had to tighten up to hold the other team. This has cut down on Selvy's scoring."

Selvy's single game high was 63 against Mercer last year.

Alley, who is just five-feet-six and weighs 130 pounds, said he has seen better shots than Selvy but no one with a better capacity for absorbing instruction and with more determination.

A modest, hard-working 21-year-old, Selvy is interested in playing pro basketball after his graduation next June, but he's not counting on it.

Deer Hunters Are Fined $650

Three Men Charged With Spotlighting

HANCOCK, Md., Feb. 3 (AP) — Magistrate Edward P. Fost imposed $650 in fines today on three Clear Spring, Md., men charged with illegal hunting in the area north of Clear Spring along the Pennsylvania state line.

They were accused of hunting deer out of season with a spotlight.

George E. Leasure and Charles W. Repp, both 27, were fined $150 apiece. Robert H. Yeakle, who faced an additional charge of killing a deer out of season, was fined $350. Shotguns belonging to the three men also were confiscated.

Game Warden Stanley Alexander said they were arrested Monday night in cooperation with Pennsylvania game wardens after complaints that hunters were operating illegally in the area and dodging back and forth across the state line to avoid arrest.

Magistrate Fost issued a warning that he would show no mercy to violators brought before him for illegal hunting.

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 3 (AP) — Alex Agase, former Illinois All-America lineman, today was appointed assistant football coach at Iowa State.

Agase, 33, played seven years of professional football, three with the Cleveland Browns and the remainder with the Los Angeles Rams and the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League.

Game Transferred

The 11 a. m. Sunday School Basketball League game between St. Mathews and Wiley Ford, originally scheduled Saturday at Allegany High School gym has been transferred to Central YMCA court beginning at the same time.

Navy Wallops Pitt Cagers, 108 To 73

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Navy roared back from its Saturday defeat by Duke to roll up a 108-73 victory over Pitt here today. The Middies jumped off to a 27-13 lead in the first period and Pitt never closed the gap.

John Clune scored 33 points to lead the Middies, while his teammate, Don Lange had 29. Clarence Burch had 25 points for the losers.

Roberts Won't Work So Often Manager Says

Definite Rotation Planned By O'Neill

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP) — Robin Roberts, strong right hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, isn't going to work every third day in 1954.

Manager Steve O'Neill disclosed he has decided upon a definite pitching rotation, barring injuries and emergencies.

"Roberts pitches better with three full days of rest," O'Neill said.

Last year, Roberts pitched a league-leading 347 innings. Some critics said the great young ace was overworked and lost his effectiveness after midseason. Roberts denied this. He claimed he'd rather work every third day and that his effectiveness wasn't any more or less.

The record shows that Roberts won 23 and lost 16 in 1953. On July 8, day of the All-Star game, he had a 13-6 mark, which means he won 10 and lost 10 from there to the end of the season, a poor performance for the pitcher generally considered the best in the business. In fact, he lost 7 of his last 9 games.

O'Neill said that he thought Curt Simmons, southpaw; Bob Miller, right hander, and Steve Ridzik, 9-game winner last year, can use the full three day rest between assignments.

The manager said he hadn't decided on any schedule for 37-year-old Murry Dickson.

O'Neill is very high on Thornton Kipper, the young right hander who split six decisions in 1953. He has been the leading pitcher in the Carribbean League this winter.

Two Habituals Are Sentenced

Two local men tried on habitual drunkard charges were found guilty in Allegany County Circuit Court and given six-month suspended sentences in the House of Correction.

They were Luther Huff and Eugene Oldaker. The charges were preferred by the state's attorney on information furnished by the City Police Department.

Both men were arrested December 30. Assistant State's Attorney James Getty presented information that showed Huff was arrested ten times in the past year.

Huff pleaded not guilty, saying he was asleep in the local bus terminal when picked up by Officer Harry Iser.

In June he was given a suspended sentence when tried in Trial Magistrates Court on a drunk charge and paroled on condition he remain out of Cumberland.

Judge Morgan C. Harris, in suspending the sentence suggested that Huff contact Aloholics Anonymous.

Oldaker, Getty stated, was arrested 13 times in the past year. On August 13, he was given a 30-day jail term when he was found guilty of petty larceny. Oldaker was paroled for two years on the condition he abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages.

Judge Harris gave Oldaker similar advice on future use of beer, wine and whisky.

Volunteers Are Being Sought For CD Program In County

Allegany County's civil defense director feels that to maintain a sufficient CD force he should have a total of 6,560 volunteers.

So far, according to the director, William G. Barger, 2,440 have taken the loyalty oath.

This information is obtained in a "Report on the Status of Local Civil Defense" compiled by the Maryland Civil Defense Agency. The roundup was the result of a request made by the American Legion. It presents, generally, conditions existing during 1953.

Continuing the survey of Allegany County's program, the report notes that five ground observer posts have been established and operate generally on a 24 hour basis. This makes the county almost 100 per cent operational for the GOC.

The Civil Defense Welfare Service has been set up around the county welfare organization.

Barger feels that in event of an attack on the Baltimore-Washington area or Pittsburgh, Allegany County can handle 15,000 evacuees.

The county has 64 civil defense officers but Barger feels 500 more can be used.

The police service boasts 50 paid policement plus 103 CD auxiliary members who are being trained by the regular police force. The fire service is well organized around the paid company in Cumberland and the volunteer companies throughout the county. No survey has been made for engineering equipment but such is contemplated and is expected to be well on its way to completion soon.

Plans have been made for a control center, attack warning system has been set up and tested and transportation is becoming well organized since the state agency designated which highways may be civil defense routes.

The county has two of the 12 fully operational casualty clearing stations in the state. In all it has six stations, with four on a limited operation basis. A total of 292 have been assigned to these stations including 11 doctors, 75 nurses, 72 nurses' assistants and 134 others.

Hartman Retains Foul Shooting Lead In League

A-B Ace Also Raises Scoring Percentage

The smooth-working forward has meshed 129 fouls in 153 chances in 18 games. Nearest man to the Alderson-Broaddus star is Clair Muscaro of West Virginia Tech with a .762 average on 77 conversions in 101 tries in 16 games.

Hartman also leads the loop in scoring and the past week hiked his shooting percentage to .509 by connecting on 181 field goals in 355 shots, raising him from 12th in the standings to fourth. Myles Witchey of West Liberty has the best goal shooting mark with a .566 mark on 81 goals in 143 tries. He is followed by Bob Mickis of Concord and Miller of Alderson-Broaddus.

Luther Stover of Beckley took third behind Hartman and Muscaro in the foul shooting and Berkley of Salem fourth as Dave Rosen of Morris Harvey dropped to fifth.

Don Thompson of West Virginia Tech remained the runner-up to Paul Wilcox of Davis and Elkins College in the matter of rebounds. Wilcox has snared 148 rebounds in 10 games for an average of 14.8 per tilt while Thompson has 205 in 15 games, a 13.6 mark. The leaders:

Rocky Won't Fight For Title Until June

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP) — The International Boxing Club said today Rocky Marciano would not defend his heavyweight title before June.

"There will be no title fight in March," Murray Goodman, IBC publicist announced.

"After discussions with Al Weill, Marciano's manager, it's been decided that Marciano won't fight again until the summer and his opponent is indefinite.

"That will be discussed when Jim Norris returns from Florida next week."

There had been talk that Marciano might meet Dan Bucceroni in March. Ezzard Charles also has been mentioned as the likely next foe of the champion.

Baseball Briefs

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP)—Vic Power, Negro outfield star obtained by the Philadelphia Athletics in the recent 11 player deal with the New York Yankees, has signed his 1954 contract.

Power, American Association batting champion last year, has been playing winter baseball in Puerto Rico. Power hit .349 for Kansas City in the triple A Association in 1953. He played in 149 games and made 217 hits, including 16 home runs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves today asked waivers on aging catcher Walker Cooper, 13-year veteran of major league baseball.

General Manager John Quinn said the action was taken "for purposes of giving Cooper his unconditional release." The waivers expire Feb. 9, at which time Cooper will become a free agent unless he has been claimed by one of the other 15 major league clubs.

The catcher, who broke into the majors with St. Louis in 1940, teamed with his brother Mort to form one of the major league's most colorful batteries as the Cardinals won three successive National League pennants in 1942-43-44.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 3 (AP)—Mickey Mantle's right knee was back in bandages today but his physician said the New York Yankee outfielder will be ready for the 1954 season if he follows advice.

In a 35-minute operation, surgeons removed a fluid-filled cyst from the back of Mantle's right knee. This is the same knee from which a torn cartilage was removed last November.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Preacher Roe, who had an 11-3 pitching record for Brooklyn in 1953, has signed a contract for his seventh season the Dodgers announced today.

Roe, who will be 36 Feb. 26, won 10 games in a row last year, longest streak in the National League. His .786 percentage record was the best for any hurler working more than 100 innings.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today got a signed 1954 contract from Karol Kwak, rookie left-handed outfielder from Chicago who led the Class B Tri-State League last season by batting .359 for Anderson, S. C.

The Orioles announced earlier today it had agreed on terms with Duane Pillette, Los Gatos, Calif., right hander who had a 7-13 pitching record with the St. Louis Browns last year.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP) — Jim Rivera, fleet outfielder, today became the 32nd player signed for 1954 by the Chicago White Sox.

In his first full White Sox season last year, Rivera was the only player to appear in all of the club's 156 games. He batted .259, leading the American League in triples with 16 and placing second in stolen bases with 22. He drove across 78 runs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3 (AP) — Outfielder Bobby Thomson, obtained in a trade with the New York Giants two days ago, agreed to 1954 salary terms today with the Milwaukee Braves.

General Manager John Quinn said he telephoned Thomson at his Staten Island (N.Y.) home and reached a verbal agreement with the 30-year-old outfielder within a few moments. Quinn declined to discuss terms, but the best guess was that Thomson would receive close to the $35,000 he is believed to have been paid by the Giants last season, which would make him one of the highest salaried players on the Braves' roster.

Appointed Coach

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—Charles J. Herbert, captain of the 1951 Maryland team, was today appointed coach of lacrosse at Washington and Lee University. Herbert, who has been working with an oil company in Baltimore, will also coach soccer and serve as an instructor in physical education.

Philadelphia Eagles Sign Two Irish Players

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP) — Philadelphia Eagles officals signed two members of the 1953 Notre Dame team for pro football duty today.

General Manager Vince McNally and Coach Jim Trimble signed fullback Neil Worden and Menil Mavaraides, a husky guard. Worden was the Eagles' first choice in last week's National Football League draft, while Mavaraides was the fourth pick.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (INS) — There must have been countless thousands of blacksmiths around when Hank Longfellow, the poet, wrote about one of them working under the spreading chestnut tree.

But today Horace Wade, Gulfstream Park's erudite turf historian, assures us the farrier is a member of a fast-vanishing race.

This is surprising because a blacksmith doesn't need a college education and a real good one can make $1000 a month at a race track. He may make much more if he happens to work for a big winning stable with a generous owner who like to spread his take from rich stakes among his stable hands and, of course, the "smithy."

A hint from the same Horace Wade sent us delving into a large ancient tome by George Fleming which traces the history of the art—and that's the correct word—of shoeing horses.

In this book we found some fascinating items, including the fact that Poppaea, one of Emperor Nero's girl friends, had her mules shod with gold shoes.

We found also that Icelanders shod horses with sheep horn and elsewhere nags were shod with stags horn. They even made stirrups of stagshorn.

And Napoleon may have been a smart cookie but he wasn't smart enough to carry a flock of blacksmiths with him when he invaded Russia.

Remember how Nap lost most of his army on that disastrous retreat from Moscow. He also lost all his artillery because his artillery horses weren't shod and couldn't move on the icy roads. And he had no blacksmiths to do a proper job for him.

Blacksmiths probably have changed the course of history on many occasions. For instance, there was the time when the ancient Persians were chasing the equally ancient Greeks.

The Persians were well on their way to annihilate the Greeks until the Greeks, whose horses were shod for the terrain, faded up into the mountains. But the unshod Persian horses were out of luck on the rocky pinnacles and so the Greeks escaped.

Camel's skin is used for horseshoes in the Sudan and straw shoes are common in Japan and China. And we know from personal observation that on the vast Australian stations (ranches) the Aussies shoe their nags with cowskin.

But no matter how horses are shod it takes an expert to do the job.

A poor job can ruin a horse's feet just as a poorly fitting pair of shoes might ruin your own feet. Race horses with shelly feet must be shod with infinite care and a horse like Assault needs especially skillful treatment.

Welfare Report Cites Increase In Payments

The report of the State Department of Public Welfare on relief payments in Allegany County during December shows the usual seasonal increases in the case load, according to Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, director of the county unit.

She said some clients received help from relatives in previous months but the aid from relatives was cut. This added to the increased payments in some cases.

There was a larger number of requests from employables than usual, Mrs. Westerfeld said, but Allegany County is not participating in this phase of public relief. Several years ago the county commissioners provided $60,000 for temporary assistance to employables who were made jobless due mainly to a heavy curtailment of work in the textile industry.

Old age assistance was provided for 656 individuals at a cost of $26,060.49 with the average grant $39.73. There were 16 applicants for aid in this category with 11 cases added to the rolls and 10 others cancelled.

Next most expensive category was aid to dependent children which cost $23,965.30 for the 757 children of 275 families who were assisted. The average grant per family was $87.15 with 25 applicants being aided. There were 18 cases added to the rolls and eight cancelled.

The 23 needy blind who were assisted received an average of $40.80 at a total cost of $938.35. One person was added to the rolls.

In the aid to permanently and totally disabled category there were 208 individuals listed at a cost of $8,835.46. The average grant was $42.48. There were four cases added and four cancelled.

General public assistance was provided 89 persons at a cost of $4,113.38. The average grant was $46.22 with five cases added and nine cancelled.

Foster care was provided 60 children at a cost of $2,751.37 with the average payment $45.86.

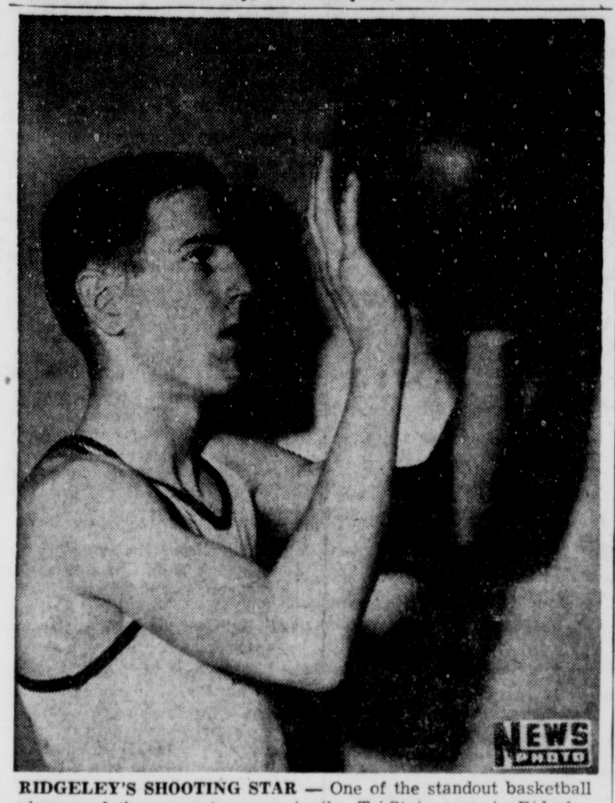
Old Germans Host Fort Meade Quint Sunday



RIDGELEY'S SHOOTING STAR — One of the standout basketball players of the current season in the Tri-State area is Ridgeley High School's Frederick (Fritz) Showers, pictured above. When he scored seven field goals and 20 points against Allegany Tuesday night he increased his season total to 297 for 15 games, giving him second place in the area scoring race. His average is a nice 19.8. He leads the Mineral County League with 136 points in six games and is runner-up in the PVC with 174 in eight games. "Fritz" has racked up 20 or more points in nine contests and his season high is 28. In two games he scored 52 points against Piedmont, 40 against Beall and 29 against Allegany and in one he connected for 24 against Keyser. Showers is also one of the ace foul shooters in the area, owning a 74.4 average on 125 conversions in 168 tries.

Local Cagers To Be Aided By Don Moran

Former Westernport Star To Play Here Against Generals

Cumberland's Old Germans, returning to the basketball wars following a week layoff will meet the Fort Meade Generals Sunday night at SS. Peter and Paul at 9 o'clock.

Player-coach Bob Pence said he had been informed by Don Moran, former Westernport star and scoring ace for the Hagerstown Cabineers, that the University of Maryland student would play Sunday with the Old Germans against tne Generals.

Pence said the addition of Moran to the roster of the Cumberlanders would "greatly strengthen us" because of his fine rebound ability and play-making as well as high-scoring consistency.

Moran Starred Here

Moran will be remembered by Cumberland fans for the show he put on against the local pro cagers two weeks ago as a member of the Hagerstown quintet when Cumberland dropped a doubleheader to the Washington Countians, 91-86 in overtime at Hagerstown, and 81-64 here. Moran scored 17 points in the first tilt and 20 in the game here.

Moran has been sought all season by Cumberland because of the proximity of his home in Westernport and because the local team is greatly in need of tall players who work well under the hoops. When Cumberland lost to Hagerstown two weeks ago both the Old Germans tall players, John Fox and Roy Lester, were missing from the lineup.

Pence says Fox expects to play in the Sunday game against the Generals.

Fort Meade is compiling an impressive win record in its regular 56-game schedule this season, and sports such players as John Scallion, former Marcellus Central High three-sports star in New York; Patrick King, veteran of the Generals who attended Westminster College; Robert Mahala, Wagner College cager; Fred Iehle, scoring champion of Philadelphia in his high school days; Jerry Ryan, St. Mary's College; Robert Leaman, of Hyattsville; Anthony Ruggiero, New York cager; Herman Pittman, Florida A&M.

Lookabaugh On Team

Leo Corkery, St. Bonaventure College player; Vernon Barkstall, veteran from last year's Fort Meade team who attended West Virginia State; Herman Cohen, CCNY cager; Charles Schmidt, University of Illinois; John Harvey, under contract to the Baltimore Orioles; and Bob Lookabaugh, former Allegany High star here in Cumberland.

Only Pittman, Barkstall and Ruggiero stand under six feet in height for the Generals.

Pence said the Old Germans also plan several other attractions in the future, carding such teams as the Broadway Clowns, who split with the locals last year and feature King Tut, prince of clowns.

Pence Leads Scorers

Negotiations are underway to bring a Harrisonburg, Va., independent quint here, Pence noted, adding that Scotty Hamilton, former West Virginia All-American and Skippy Hill, Davis and Elkins great, play for the Harrisonburg five.

Meanwhile at the end of 10 games, of which the Cumberlanders have won six, Pence is the leading scorer on the team with 184 points for an 18.4 average per tilt. Leading scorers:

Pimlico Fund Ruled Income

Lower Court Verdict Reversed In Opinion

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—A fund Pimlico Race Track set aside for track improvements from its receipts was ruled as taxable income here today by a federal appellate court.

The opinion, written by Judge Armistead M. Dobie of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the 4th district, held the $75,608.66 Pimlico deducted from its gross receipts was "clearly taxable income."

The decision reversed an earlier lower court opinion in favor of the Baltimore race track officials. The case was remanded to the Baltimore district court by the three-judge court here with instructions to enter a judgment in favor of the United States.

The Maryland Jockey Club paid $28,731.29 in taxes for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1948, on the deducted sum but later sued to recover the income taxes.

Frank Selvy Is Impressed With Bevo's Scoring Mark

Furman Ace Hopes To Add To Laurels

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—"Good gosh, it's almost unbelievable—113 points. I could never make that many a game."

It was the all-time scoring champion of major college basketball, Frank Selvy of Furman, talking. He was talking about the small college court wizard, Bevo Francis.

Francis rang in 38 field goals and 37 free throws as Rio Grande swamped Hillsadle last night 134-91.

Saw Francis Once

"I've seen Bevo only once—that was a few years ago when he played in an all-star game at Murray, Ky.," Selvy added today. "He scored only 13 points that night but he must be some shot today."

Selvy is in town to improve upon his own three-year career record. Just this week he ran his total to 1904 points to beat the three-year career mark of 1888 set by Kansas' Clyde Lovellette in 1952.

His Furman team plays Manhattan at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night in the second half of a doubleheader featuring Seton Hall and St. Bonaventure in the first game.

If the six-foot-three jump shot specialist from Corbin, Ky., can average 21 points in Furman's remaining games he can crack in a year's less time the four-year career record set by Jim Lacy of Baltimore's Loyola with 2,154 points in 1949. Selvy is now averaging 38.3 a game.

"Selvy might match Francis if we threw defense to the winds and concentrated on letting him score," said Furman's diminutive coach, Lyles Alley. "But we give Frank no preferential treatment. Our prime purpose is to win basketball games.

Opposition Is Weak

"It's obvious that Rio Grande's opposition last night was weak and there was no pretense at defensive ball. They just let 'em run. Several times this year we've had to tighten up to hold the other team. This has cut down on Selvy's scoring."

Selvy's single game high was 63 against Mercer last year.

Alley, who is just five-feet-six and weighs 130 pounds, said he has seen better shots than Selvy but no one with a better capacity for absorbing instruction and with more determination.

A modest, hard-working 21-year-old, Selvy is interested in playing pro basketball after his graduation next June, but he's not counting on it.

Three Men Charged With Spotlighting

HANCOCK, Md., Feb. 3 (AP) — Magistrate Edward P. Fost imposed $650 in fines today on three Clear Spring, Md., men charged with illegal hunting in the area north of Clear Spring along the Pennsylvania state line.

They were accused of hunting deer out of season with a spotlight.

George E. Leasure and Charles W. Repp, both 27, were fined $150 apiece. Robert H. Yeakle, who faced an additional charge of killing a deer out of season, was fined $350. Shotguns belonging to the three men also were confiscated.

Game Warden Stanley Alexander said they were arrested Monday night in cooperation with Pennsylvania game wardens after complaints that hunters were operating illegally in the area and dodging back and forth across the state line to avoid arrest.

Magistrate Fost issued a warning that he would show no mercy to violators brought before him for illegal hunting.

Roberts Won't Work So Often Manager Says

Definite Rotation Planned By O'Neill

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP) — Robin Roberts, strong right hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, isn't going to work every third day in 1954.

Manager Steve O'Neill disclosed he has decided upon a definite pitching rotation, barring injuries and emergencies.

"Roberts pitches better with three full days of rest," O'Neill said.

Last year, Roberts pitched a league-leading 347 innings. Some critics said the great young ace was overworked and lost his effectiveness after midseason. Roberts denied this. He claimed he'd rather work every third day and that his effectiveness wasn't any more or less.

The record shows that Roberts won 23 and lost 16 in 1953. On July 8, day of the All-Star game, he had a 13-6 mark, which means he won 10 and lost 10 from there to the end of the season, a poor performance for the pitcher generally considered the best in the business. In fact, he lost 7 of his last 9 games.

O'Neill said that he thought Curt Simmons, southpaw; Bob Miller, right hander, and Steve Ridzik, 9-game winner last year, can use the full three day rest between assignments.

The manager said he hadn't decided on any schedule for 37-year-old Murry Dickson.

O'Neill is very high on Thornton Kipper, the young right hander who split six decisions in 1953. He has been the leading pitcher in the Carribbean League this winter.

Navy Gridders Card "Big Time" Schedule

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Navy will swing back toward "big time football" in 1954 after a trend the past three seasons toward "softer schedules."

Stanford, perennially a power on the West Coast, and Pitt, the one-time Eastern power that is rebuilding, are the two additions to the Middie slate. They will replace a pair of Ivy League foes—Cornell and Princeton, two teams the Navy beat easily last season.

The full schedule:

Sept. 25, William and Mary.

Oct. 2, at Dartmouth; 9, at Stanford; 16, at Pittsburgh; 23, at Pennsylvania; 30, Notre Dame at Baltimore.

Nov. 6, Duke at Norfolk (Oyster Bowl); 13, Columbia; 20, open date; 27, Army at Philadelphia.

Bucs Have Signed 19 Players To Date

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3 (AP) — Outfielder Gene Hermanski and pitchers Calvin Hogue and Vernon Thies signed 1954 contracts with the Pittsburgh Pirates today. The club now has signed 19 players.

Hermanski batted .167 for the Pirates last season after coming here in a trade that sent slugger Ralph Kiner to the Chicago Cubs.

Hogue had a 7-5 record with Oklahoma City in the class AA Texas League last year before coming to the Pirates and chalking up a 1-1 mark.

Win Streak Broken

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—Connecticut's 14 game winning streak was smashed tonight by Fordham 70-63 but not until the New Englanders had fought within two points of the lead in the final quarter after trailing by 15. Only three major teams—Kentucky, Duquesne and Western Kentucky remain unbeaten in the country.

Doherty Returns

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP) — Ed Doherty, 6-foot-4 basketball forward at New York University, has been returned to good scholastic standing and will be in his team's lineup against West Virginia tomorrow night.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3—(INS)—If Marlon Brando doesn't return to 20th and fulfill his engagement to play in "The Egyptian," he will not be in Stanley Kramer's next picture, "Not As A Stranger." Stanley is already talking to Montgomery Clift about substituting for him.

Darryl Zanuck believes that Marlon will show up. He walked out of "Julius Caesar" and was gone for several days, and he disappeared nine times from the picture "Waterfront."

Curiously enough Brando has a fright complex and he's been seeing a psychiatrist in Chicago. Could be that he's getting himself some courage and that he will come back as Darryl believes.

Two pictures are chalked up for Jack Lemmon at Columbia. After he finishes "The Pleasure's All Mine" with Betty Grable, he will be co-starred with Judy Holiday in "Phfft"—the chronicle of a happy divorce.

Lemmon has received rave reviews in "It Should Happen To You," so that's the reason Jerry Wald and Freddie Kohlmar nabbed him for "Phfft" and again with Judy Holliday.

As for Lemmon, he's crazy about life in Hollywood. He'll be a father for the first time in June and he wants to bring the baby up right here in California. He feels he's in such luck that anything could happen to him.

Today is Suzan Ball's 20th birthday and she is to be given a surprise party by her studio and presented with a tape recording machine. Suzan hadn't expected this party because her nurse's birthday was Tuesday and she had a cake for her nurse and a little party which she thought was for both of them.

I have seen Suzan twice within a week and her improvement is extraordinary. She walks a little with her crutch every day; she's been in a wheel chair, and she's been taken for a ride around the block in an automobile.

With her determination I know she'll be back at Universal-International for a picture much sooner than anyone dared hope.

Donald O'Connor, covered from shoulders to shins, broke all records at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, yep—even including the former all-time top established by topless Marlene Dietrich.

With this honor under his belt, Don takes off tomorrow with Impresario Bill Miller for Florida where both gentlemen will indulge in a bit of sun and rest.

If you heard my broadcast Tuesday night (if not, why not) you heard Don deny that he had lost $30,000 at the dice tables—or anything like that amount. Fact is, according to Don, he came away from the Nevada riot spot with $47,000 more than he arrived with, and none of it via the galloping dice.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bill Guasti, Gloria Lloyd's ex, buying Joan Dixon's dinner at the Harlequin. She's Ted Briskin's ex.

It's reported that Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, will make his permanent home in Southern California. That's good news.

John Ireland looked like a school master surrounded by five children having dinner last night at the Lauau. Three of the children are Joanne Dru's by Dick Haymes, and the other two are his own by a previous marriage.

Major Speed Chandler telephoned to say that he's running for Congress in the 16th District. "I have never been in politics, but I know aviation and I know a little about motion pictures, and this is the center of both," said the major.

Nejla Ates, 22-year-old Turkish dancing beauty, who is in "The Talisman," says she is keeping the $35,000 diamond ring Shepherd King gave her. Just an old Turkish custom, she says, for a lady not to return a ring after the engagement is broken.

Trust Terry Moore to get in fustest with the mostest publicity. Now she'd like to auction her famous ermine bathing suit and donate the proceeds to the March of Dimes.

A sign appearing in a restaurant near MGM Studio reads: "Slightly used coffee grounds for sale."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

With no vacation in sight, pick your destination anyway and see and enjoy its wonders in books!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A mental leave of absence from care, worries, dull routines and the well-trodden home paths is as close to you as your library. And this type of "vacation" is yours to enjoy in as small lots as an hour at a time.

So pick your desired spots and match it with books that will transcend space to transport you there with magical speed.

Choose Your Spots

Shall it be a south sea island? Try "Tahiti," by George T. Eggleston, and cruise in languid waters through moonlit nights and adventure-packed days with magnificent photographs to illuminate your trip. If it's romance you wish in this same setting, you'll find it in any of the books by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall. Somerset Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence," will take you to an island paradise with an artist's eyes. And James Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific" or "Return to Paradise" will bring you haunting enchantment.

But perhaps you live in the south and long for a passport to snowlands. You'll live through an epic struggle conquering the chilliest elements along with indomitable mountains in the current best seller, "Annapurna," by Maurice Herzog.

If it's essence of France that invokes your travel spirit, choose "Soft Skies of France," by Samuel Chamberlain, or "Coming down the Seine," by Robert Gibbings — both illustrated. For a sensitive interpretation of life as a Parisian, get the illustrated version of "Paris", by Elliot Paul.

Adventure is yours in fullest measure in John C. Caldwell's tale of an American missionary's fight against superstition and bandits entitled "China Coast Family."

Lost In Arizona

Another adventure, sure to take you "away from it all," is the fabulous but true story of "The Lost Dutchman Mine," by Sims Ely with its tale of the seven-decade search for hidden treasures in the mountains of Arizona.

Perhaps you've a hankering for ancient cities, shores and vineyards. Then "An Autumn in Italy," by Sean O'Faolian, might be your "transportation."

But this is just a small sampling of the armchair travel that can be yours. Between book covers, you are sure to find thrilling life explorations and sights in whatever part of this earth you most wish to visit!

County PTA Council Hears Panel Discussion, Reports

Twenty-four of the county's 27 schools had representation at a meeting of the Allegany County Council of Parent Teacher Association at West Side School Monday night to hear a panel discussion on the subject, "Are Our Schools Meeting the Needs of Our Children?"

Eighteen of the schools represented registered their required five or more delegates.

On the panel were Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk, child psychologist with the Allegany County Health Department, speaking from the parents' viewpoint; Dr. Harold Reese, Frostburg State Teachers College, speaking for higher education; Dr. Lyman Bonner, technical director at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, speaking on the scientific field; Homer Higgins, pupil personnel director for the Allegany County Board of Education, speaking on special education, and John M. Robb, local attorney, moderator.

A coordinating committee, named to determine the possibility of having all PTA units meet on the same night, reported. This committee includes Mrs. George Dunlap, chairman; Miss Winifred Green, and Glenn Kemmet.

The committee plans to send letters to all schools involved in an effort to determine which night will be satisfactory to the majority.

Dr. Adam Baer presided at the meeting and named a nominating committee which is to select a slate of officers for election at the next meeting. The committee includes Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, chairman; Mrs. Lester B. Reed, Mrs. Stanley Buckley, Miss Winifred Green and Alfred Fritz.

Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, gave the invocation. Robert Moreland led group singing, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Moreland. The Harmonettes, a group of Westernport girls, sang several selections. The group, accompanied by Mrs. George Ord, included Marian Laughlin, Rayma Wright and Rose Mary Ord.

Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, hospitality chairman and her committee, served refreshments in honor of Founders Day. Mrs. Lester McGill, secretary, noted that the next regular meeting will be held May 3 at Cresaptown School.

Hartman Retains Foul Shooting Lead In League

A-B Ace Also Raises Scoring Percentage

The smooth-working forward has meshed 129 fouls in 153 chances in 18 games. Nearest man to the Alderson-Broaddus star is Clair Muscaro of West Virginia Tech with a .762 average on 77 conversions in 101 tries in 16 games.

Hartman also leads the loop in scoring and the past week hiked his shooting percentage to .509 by connecting on 181 field goals in 355 shots, raising him from 12th in the standings to fourth. Myles Witchey of West Liberty has the best goal shooting mark with a .566 mark on 81 goals in 143 tries. He is followed by Bob Mickis of Concord and Miller of Alderson-Broaddus.

Luther Stover of Beckley took third behind Hartman and Muscaro in the foul shooting and Berkley of Salem fourth as Dave Rosen of Morris Harvey dropped to fifth.

Don Thompson of West Virginia Tech remained the runner-up to Paul Wilcox of Davis and Elkins College in the matter of rebounds. Wilcox has snared 148 rebounds in 10 games for an average of 14.8 per tilt while Thompson has 205 in 15 games, a 13.6 mark. The leaders:

Rocky Won't Fight For Title Until June

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP) — The International Boxing Club said today Rocky Marciano would not defend his heavyweight title before June.

"There will be no title fight in March," Murray Goodman, IBC publicist announced.

"After discussions with Al Weill, Marciano's manager, it's been decided that Marciano won't fight again until the summer and his opponent is indefinite.

"That will be discussed when Jim Norris returns from Florida next week."

There had been talk that Marciano might meet Dan Bucceroni in March. Ezzard Charles also has been mentioned as the likely next foe of the champion.

Baseball Briefs

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP)—Vic Power, Negro outfield star obtained by the Philadelphia Athletics in the recent 11 player deal with the New York Yankees, has signed his 1954 contract.

Power, American Association batting champion last year, has been playing winter baseball in Puerto Rico. Power hit .349 for Kansas City in the triple A Association in 1953. He played in 149 games and made 217 hits, including 16 home runs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves today asked waivers on aging catcher Walker Cooper, 13-year veteran of major league baseball.

General Manager John Quinn said the action was taken "for purposes of giving Cooper his unconditional release." The waivers expire Feb. 9, at which time Cooper will become a free agent unless he has been claimed by one of the other 15 major league clubs.

The catcher, who broke into the majors with St. Louis in 1940, teamed with his brother Mort to form one of the major league's most colorful batteries as the Cardinals won three successive National League pennants in 1942-43-44.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 3 (AP)—Mickey Mantle's right knee was back in bandages today but his physician said the New York Yankee outfielder will be ready for the 1954 season if he follows advice.

In a 35-minute operation, surgeons removed a fluid-filled cyst from the back of Mantle's right knee. This is the same knee from which a torn cartilage was removed last November.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 3 (AP)—Preacher Roe, who had an 11-3 pitching record for Brooklyn in 1953, has signed a contract for his seventh season the Dodgers announced today.

Roe, who will be 36 Feb. 26, won 10 games in a row last year, longest streak in the National League. His .786 percentage record was the best for any hurler working more than 100 innings.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today got a signed 1954 contract from Karol Kwak, rookie left-handed outfielder from Chicago who led the Class B Tri-State League last season by batting .359 for Anderson, S. C.

The Orioles announced earlier today it had agreed on terms with Duane Pillette, Los Gatos, Calif., right hander who had a 7-13 pitching record with the St. Louis Browns last year.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP) — Jim Rivera, fleet outfielder, today became the 32nd player signed for 1954 by the Chicago White Sox.

In his first full White Sox season last year, Rivera was the only player to appear in all of the club's 156 games. He batted .259, leading the American League in triples with 16 and placing second in stolen bases with 22. He drove across 78 runs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3 (AP) — Outfielder Bobby Thomson, obtained in a trade with the New York York Giants two days ago, agreed to 1954 salary terms today with the Milwaukee Braves.

General Manager John Quinn said he telephoned Thomson at his Staten Island (N.Y.) home and reached a verbal agreement with the 30-year-old outfielder within a few moments. Quinn declined to discuss terms, but the best guess was that Thomson would receive close to the $35,000 he is believed to have been paid by the Giants last season, which would make him one of the highest salaried players on the Braves' roster.

Appointed Coach

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 3 (AP)—Charles J. Herbert, captain of the 1951 Maryland team, was today appointed coach of lacrosse at Washington and Lee University. Herbert, who has been working with an oil company in Baltimore, will also coach soccer and serve as an instructor in physical education.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (INS) — There must have been countless thousands of blacksmiths around when Hank Longfellow, the poet, wrote about one of them working under the spreading chestnut tree.

But today Horace Wade, Gulfstream Park's erudite turf historian, assures us the farrier is a member of a fast-vanishing race.

This is surprising because a blacksmith doesn't need a college education and a real good one can make $1000 a month at a race track. He may make much more if he happens to work for a big winning stable with a generous owner who like to spread his take from rich stakes among his stable hands and, of course, the "smithy."

A hint from the same Horace Wade sent us delving into a large ancient tome by George Fleming which traces the history of the art—and that's the correct word—of shoeing horses.

In this book we found some fascinating items, including the fact that Poppaea, one of Emperor Nero's girl friends, had her mules shod with gold shoes.

We found also that Icelanders shod horses with sheep horn and elsewhere nags were shod with stags horn. They even made stirrups of stags-horn.

And Napoleon may have been a smart cookie but he wasn't smart enough to carry a flock of blacksmiths with him when he invaded Russia.

Remember how Nap lost most of his army on that disastrous retreat from Moscow. He also lost all his artillery because his artillery horses weren't shod and couldn't move on the icy roads. And he had no blacksmiths to do a proper job for him.

Blacksmiths probably have changed the course of history on many occasions. For instance, there was the time when the ancient Persians were chasing the equally ancient Greeks.

The Persians were well on their way to annihilate the Greeks until the Greeks, whose horses were shod for the terrain, faded up into the mountains. But the unshod Persian horses were out of luck on the rocky pinnacles and so the Greeks escaped.

Camel's skin is used for horseshoes in the Sudan and straw shoes are common in Japan and China. And we know from personal observation that on the vast Australian stations (ranches) the Aussies shoe their nags with cowskin.

But no matter how horses are shod it takes an expert to do the job.

A poor job can ruin a horse's feet just as a poorly fitting pair of shoes might ruin your own feet. Race horses with shelly feet must be shod with infinite care and a horse like Assault needs especially skillful treatment.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simple stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints.

Keyser Weatherman Reports On January

KEYSER—Despite the increase in rainfall in this area in the past few months, David Arnold, local U. S. Weather observer on Knobley Mountain, said yesterday the rain fall in the past six months, has not raised the amount of precipitation above normal. It is still minus for this area.

Arnold said there were three snow falls in which 11 inches of snow fell, and the combination of snow and melted snow in the past month, was only 1.45 inches in comparison with a January normal for this area of 2.03 inches.

The highest temperature during the past month was 54 degrees on January 3. The lowest temperature reading was one above zero on January 19.

Twenty-seven days the temperature was 30 degrees and below, and on 11 days, high temperature recorded, was 40 degrees and above.

There were eight fair days, 18 cloudy and five that were partly cloudy.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

REWARD FOR VIGILANCE

VIGILANCE during the play of a hand can be spectacularly rewarding to a player gifted with acumen and resourcefulness, regardless of whether he be on the offense or the defense. Some of the most brilliant results ever obtained at the card table can come from taking note of an apparently insignificant development at a key stage, followed by making the inferences which point out an unexpected opportunity.

	♠ A K Q 8 3 ♥ A 7 6 4 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ 10
♠ 9 6 2 ♥ Q J ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ A Q 9 8 5	N W E S	♠ J 7 4 ♥ 10 5 3 2 ♦ 10 5 4 ♣ J 6 2
	♠ 10 5 ♥ K 9 8 ♦ A J 9 8 ♣ K 7 4 3

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 NT

A pair of top quality in the North-South seats would never have done such informative bidding if opposed to foemen worthy of their steel, as they would expect top-grade defenders to make too much use of the facts advertised. Here, however, they were against players on whom they usually could depend for doing no card-reading and making some kind of unwise or unfortunate guess in the play.

After the club 8 was led to the 10, J and K, one of the world's outstanding cardsmen, Lee Hazen of New York, who has held nearly all of the American championships including the individual, saw that ten tricks were in sight, but he aimed at more. As he ran five spades, he noted the discards by the defenders as his own were the club 3 and 4 and the diamond 8. On the last two spades West tossed the club 5 and heart J. That heart was a most informative card. To get more news, he led to the heart A and learned, as he hoped, that West had held the Q too.

Now a finesse was marked against East's 10. So after his lead to the 9 won, the K was scored. With the club A marked in West's hand, now blanked, Mr. Hazen knew there were only diamonds in the same holding. So he sent the club 7 to the A and West had to return a diamond, giving the declarer the final three tricks and a total of twelve.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K 10 8 ♥ Q 2 ♦ A Q 9 6 ♣ K Q 9 7
♠ 9 ♥ 10 8 5 ♦ J 8 4 2 ♣ J 8 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ A Q J 6 5 4 ♥ 7 3 ♦ K 10 7 3 ♣ A
	♠ 7 3 2 ♥ A K J 9 6 4 ♦ 5 ♣ 10 6 5

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the best defense against South's 4-Hearts, if East had bid spades?

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3—(INS)—If Marlon Brando doesn't return to 20th and fulfill his engagement to play in "The Egyptian," he will not be in Stanley Kramer's next picture, "Not As A Stranger." Stanley is already talking to Montgomery Clift about substituting for him.

Darryl Zanuck believes that Marlon will show up. He walked out of "Julius Caesar" and was gone for several days, and he disappeared nine times from the picture "Waterfront."

Curiously enough Brando has a fright complex and he's been seeing a psychiatrist in Chicago. Could be that he's getting himself some courage and that he will come back as Darryl believes.

Two pictures are chalked up for Jack Lemmon at Columbia. After he finishes "The Pleasure's All Mine" with Betty Grable, he will be co-starred with Judy Holiday in "Phfft"—the chronicle of a happy divorce.

Lemmon has received rave reviews in "It Should Happen To You," so that's the reason Jerry Wald and Freddie Kohlmar nabbed him for "Phfft" and again with Judy Holliday.

As for Lemmon, he's crazy about life in Hollywood. He'll be a father for the first time in June and he wants to bring the baby up right here in California. He feels he's in such luck that anything could happen to him.

Today is Suzan Ball's 20th birthday and she is to be given a surprise party by her studio and presented with a tape recording machine. Suzan hadn't expected this party because her nurse's birthday was Tuesday and she had a cake for her nurse and a little party which she thought was for both of them.

I have seen Suzan twice within a week and her improvement is extraordinary. She walks a little with her crutch every day; she's been in a wheel chair, and she's been taken for a ride around the block in an automobile.

With her determination I know she'll be back at Universal-International for a picture much sooner than anyone dared hope.

Donald O'Connor, covered from shoulders to shins, broke all records at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, yep—even including the former all-time top established by topless Marlene Dietrich.

With this honor under his belt, Don takes off tomorrow with Impresario Bill Miller for Florida where both gentlemen will indulge in a bit of sun and rest.

If you heard my broadcast Tuesday night (if not, why not) you heard Don deny that he had lost $30,000 at the dice tables—or anything like that amount. Fact is, according to Don, he came away from the Nevada riot spot with $47,000 more than he arrived with, and none of it via the galloping dice.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bill Guasti, Gloria Lloyd's ex, buying Joan Dixon's dinner at the Harlequin. She's Ted Briskin's ex.

It's reported that Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, will make his permanent home in Southern California. That's good news.

John Ireland looked like a school master surrounded by five children having dinner last night at the Lauau. Three of the children are Joanne Dru's by Dick Haymes, and the other two are his own by a previous marriage.

Major Speed Chandler telephoned to say that he's running for Congress in the 16th District. "I have never been in politics, but I know aviation and I know a little about motion pictures, and this is the center of both," said the major.

Nejla Ates, 22-year-old Turkish dancing beauty, who is in "The Talisman," says she is keeping the $35,000 diamond ring Shepherd King gave her. Just an old Turkish custom, she says, for a lady not to return a ring after the engagement is broken.

Trust Terry Moore to get in fustest with the mostest publicity. Now she'd like to auction her famous ermine bathing suit and donate the proceeds to the March of Dimes.

A sign appearing in a restaurant near MGM Studio reads: "Slightly used coffee grounds for sale."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A mental leave of absence from care, worries, dull routines and the well-trodden home paths is as close to you as your library. And this type of "vacation" is yours to enjoy in as small lots as an hour at a time.

So pick your desired spots and match it with books that will transcend space to transport you there with magical speed.

Choose Your Spots

Shall it be a south sea island? Try "Tahiti," by George T. Eggleston, and cruise in languid waters through moonlit nights and adventure-packed days with magnificent photographs to illuminate your trip. If it's romance you wish in this same setting, you'll find it in any of the books by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall. Somerset Maugham's "The Moon and Sixpence," will take you to an island paradise with an artist's eyes. And James Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific" or "Return to Paradise" will bring you haunting enchantment.

But perhaps you live in the south and long for a passport to snowlands. You'll live through an epic struggle conquering the chilliest elements along with indomitable mountains in the current best seller, "Annapurna," by Maurice Herzog.

If it's essence of France that invokes your travel spirit, choose "Soft Skies of France," by Samuel Chamberlain, or "Coming down the Seine," by Robert Gibbings — both illustrated. For a sensitive interpretation of life as a Parisian, get the illustrated version of "Paris", by Elliot Paul.

Adventure is yours in fullest measure in John C. Caldwell's tale of an American missionary's fight against superstition and bandits entitled "China Coast Family."

Lost In Arizona

Another adventure, sure to take you "away from it all," is the fabulous but true story of "The Lost Dutchman Mine," by Sims Ely with its tale of the seven-decade search for hidden treasures in the mountains of Arizona.

Perhaps you've a hankering for ancient cities, shores and vineyards. Then "An Autumn in Italy," by Sean O'Faolian, might be your "transportation."

But this is just a small sampling of the armchair travel that can be yours. Between book covers, you are sure to find thrilling life explorations and sights in whatever part of this earth you most wish to visit!

County PTA Council Hears Panel Discussion, Reports

Twenty-four of the county's 27 schools had representation at a meeting of the Allegany County Council of Parent Teacher Association at West Side School Monday night to hear a panel discussion on the subject, "Are Our Schools Meeting the Needs of Our Children?"

Eighteen of the schools represented registered their required five or more delegates.

On the panel were Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk, child psychologist with the Allegany County Health Department, speaking from the parents' viewpoint; Dr. Harold Reese, Frostburg State Teachers College, speaking for higher education; Dr. Lyman Bonner, technical director at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, speaking on the scientific field; Homer Higgins, pupil personnel director for the Allegany County Board of Education, speaking on special education, and John M. Robb, local attorney, moderator.

A coordinating committee, named to determine the possibility of having all PTA units meet on the same night, reported. This committee includes Mrs. George Dunlap, chairman; Miss Winifred Green, and Glenn Kemmet.

The committee plans to send letters to all schools involved in an effort to determine which night will be satisfactory to the majority.

Dr. Adam Baer presided at the meeting and named a nominating committee which is to select a slate of officers for election at the next meeting. The committee includes Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, chairman; Mrs. Lester B. Reed, Mrs. Stanley Buckley, Miss Winifred Green and Alfred Fritz.

Rev. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, gave the invocation. Robert Moreland led group singing, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Moreland. The Harmonettes, a group of Westernport girls, sang several selections. The group, accompanied by Mrs. George Ord, included Marian Laughlin, Rayma Wright and Rose Mary Ord.

Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, hospitality chairman and her committee, served refreshments in honor of Founders Day. Mrs. Lester McGill, secretary, noted that the next regular meeting will be held May 3 at Cresaptown School.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to secure a decree declaring Judith Anne Youngblood to be the adopted child of the Complainants. The Petition alleges that Judith Anne Youngblood is the grandchild of the Complainants and the daughter of the son of the Complainants, Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., and Mary B. Youngblood, his wife; that the parents of the said Judith Anne Youngblood have left the said infant in the custody of the Complainants since she was six months old, where she has remained ever since; that the respondent, Mary B. Youngblood remained at the home of the parents for about one year after she brought the said infant to their home and thereafter has lived in the City of Baltimore; that she last saw the said infant when the said infant was three years of age and her present address in Baltimore City is unknown; that the father of said infant, Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., is only part time employed; that the Complainants have always supported and maintained the said infant; that the Complainant, Alvin G. Youngblood, is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America; that they own their own home and capable of providing in a satisfactory manner for the maintenance and education of the said infant.

It is thereupon, this 13th day of January, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, that the Complainants cause this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four weeks before the 15th day of February, 1954, giving notice to the said Mary B. Youngblood, absent Respondent, of the object and substance of this Petition and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 4th day of March, 1954, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Keyser Weatherman Reports On January

KEYSER—Despite the increase in rainfall in this area in the past few months, David Arnold, local U. S. Weather observer on Knobley Mountain, said yesterday the rain fall in the past six months, has not raised the amount of precipitation above normal. It is still minus for this area.

Arnold said there were three snow falls in which 11 inches of snow fell, and the combination of snow and melted snow in the past month, was only 1.45 inches in comparison with a January normal for this area of 2.03 inches.

The highest temperature during the past month was 54 degrees on January 3. The lowest temperature reading was one above zero on January 19.

Twenty-seven days the temperature was 30 degrees and below, and on 11 days, high temperature recorded, was 40 degrees and above.

There were eight fair days, 18 cloudy and five that were partly cloudy.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

REWARD FOR VIGILANCE

VIGILANCE during the play of a hand can be spectacularly rewarding to a player gifted with acumen and resourcefulness, regardless of whether he be on the offense or the defense. Some of the most brilliant results ever obtained at the card table can come from taking note of an apparently insignificant development at a key stage, followed by making the inferences which point out an unexpected opportunity.

	♠ A K Q 8 3 ♥ A 7 6 4 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ 10
♠ 9 6 2 ♥ Q J ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ A Q 9 8 5	N W E S	♠ J 7 4 ♥ 10 5 3 2 ♦ 10 5 4 ♣ J 6 2
	♠ 10 5 ♥ K 9 8 ♦ A J 9 8 ♣ K 7 4 3

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 NT

A pair of top quality in the North-South seats would never have done such informative bidding if opposed to foemen worthy of their steel, as they would expect top-grade defenders to make too much use of the facts advertised. Here, however, they were against players on whom they usually could depend for doing no card-reading and making some kind of unwise or unfortunate guess in the play.

After the club 8 was led to the 10, J and K, one of the world's outstanding cardsmen, Lee Hazen of New York, who has held nearly all of the American championships including the individual, saw that ten tricks were in sight, but he aimed at more. As he ran five spades, he noted the discards by the defenders as his own were the club 3 and 4 and the diamond 8. On the last two spades West tossed the club 5 and heart J. That heart was a most informative card. To get more news, he led to the heart A and learned, as he hoped, that West had held the Q too.

Now a finesse was marked against East's 10. So after his lead to the 9 won, the K was scored. With the club A marked in West's hand, now blanked, Mr. Hazen knew there were only diamonds in the same holding. So he sent the club 7 to the A and West had to return a diamond, giving the declarer the final three tricks and a total of twelve.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K 10 8 ♥ Q 2 ♦ A Q 9 6 ♣ K Q 9 7
♠ 9 ♥ 10 8 5 ♦ J 8 4 2 ♣ J 8 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ A Q J 6 5 4 ♥ 7 3 ♦ K 10 7 3 ♣ A
	♠ 7 3 2 ♥ A K J 9 6 4 ♦ 5 ♣ 10 6 5

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the best defense against South's 4-Hearts, if East had bid spades?

SRC Places Alternate Traffic Plan Cost At $13,580,943

Use Of State Funds Termed Unjustified

Price Tag On By-Pass Set At $10,300,000

The Maryland State Roads Commission has informed the City of Cumberland that the Circumferential Route and internal traffic plan proposed by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission would cost $13,580,943 without the $1,500,000 Industrial Boulevard which is included in the SRC's 12-year program.

And the SRC's chief engineer, Norman M. Pritchett, said he believes the commission should not contribute funds toward the plan since the amount of traffic it would serve would not justify the expenditure.

The estimate was forwarded to Mayor Roy W. Eves by Pritchett in response to a city request that a price tag be placed on the commission's alternate plan which city officials had been asked to study.

Pritchett said the $13,580,943 figure does not include the "Line C" (Industrial Highway) estimate of $1,500,000 for construction and right of way costs, as shown in the 12-year plan, but that the South End highway does appear in the Planning Commission's program. The estimate was omitted, he added, to keep the SRC and Planning Commission's program on an even basis.

The Industrial Boulevard would boost the cost of the Planning Commission's program to $15,180,943.

State Aid Doubtful

Pritchett said the estimates which make up the total were prepared in the same manner as the SRC uses in estimating its own projects, and that he had no hesitancy in vouching for their accuracy within reasonable limits.

He referred to a telephone conversation between Mayor Eves and Roland M. Thompson, assistant location engineer, concerning the amount of money the State Roads Commission would contribute toward the Planning Commission's alternate proposal.

Pritchett said it was his personal opinion the SRC should not contribute any funds toward such a plan, as the amount of traffic it would serve would not justify the expenditure.

Exceeds $10 Million

The SRC study showed that the Planning Commission's proposed by-pass, exclusive of the Cumberland Internal Plan, would cost in excess of $10,300,000, and Pritchett said such a facility would provide little or no relief from the present downtown congestion.

In its 12-year construction program, the State Roads Commission set aside nearly $9,000,000 to build Lines A, B and C, the major routes recommended in the 1949-50 Cumberland Traffic Study.

These included the Overhead Expressway and two highways, dual over most of the routes, connecting with Route 51 (Industrial Highway) and with Braddock Road (West Side Expressway).

The Planning Commission asked the city to consider the adoption of a master traffic plan which includes an alternate circumferential route and an internal traffic relief program.

Student Given Contest Trophy

Self-Employed Advised On How To File Income

Robertson Cites Report Pitfalls

Since most people who work for themselves are now covered by Social Security and must file a special report on self-employment income once a year, James E. Robertson, manager of the local office, has some advice to offer on how to make these reports out properly.

Robertson pointed out that certain types of income are not to be reported. For example, income from the practice of medicine, dentistry, law and other professions does not count.

Income from operating a farm is excluded, and also rents from real estate or income from stocks and bonds is out unless the taxpayer operates a real estate business or is a dealer in securities and this income is received in the course of his business.

Robertson said the correct amount of self-employment income must take into account business expenses. Deductions for depreciation, repairs, taxes, wages of employes, licenses and other operating costs must come out of gross income before net earnings from self-employment can be shown.

The self - employed taxpayer should also make sure he has shown his personal Social Security account number on his report.

It is also important for each self-employed person to go into some detail when filling out the space that calls for "nature of business activity."

In other words, a self-employed person should not show "sales," but he should indicate what it is he is selling, whether he is selling at retail or wholesale, and so forth.

Another point Robertson stresses is that a self - employed person should see to it that he shows his name as well as any trade or business name under which he operates.

Films Scheduled By Radio Group

The first in a series of movies on electricity and radio will be shown tonight at 7:30 by the Mountain Amateur Radio Club during a regular meeting at the club rooms at Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

Scheduled to be shown tonight, according to Walter S. Gatrell, president, are "Current and Electromotive Force," and "Amperes, Volts and Ohms."

Gatrell pointed out that movies will be shown dealing with basic instruction and will progress to advanced instruction to help prepare interested persons desiring to become amateur radio operators.

Members said the instruction will be valuable in preparing for final examinations given by the Federal Communication Commission. Following the showing of movies, slated every two weeks, a question-and-answer period will be conducted.

The movies will be shown for the next several months, Gatrell added. The meetings are open to the public and anyone interested in radio is asked to attend the sessions.

Street Intersection Will be Rounded

The city will round the pavement outside City Hall, at the intersection of Frederick and North Centre streets, to speed the flow of traffic past that busy point, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner.

She said the work can be done cheaply now, because a car recently knocked down a light pole at that spot. Both jobs can be accomplished at the same time.

District Governor To Visit Rotary

Harold R. McCulloch, State College, Pa., governor of District No. 264, Rotary International, will make his visit to the Cumberland Rotary Club next Tuesday.

The district governor for an area embracing parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia will talk at the luncheon meeting at noon at Central YMCA, according to Lewyn C. Davis, president. After the meeting he will hold a club assembly with officers, directors and committee chairmen.

Kauffman To Speak At Scout Appreciation Event Saturday

David Kauffman, local attorney, former Scout and Scout official here, will be principal speaker at the second annual Appreciation Dinner of Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, Saturday at 6 p. m. in St. Mary's Church Hall.

Officials said 730 reservations have already been received and several units are still to report. Attendance will top last year's capacity crowd of over 700, Scouters said.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will give the invocation, and Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, the benediction.

H. H. Lowery, district chairman, will be toastmaster, and dinner music will be provided by St. Mary's Orchestra. Also on the program is group singing, led by Ivan A. Hall.

A Court of Honor will be conducted and directed by John L. Towler, district advancement chairman. Scouts who have been approved by recent Boards of Review will receive their advancement awards at the Court.

Council President Miles G. Thompson will conduct a recognition ceremony for unit leaders when the Scouts will pay tribute to leaders, assistants and Den Mothers.

The committee, headed by H. C. Heineman, requests that those attending make use of the parking space in back of the church so that streets in the vicinity will not be blocked.

The dinner is a kickoff event for Scout Week activities next week, celebrating the 44th anniversary of Scouting in the U. S.

Each unit committee will organize, arrange and promote a dinner in its own unit. Each table will be decorated by an individual unit that will also bring its own food, plates, silverware and other facilities.

Attending will be Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their parents, leaders, committeemen and their wives, and special guests.

National President Purple Heart Auxiliary Here Today

Mrs. Helen Paradowski, Milwaukee, Wis., national president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Military Order of Purple Heart, will make an official visit here today.

Mountain Unit No. 66, of this city, and Barr-Kelly Unit of Keyser, W. Va., will meet in joint session at the Purple Heart Center, 770 Greene Street, tonight at 8 o'clock to greet the national president. A buffet supper is to be served after the meeting.

Mrs. Paradowski is on a tour to visit each of the 48 states and will come here from Baltimore where she visited auxiliary units earlier this week. She is the first national president of the Purple Heart Auxiliary to visit Cumberland since the national conventions of the Purple Heart and its auxiliary were held here several years ago.

Mrs. Virchie McFarland is president of the local auxiliary unit. Her husband, Herbert McFarland, is commander of Mountain Chapter No. 66 Purple Heart.

Last night, both said reservations have been made for the national president and arrangements have been made to meet her formally when she arrives by train this afternoon.

Seven Counties Fail To Apply For Civil Defense Supplies

PIKESVILLE, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—Maryland defense officials said seven counties have so far failed to apply for civil defense supplies although they can get them at a quarter their cost.

Sherley Ewing, director of the State Civil Defense Agency, said the seven counties are Calvart Dorchester, Somerset, Worcester, Howard, Prince Georges and Washington. Ewing said they haven't applied for matching funds for the fiscal year ending in June.

Under the program, the county pays 25 per cent, the state 25 and the federal government 50 per cent.

Baltimore and Baltimore County have received $101,000 of the $160,000 allocated to Maryland by the Federal civil Defense Administration. Among the other counties, Allegany got $7,400 and Frederick received $5,250.

Demo Club Backs Mahoney

Support for George P. Mahoney as the Democratic candidate for governor was voiced last night by Joseph Griffin, president of the Fourth District Democratic Club of Cumberland.

Griffin, a former city commissioner, former chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County, and long time party worker, said his organization has a membership of 300.

In addition to the endorsement of Mahoney for governor, Griffin said the Democrat Club also endorsed T. Barton Harrington of Baltimore for attorney general and J. Millard Tawes for state comptroller.

In a statement issued with the announcements of these endorsements, Griffin said the club's campaign committee has scheduled a meeting for later this week, at which time a general chairman will be selected and plans for an active primary campaign will be outlined.

Headquarters for Mahoney, Harrington and Tawes in the Fourth District (South Cumberland) will be at 340 Virginia Avenue, Griffin said.

Bird Nuisance Forum To Be Well Attended

A great deal of interest is being shown here, the Health Department reported yesterday, in a meeting planned tonight to make plans to combat the starling and pigeon menace in Cumberland.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Health Department Training Center in the Union Street County Building.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, will preside, and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will be present to discuss the legal aspects of the problem.

Owners or occupants of some 32 buildings were originally invited, and a number of other invitations have since been issued.

Shooting Fracas Trial Opens In Mineral Court

Testimony Heard From Both Sides

A number of witnesses were heard yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court during the opening session of the criminal trial in which Edmund Wageley is charged with maliciously shooting Lawrence Cline, a brother-in-law, on November 14 at the Cline home on West Piedmont Street, Keyser.

The state completed presentation of evidence about midafternoon yesterday and a few witnesses testified in the shooting.

Vernon E. Rankin, assisted by H. R. Athey, is representing the state, while H. G. Shores and Harold P. Shores are counsel for the defendant.

Three Shots Fired

In Rankin's opening statement he reviewed the highlights of the case and pointed out that three shots had been fired at Cline. H. G. Shores then outlined the happenings at the Cline home on November 14 in his opening statement.

Both Lawrence Cline and his brother, Howard, testified they were not to blame for the shooting and that Lawrence was shot without reason. In other testimony, Mrs. Mary Ellen Cline, mother of the two brothers, said she had never been harmed by them and that her daughter (Mrs. Wageley) was constantly "screaming and making trouble" for her sons.

Mrs. Wageley said she had gone to prepare breakfast, but that her two brothers were in the kitchen and would not get out of the way.

Quarrel Develops

She asked them to move, she said, but they cursed her. Mrs. Wageley testified she was pushed by the brothers, who told her to call her husband downstairs. After pushing her around, she declared, the brothers went into the front room.

Meanwhile Wageley came to the bottom of the steps and fired three shots, one entering the stomach of Lawrence Cline.

Mrs. Wageley testified that prior to the shooting her brother Lawrence had obtained power of attorney to handle the business affairs of her mother, who is semi-invalid.

She said Lawrence Cline had told her and her husband and son to get out of the house several days before the shooting as they were "interfering in my business."

Threat Is Claimed

Mrs. Wageley said her brother also declared, "I'm going to kill you, don't forget."

Other witnesses heard yesterday were Dr. Robert Coffman; Cpl. F. H. Tribett, Trooper W. Frank Bowley, of the West Virginia State Police; F. G. Davis, former sheriff; Harry O. Rogers, former county clerk, and Frank Hott, county assessor.

Court was dismissed about 5 p.m. and will reconvene today at 10 a.m. A number of other witnesses will testify.

Charges Are Filed In Name Calling

A hearing has been set for Friday at 2 p. m. in Trial Magistrates Court on charges and counter charges which arose from an alleged name-calling session at the National Jet Company plant here yesterday.

Mrs. Georgia M. Peer, RD 1, Ridgeley, preferred charges before Magistrate J. Milton Dick that Raymond Bartlett, an employe, had used loud and profane language against her. Bartlett later filed a similar complaint against Mrs. Peer.

Edwards Is Guest Of B & O Veterans

John Edwards Jr., general manager of the B & O's Eastern area, was a guest at last night's Baltimore and Ohio Veterans Association meeting, held in the B & O YMCA.

Edwards is well known in this area and served for a number of years as superintendent of the Cumberland Division.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled:

Orlena Frances Winters vs. John Douglas Winters, and Betty Lee Wilson vs. Oran Wilson.

Reed Seeking Passage Of Immunity Bill

Provision Viewed As Racket-Buster

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Del. Reed (R-Allegany) said today he again will ask the Maryland General Assembly to approve immunity for witnesses who refuse to testify in criminal cases on grounds of self-incrimination.

Reed said he will introduce a bill on such immunity tonight. A similar measure died in committee last year.

Under Reed's proposal a witness who used the self-incrimination excuse for refusing to answer could be ordered by the courts to reply anyway.

However, he would receive written assurance that his answer would not be used against him. If he still refused to answer he could be prosecuted for contempt of court.

Among other things, said Reed, prosecutors could use this provision in tracking down ringleaders of lotteries and other rackets. It would be especially effective, he added, in obtaining evidence against them by questioning small-fry operatives.

Court's Powers Questioned In Equity Action

Dispute Involves Bond Ownership

An unusual point of law, questioning the jurisdiction of Allegany County Circuit Court, came up yesterday in a hearing of an equity suit concerning the ownership of $10,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

In a suit, filed by Mrs. Viola Nettie Porter through her attorney, William A. Gunter, the complainant charges that her husband, Clarence Porter, took the bonds from a safe deposit box in a Frostburg bank without her consent.

Also taken up yesterday was a demurrer, filed by Porter's attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, which questions the jurisdiction of the court to rule on the property rights of a husband and wife.

Court Ruling Cited

Ryan and Wilson contended that if the couple were divorced or if they were being granted a divorce, then the court would have the right to rule on the case.

The complainant seeks an order to restrain her husband from disposing of the bonds until ownership is proven, while the defense seeks that the case be dismissed.

Associate Judge George Henderson took the case under advisement and will file a written opinion later.

In the suit Mrs. Porter contended that the bonds were purchased by her husband with money from the sale of two parcels of real estate owned by the couple. The complainant said she and her husband had agreed to invest proceeds derived from the sale into savings bonds, register them in both their names and place them in the safe deposit box under joint names.

The suit further adds that Mrs. Porter learned the bonds had been purchased, but that they had been registered and placed in the box which was in the name of her husband only.

The suit said Mrs. Porter had never seen the bonds and does not know if they were registered in both names as agreed.

Claims Ownership

The husband's attorneys, in filing an amended answer to the suit, said the first piece of property was owned jointly and was sold for about $7,000, but that the second parcel was owned solely by Porter.

Porter said he purchased bonds in the amount of $10,000, but that some of the bonds were cashed by the couple for living expenses, furniture and other necessities. He further stated that at the time the bonds were purchased his wife was present and understood the manner in which they were registered.

Porter admitted removing the bonds from the bank box, but said they were removed prior to the filing of the suit.

Porter stated Mrs. Porter has no interest in the bonds and alleges they are his property.

KEITH T. SISK

Keith T. Sisk First Candidate For City Council

Finished In Sixth Place Two Years Ago

Keith T. Sisk, 39, of 306 Bedford Street, well - known local photographer and staff member at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, announced last night he will be a candidate for election to the City Council, subject to the primary in June.

A resident of Cumberland for more than 25 years, Sisk is a native of neighboring Ridgeley, W. Va. He was a candidate for the first time in the last city election and made a strong showing in both the primary and general election contests. Records show that he finished in the eighth spot to gain a place on the council ticket with 1,432 votes. In the general election on March 18, 1952, he finished in sixth place with 3,562 votes, running ahead of two other candidates who had topped him by substantial margins in the primary balloting.

Formerly employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America for a number of years, Sisk left there about nine years ago to join the technical staff of ABL.

Interested in city affairs over a long period of years, Sisk said last night he will run as an independent, as he did two years ago.

The candidate is married to the former Miss Edna Daughtrey and they have two children, Craig, 8, and Jane, 2.

The deadline for candidates to file for the city election is midnight, May 21.

The primary will be held June 1, if there are more than eight candidates for council or more than two candidates for mayor. The general election will be held June 15, at which time a mayor and four council members will be elected to serve four-year terms, beginning the first Monday in July.

Lepley Retrial Is Set Tuesday

A new trial for Eugene Lepley, 31, of 616 North Centre Street, who has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to rob, has been scheduled for Tuesday, February 9, in Allegany County Circuit Court, beginning at 9:15 a. m.

The first trial held before Associate Judge George Henderson last week resulted in a hung jury when the 12 jurors were unable to reach a decision in the case. The jurors reported to Judge Henderson they were unable to reach a verdict after deliberating three hours Monday, January 15, and were dismissed. A new jury will hear the retrial.

Lepley has been released on $1,000 bond on a charge of attempting to rob James Ryan, 42, of Ellerslie on November 25. Edwin M. Horchler is attorney for the defendent.

McKeldin Asks Funds For Two College Dorms

$520,000 Budgeted For Frostburg State

Half a million dollars for construction of two new dormitories at Frostburg State Teachers College is included in Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's 1954 capital improvements budget, which went to the General Assembly yesterday.

The budget would set aside $520,000 for a men's residence hall — something the college has never had — and a second women's residence hall.

Money for the project is part of nearly $10 million which the State Planning Commission wants to spend for capital improvements in the state during the next fiscal year.

Bond Issue Required

Gov. McKeldin has recommended the legislature's approval of the commission's budget, which also includes $310,000 for a new dormitory at Bowie State Teachers College, $225,000 for a library at Salisbury, and $580,000 for a library and equipment at Towson.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the Frostburg college, last night said construction of the residence halls could begin as early as this summer if the General Assembly authorizes issuance of capital improvements bonds.

Each dormitory would house about 75 students. At present, said Miss Compton, the women's dormitory houses about twice the number it was designed for. Male resident students live in private homes near the college.

The college's original request, announced last summer, also had included a central dining hall in a separate building.

In August, the Legislative Council, the legislature's interim body which makes investigations and recommendations to the full Assembly, gave its approval to immediate authorization of funds for the dormitories.

May Adopt Plans

The legislators, however, withheld approval of the dining hall project, saying they believed it could be postponed. Students at the college now eat in a small dining room on the first floor of the women's dormitory.

Should the General Assembly appropriate money for the project during the 30-day session which opened yesterday, the first step would be the appointment of an architect.

Miss Compton said it may be possible to adapt any existing dormitory plans for other state institutions to the needs of the college, and thereby to get actual construction under way before autumn.

The Planning Commission's total capital expenditures request of $9,995,000 — all of it to be raised by bond issues — is about $5 million below last year's figure.

Under the governor's recommendations, $2,060,000 would go to the Department of Mental Hygiene, $1,705,000 to the Department of Education, $1,590,000 to the University of Maryland and $1,010,000 to the Department of Correction.

Hospital Addition

A proposed pharmacy building for the University professional schools in Baltimore would cost $600,000.

Other projects for the Department of Mental Hygiene are a $490,000 building for emotionally sick children at Rosewood State Training School and $400,000 to continue construction of a colony for the aged at Springfield State Hospital.

Other projects planned by the University are a $400,000 journalism building, an administration annex at $300,000 and $100,000 to help with a sewage and water system at Maryland State College, Princess Anne.

Penitentiary Building

The Department of Correction request includes an industrial building at Maryland Penitentiary for $650,000.

The State Department of Health has plans for a 213-bed unit at Montibello State Hospital for $450,000 and other improvements to cost $285,000.

Public welfare construction would include two cottages at Boys Village for $328,000 and a junior school building at Maryland Training School for $250,000.

An armory at Morgan State College would cost $390,000.

Of the more than half million asked by the Board of Natrual resources, $125,000 has been earmarked for improvements at Patapsco State Park and $111,500 for Sandy Point State Park. Only about $25,000 of the money for Sandy Point would be spent on the Negro beach area.

Other projects in the improvements requests are a $450,000 building, training and work center at the Workshop for the Blind; $200,000 for an armory at Catonsville, contingent on federal participation; $172,000 for a State Police barracks at Waldorf; and $110,000 for air conditioning the quarters of the Department of Motor Vehicles

Lonaconing Volunteer Firemen Honor Douglas Wadell For 62-Year Service

Douglas Waddell, 83-year-old retired coal operator, and 62 years a volunteer fireman, was honored by officers and members of Goodwill Fire Company at Lonaconing last night.

James Getty, assistant state's attorney and a member of the fire company, was master of ceremonies. Several members of the company spoke briefly and a buffet luncheon and other refreshments were served.

John Eichhorn, president of Goodwill Company, expressed the opinion that Waddell is the oldest active fireman in the state, both in years and in point of service. Waddell has been a member of the company for 62 years, was fire chief for 36 years and just last week answered an alarm with a number of other volunteer firemen.

Waddell was born in Lonaconing January 21, 1871 and has resided in the county all his lifetime. He operated his own coal mines for many years and has a total of 70 years as a coal miner. He is now a member of the town council and has served on the council for many terms.

In talking of some of his experiences last night, he recalled that when he joined Goodwill Company it had a total membership of 18 men. Most other towns of any size, including Cumberland, he said, had good volunteer companies. There was great competition between the companies at firemen's picnics, conventions and other holiday events. Contests between companies were top attractions.

Waddell said he participated with Goodwill Company in hook and ladder races, reel cart races, pumper races and other contests, and raced in every county in the state. He claims Goodwill nearly always won, although the volunteers in Cumberland were "pretty good."

The last time races were held, (they were discontinued as too dangerous), Waddell says he was 51 years old, and remembers that he participated at that time.

Mr. Waddell is married, has five grown children and lives on Railroad Street in Lonaconing.

He has no intention of retiring from the company and hopes to remain as one of its 60 active firemen.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to secure a decree declaring Judith Anne Youngblood to be the adopted child of the Complainants.

The Petition alleges that Judith Anne Youngblood is the grandchild of the Complainants and the daughter of the son of the Complainants, Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., and Mary B. Youngblood, his wife; that the parents of the said Judith Anne Youngblood have left the said infant in the custody of the Complainants since she was six months old, where she has remained ever since; that the respondent, Mary B. Youngblood remained at the home of the parents for about one year after she brought the said infant to their home and thereafter has lived in the City of Baltimore; that she last saw the said infant when the said infant was three years of age and her present address in Baltimore City is unknown; that the father of said infant, Alvin G. Youngblood, Jr., is only part time employed; that the Complainants have always supported and maintained the said infant; that the Complainant, Alvin G. Youngblood, is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America; that they own their own home and capable of providing in a satisfactory manner for the maintenance and education of the said infant.

It is thereupon, this 13th day of January, 1954, ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, that the Complainants cause this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four weeks before the 15th day of February, 1954, giving notice to the said Mary B. Youngblood, absent Respondent, of the object and substance of this Petition and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 4th day of March, 1954, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

SRC Places Alternate Traffic Plan Cost At $13,580,943

Use Of State Funds Termed Unjustified

Price Tag On By-Pass Set At $10,300,000

The Maryland State Roads Commission has informed the City of Cumberland that the Circumferential Route and internal traffic plan proposed by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission would cost $13,580,943 without the $1,500,000 Industrial Boulevard which is included in the SRC's 12-year program.

And the SRC's chief engineer, Norman M. Pritchett, said he believes the commission should not contribute funds toward the plan since the amount of traffic it would serve would not justify the expenditure.

The estimate was forwarded to Mayor Roy W. Eves by Pritchett in response to a city request that a price tag be placed on the commission's alternate plan which city officials had been asked to study.

Pritchett said the $13,580,943 figure does not include the "Line C" (Industrial Highway) estimate of $1,500,000 for construction and right of way costs, as shown in the 12-year plan, but that the South End highway does appear in the Planning Commission's program. The estimate was omitted, he added, to keep the SRC and Planning Commission's program on an even basis.

The Industrial Boulevard would boost the cost of the Planning Commission's program to $15,180,943.

State Aid Doubtful

Pritchett said the estimates which make up the total were prepared in the same manner as the SRC uses in estimating its own projects, and that he had no hesitancy in vouching for their accuracy within reasonable limits.

He referred to a telephone conversation between Mayor Eves and Roland M. Thompson, assistant location engineer, concerning the amount of money the State Roads Commission would contribute toward the Planning Commission's alternate proposal.

Pritchett said it was his personal opinion the SRC should not contribute any funds toward such a plan, as the amount of traffic it would serve would not justify the expenditure.

Exceeds $10 Million

The SRC study showed that the Planning Commission's proposed by-pass, exclusive of the Cumberland Internal Plan, would cost in excess of $10,300,000, and Pritchett said such a facility would provide little or no relief from the present downtown congestion.

In its 12-year construction program, the State Roads Commission set aside nearly $9,000,000 to build Lines A, B and C, the major routes recommended in the 1949-50 Cumberland Traffic Study.

These included the Overhead Expressway and two highways, dual over most of the routes, connecting with Route 51 (Industrial Highway) and with Braddock Road (West Side Expressway).

The Planning Commission asked the city to consider the adoption of a master traffic plan which includes an alternate circumferential route and an internal traffic relief program.

Self-Employed Advised On How To File Income

Robertson Cites Report Pitfalls

Since most people who work for themselves are now covered by Social Security and must file a special report on self-employment income once a year, James E. Robertson, manager of the local office, has some advice to offer on how to make these reports out properly.

Robertson pointed out that certain types of income are not to be reported. For example, income from the practice of medicine, dentistry, law and other professions does not count.

Income from operating a farm is excluded, and also rents from real estate or income from stocks and bonds is out unless the taxpayer operates a real estate business or is a dealer in securities and this income is received in the course of his business.

Robertson said the correct amount of self-employment income must take into account business expenses. Deductions for depreciation, repairs, taxes, wages of employes, licenses and other operating costs must come out of gross income before net earnings from self-employment can be shown.

The self - employed taxpayer should also make sure he has shown his personal Social Security account number on his report.

It is also important for each self-employed person to go into some detail when filling out the space that calls for "nature of business activity."

In other words, a self-employed person should not show "sales," but he should indicate what it is he is selling, whether he is selling at retail or wholesale, and so forth.

Another point Robertson stresses is that a self - employed person should see to it that he shows his name as well as any trade or business name under which he operates.

Films Scheduled By Radio Group

The first in a series of movies on electricity and radio will be shown tonight at 7:30 by the Mountain Amateur Radio Club during a regular meeting at the club rooms at Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

Scheduled to be shown tonight, according to Walter S. Gatrell, president, are "Current and Electromotive Force," and "Amperes, Volts and Ohms."

Gatrell pointed out that movies will be shown dealing with basic instruction and will progress to advanced instruction to help prepare interested persons desiring to become amateur radio operators.

Members said the instruction will be valuable in preparing for final examinations given by the Federal Communication Commission. Following the showing of movies, slated every two weeks, a question-and-answer period will be conducted.

The movies will be shown for the next several months, Gatrell added. The meetings are open to the public and anyone interested in radio is asked to attend the sessions.

District Governor To Visit Rotary

Harold R. McCulloch, State College, Pa., governor of District No. 264, Rotary International, will make his visit to the Cumberland Rotary Club next Tuesday.

The district governor for an area embracing parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia will talk at the luncheon meeting at noon at Central YMCA, according to Lewyn C. Davis, president. After the meeting he will hold a club assembly with officers, directors and committee chairmen.

Street Intersection Will be Rounded

The city will round the pavement outside City Hall, at the intersection of Frederick and North Centre streets, to speed the flow of traffic past that busy point, according to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner.

She said the work can be done cheaply now, because a car recently knocked down a light pole at that spot. Both jobs can be accomplished at the same time.

Kauffman To Speak At Scout Appreciation Event Saturday

David Kauffman, local attorney, former Scout and Scout official here, will be principal speaker at the second annual Appreciation Dinner of Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, Saturday at 6 p. m. in St. Mary's Church Hall.

Officials said 730 reservations have already been received and several units are still to report. Attendance will top last year's capacity crowd of over 700, Scouters said.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will give the invocation, and Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, the benediction.

H. H. Lowery, district chairman, will be toastmaster, and dinner music will be provided by St. Mary's Orchestra. Also on the program is group singing, led by Ivan A. Hall.

A Court of Honor will be conducted and directed by John L. Towler, district advancement chairman. Scouts who have been approved by recent Boards of Review will receive their advancement awards at the Court.

Council President Miles G. Thompson will conduct a recognition ceremony for unit leaders when the Scouts will pay tribute to leaders, assistants and Den Mothers.

The committee, headed by H. C. Heineman, requests that those attending make use of the parking space in back of the church so that streets in the vicinity will not be blocked.

The dinner is a kickoff event for Scout Week activities next week, celebrating the 44th anniversary of Scouting in the U. S.

Each unit committee will organize, arrange and promote a dinner in its own unit. Each table will be decorated by an individual unit that will also bring its own food, plates, silverware and other facilities.

Attending will be Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their parents, leaders, committeemen and their wives, and special guests.

Seven Counties Fail To Apply For Civil Defense Supplies

PIKESVILLE, Md., Feb. 3 (AP) — Maryland defense officials said seven counties have so far failed to apply for civil defense supplies although they can get them at a quarter their cost.

Sherley Ewing, director of the State Civil Defense Agency, said the seven counties are Calvart Dorchester, Somerset, Worcester, Howard, Prince Georges and Washington. Ewing said they haven't applied for matching funds for the fiscal year ending in June.

Under the program, the county pays 25 per cent, the state 25 and the federal government 50 per cent.

Baltimore and Baltimore County have received $101,000 of the $160,000 allocated to Maryland by the Federal civil Defense Administration. Among the other counties, Allegany got $7,400 and Frederick received $5,250.

Demo Club Backs Mahoney

Support for George P. Mahoney as the Democratic candidate for governor was voiced last night by Joseph Griffin, president of the Fourth District Democratic Club of Cumberland.

Griffin, a former city commissioner, former chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegany County, and long time party worker, said his organization has a membership of 300.

In addition to the endorsement of Mahoney for governor, Griffin said the Democrat Club also endorsed T. Barton Harrington of Baltimore for attorney general and J. Millard Tawes for state comptroller.

In a statement issued with the announcements of these endorsements, Griffin said the club's campaign committee has scheduled a meeting for later this week, at which time a general chairman will be selected and plans for an active primary campaign will be outlined.

Headquarters for Mahoney, Harrington and Tawes in the Fourth District (South Cumberland) will be at 340 Virginia Avenue, Griffin said.

Bird Nuisance Forum To Be Well Attended

A great deal of interest is being shown here, the Health Department reported yesterday, in a meeting planned tonight to make plans to combat the starling and pigeon menace in Cumberland.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Health Department Training Center in the Union Street County Building.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy state health officer, will preside, and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will be present to discuss the legal aspects of the problem.

Owners or occupants of some 32 buildings were originally invited, and a number of other invitations have since been issued.

National President Purple Heart Auxiliary Here Today

Mrs. Paradowski is on a tour to visit each of the 48 states and will come here from Baltimore where she visited auxiliary units earlier this week. She is the first national president of the Purple Heart Auxiliary to visit Cumberland since the national conventions of the Purple Heart and its auxiliary were held here several years ago.

Mrs. Virchie McFarland is president of the local auxiliary unit. Her husband, Herbert McFarland, is commander of Mountain Chapter No. 66 Purple Heart.

Last night, both said reservations have been made for the national president and arrangements have been made to meet her formally when she arrives by train this afternoon.

Shooting Fracas Trial Opens In Mineral Court

Testimony Heard From Both Sides

A number of witnesses were heard yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court during the opening session of the criminal trial in which Edmund Wageley is charged with maliciously shooting Lawrence Cline, a brother-in-law, on November 14 at the Cline home on West Piedmont Street, Keyser.

The state completed presentation of evidence about midafternoon yesterday and a few witnesses testified in the shooting.

Vernon E. Rankin, assisted by H. R. Athey, is representing the state, while H. G. Shores and Harold P. Shores are counsel for the defendant.

Three Shots Fired

In Rankin's opening statement he reviewed the highlights of the case and pointed out that three shots had been fired at Cline. H. G. Shores then outlined the happenings at the Cline home on November 14 in his opening statement.

Both Lawrence Cline and his brother, Howard, testified they were not to blame for the shooting and that Lawrence was shot without reason. In other testimony, Mrs. Mary Ellen Cline, mother of the two brothers, said she had never been harmed by them and that her daughter (Mrs. Wageley) was constantly "screaming and making trouble" for her sons.

Mrs. Wageley said she had gone to prepare breakfast, but that her two brothers were in the kitchen and would not get out of the way.

Quarrel Develops

She asked them to move, she said, but they cursed her. Mrs. Wageley testified she was pushed by the brothers, who told her to call her husband downstairs. After pushing her around, she declared, the brothers went into the front room.

Meanwhile Wageley came to the bottom of the steps and fired three shots, one entering the stomach of Lawrence Cline.

Mrs. Wageley testified that prior to the shooting her brother Lawrence had obtained power of attorney to handle the business affairs of her mother, who is semi-invalid.

She said Lawrence Cline had told her and her husband and son to get out of the house several days before the shooting as they were "interfering in my business."

Threat Is Claimed

Mrs. Wageley said her brother also declared, "I'm going to kill you, don't forget."

Other witnesses heard yesterday were Dr. Robert Coffman; Cpl. F. H. Tribett, Trooper W. Frank Bowley, of the West Virginia State Police; F. G. Davis, former sheriff; Harry O. Rogers, former county clerk, and Frank Hott, county assessor.

Court was dismissed about 5 p.m. and will reconvene today at 10 a.m. A number of other witnesses will testify.

Charges Are Filed In Name Calling

A hearing has been set for Friday at 2 p. m. in Trial Magistrates Court on charges and counter charges which arose from an alleged name-calling session at the National Jet Company plant here yesterday.

Mrs. Georgia M. Peer, RD 1, Ridgeley, preferred charges before Magistrate J. Milton Dick that Raymond Bartlett, an employe, had used loud and profane language against her. Bartlett later filed a similar complaint against Mrs. Peer.

Edwards Is Guest Of B & O Veterans

John Edwards Jr., general manager of the B & O's Eastern area, was a guest at last night's Baltimore and Ohio Veterans Association meeting, held in the B & O YMCA.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled:

Orlena Frances Winters vs. John Douglas Winters, and Betty Lee Wilson vs. Oran Wilson.

Provision Viewed As Racket-Buster

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 3 (AP) — Del. Reed (R-Allegany) said today he again will ask the Maryland General Assembly to approve immunity for witnesses who refuse to testify in criminal cases on grounds of self-incrimination.

Reed said he will introduce a bill on such immunity tonight. A similar measure died in committee last year.

Under Reed's proposal a witness who used the self-incrimination excuse for refusing to answer could be ordered by the courts to reply anyway.

However, he would receive written assurance that his answer would not be used against him. If he still refused to answer he could be prosecuted for contempt of court.

Among other things, said Reed, prosecutors could use this provision in tracking down ringleaders of lotteries and other rackets. It would be especially effective, he added, in obtaining evidence against them by questioning small-fry operatives.

Court's Powers Questioned In Equity Action

Dispute Involves Bond Ownership

An unusual point of law, questioning the jurisdiction of Allegany County Circuit Court, came up yesterday in a hearing of an equity suit concerning the ownership of $10,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

In a suit, filed by Mrs. Viola Nettie Porter through her attorney, William A. Gunter, the complainant charges that her husband, Clarence Porter, took the bonds from a safe deposit box in a Frostburg bank without her consent.

Also taken up yesterday was a demurrer, filed by Porter's attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, which questions the jurisdiction of the court to rule on the property rights of a husband and wife.

Court Ruling Cited

Ryan and Wilson contended that if the couple were divorced or if they were being granted a divorce, then the court would have the right to rule on the case.

The complainant seeks an order to restrain her husband from disposing of the bonds until ownership is proven, while the defense seeks that the case be dismissed.

Associate Judge George Henderson took the case under advisement and will file a written opinion later.

In the suit Mrs. Porter contended that the bonds were purchased by her husband with money from the sale of two parcels of real estate owned by the couple. The complainant said she and her husband had agreed to invest proceeds derived from the sale into savings bonds, register them in both their names and place them in the safe deposit box under joint names.

The suit further adds that Mrs. Porter learned the bonds had been purchased, but that they had been registered and placed in the box which was in the name of her husband only.

The suit said Mrs. Porter had never seen the bonds and does not know if they were registered in both names as agreed.

Claims Ownership

The husband's attorneys, in filing an amended answer to the suit, said the first piece of property was owned jointly and was sold for about $7,000, but that the second parcel was owned solely by Porter.

Porter said he purchased bonds in the amount of $10,000, but that some of the bonds were cashed by the couple for living expenses, furniture and other necessities. He further stated that at the time the bonds were purchased his wife was present and understood the manner in which they were registered.

Porter admitted removing the bonds from the bank box, but said they were removed prior to the filing of the suit.

Porter stated Mrs. Porter has no interest in the bonds and alleges they are his property.

KEITH T. SISK

Keith T. Sisk First Candidate For City Council

Finished In Sixth Place Two Years Ago

Keith T. Sisk, 39, of 306 Bedford Street, well-known local photographer and staff member at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, announced last night he will be a candidate for election to the City Council, subject to the primary in June.

A resident of Cumberland for more than 25 years, Sisk is a native of neighboring Ridgeley, W. Va. He was a candidate for the first time in the last city election and made a strong showing in both the primary and general election contests. Records show that he finished in the eighth spot to gain a place on the council ticket with 1,432 votes. In the general election on March 18, 1952, he finished in sixth place with 3,562 votes, running ahead of two other candidates who had topped him by substantial margins in the primary balloting.

Formerly employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America for a number of years, Sisk left there about nine years ago to join the technical staff of ABL.

Interested in city affairs over a long period of years, Sisk said last night he will run as an independent, as he did two years ago.

The candidate is married to the former Miss Edna Daughtrey and they have two children, Craig, 8, and Jane, 2.

The deadline for candidates to file for the city election is midnight, May 21.

The primary will be held June 1, if there are more than eight candidates for council or more than two candidates for mayor. The general election will be held June 15, at which time a mayor and four council members will be elected to serve four-year terms, beginning the first Monday in July.

Lepley Retrial Is Set Tuesday

A new trial for Eugene Lepley, 31, of 616 North Centre Street, who has been charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to rob, has been scheduled for Tuesday, February 9, in Allegany County Circuit Court, beginning at 9:15 a. m.

The first trial held before Associate Judge George Henderson last week resulted in a hung jury when the 12 jurors were unable to reach a decision in the case. The jurors reported to Judge Henderson they were unable to reach a verdict after deliberating three hours Monday, January 15, and were dismissed. A new jury will hear the retrial.

Lepley has been released on $1,000 bond on a charge of attempting to rob James Ryan, 42, of Ellerslie on November 25. Edwin M. Horchler is attorney for the defendant.

McKeldin Asks Funds For Two College Dorms

$520,000 Budgeted For Frostburg State

Half a million dollars for construction of two new dormitories at Frostburg State Teachers College is included in Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's 1954 capital improvements budget, which went to the General Assembly yesterday.

The budget would set aside $520,000 for a men's residence hall — something the college has never had — and a second women's residence hall.

Money for the project is part of nearly $10 million which the State Planning Commission wants to spend for capital improvements in the state during the next fiscal year.

Bond Issue Required

Gov. McKeldin has recommended the legislature's approval of the commission's budget, which also includes $310,000 for a new dormitory at Bowie State Teachers College, $225,000 for a library at Salisbury, and $580,000 for a library and equipment at Towson.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the Frostburg college, last night said construction of the residence halls could begin as early as this summer if the General Assembly authorizes issuance of capital improvements bonds.

Each dormitory would house about 75 students. At present, said Miss Compton, the women's dormitory houses about twice the number it was designed for. Male resident students live in private homes near the college.

The college's original request, announced last summer, also had included a central dining hall in a separate building.

In August, the Legislative Council, the legislature's interim body which makes investigations and recommendations to the full Assembly, gave its approval to immediate authorization of funds for the dormitories.

May Adopt Plans

The legislators, however, withheld approval of the dining hall project, saying they believed it could be postponed. Students at the college now eat in a small dining room on the first floor of the women's dormitory.

Should the General Assembly appropriate money for the project during the 30-day session which opened yesterday, the first step would be the appointment of an architect.

Miss Compton said it may be possible to adapt any existing dormitory plans for other state institutions to the needs of the college, and thereby to get actual construction under way before autumn.

The Planning Commission's total capital expenditures request of $9,995,000 — all of it to be raised by bond issues — is about $5 million below last year's figure.

Under the governor's recommendations, $2,060,000 would go to the Department of Mental Hygiene, $1,705,000 to the Department of Education, $1,590,000 to the University of Maryland and $1,010,000 to the Department of Correction.

Hospital Addition

Largest single project under the governor's plan would be a medical and surgical building at Crownsville State Hospital, the state's only facility for insane Negroes.

A proposed pharmacy building for the University professional schools in Baltimore would cost $600,000.

Other projects for the Department of Mental Hygiene are a $490,000 building for emotionally sick children at Rosewood State Training School and $400,000 to continue construction of a colony for the aged at Springfield State Hospital.

Other projects planned by the University are a $400,000 journalism building, an administration annex at $300,000 and $100,000 to help with a sewage and water system at Maryland State College, Princess Anne.

Penitentiary Building

The Department of Correction request includes an industrial building at Maryland Penitentiary for $650,000.

The State Department of Health has plans for a 213-bed unit at Montibello State Hospital for $450,000 and other improvements to cost $285,000.

Public welfare construction would include two cottages at Boys Village for $328,000 and a junior school building at Maryland Training School for $250,000.

An armory at Morgan State College would cost $390,000.

Of the more than half million asked by the Board of Natrual resources, $125,000 has been earmarked for improvements at Patapsco State Park and $111,500 for Sandy Point State Park. Only about $25,000 of the money for Sandy Point would be spent on the Negro beach area.

Other projects in the improvements requests are a $450,000 building, training and work center at the Workshop for the Blind; $200,000 for an armory at Catonsville, contingent on federal participation; $172,000 for a State Police barracks at Waldorf; and $110,000 for air conditioning the quarters of the Department of Motor Vehicles

To Hold Supper

A pork and sauerkraut supper will be held from 5 until 7 tonight by the Crusaders of Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

Lonaconing Volunteer Firemen Honor Douglas Wadell For 62-Year Service

Douglas Waddell, 83-year-old retired coal operator, and 62 years a volunteer fireman, was honored by officers and members of Goodwill Fire Company at Lonaconing last night.

James Getty, assistant state's attorney and a member of the fire company, was master of ceremonies. Several members of the company spoke briefly and a buffet luncheon and other refreshments were served.

John Eichhorn, president of Goodwill Company, expressed the opinion that Waddell is the oldest active fireman in the state, both in years and in point of service. Waddell has been a member of the company for 62 years, was fire chief for 36 years and just last week answered an alarm with a number of other volunteer firemen.

Waddell was born in Lonaconing January 21, 1871 and has resided in the county all his lifetime. He operated his own coal mines for many years and has a total of 70 years as a coal miner. He is now a member of the town council and has served on the council for many terms.

In talking of some of his experiences last night, he recalled that when he joined Goodwill Company it had a total membership of 18 men. Most other towns of any size, including Cumberland, he said, had good volunteer companies. There was great competition between the companies at firemen's picnics, conventions and other holiday events. Contests between companies were top attractions.

Waddell said he participated with Goodwill Company in hook and ladder races, reel cart races, pumper races and other contests, and raced in every county in the state. He claims Goodwill nearly always won, although the volunteers in Cumberland were "pretty good."

The last time races were held, (they were discontinued as too dangerous), Waddell says he was 51 years old, and remembers that he participated at that time.

Mr. Waddell is married, has five grown children and lives on Railroad Street in Lonaconing.

He has no intention of retiring from the company and hopes to remain as one of its 60 active firemen.
